21 Warships Get Approval Of President

Work on Vast Program Rushed as Japan Starts Building.

Allotments to Be Given Out Tomorrow by Navy Chiefs Here.

Hyde Park, Aug. 2 (AP).—President Roosevelt tonight approved plans of the Navy for construction of 21 new warships in the $233,000,000 building program.

The President carefully analyzed the bids recently received by the Navy and the allotment decided on by the commanders. His approval signaled an immediate start on work providing jobs for thousands in Government and private shipyards.

Spend $46,000,000 This Year.

About $46,000,000 is to be expended this year and a total of $238,000,000 over three years.

Admiral William Standley, chief of naval operations, and Rear Admiral Emery Land, chief of construction, brought the naval construction program to the summer White House by seaplane.

Mr. Roosevelt talked the plans over with his naval chieftains and, after giving his approval, left with them the formal announcements of assignments to yards for construction of the ships.

Standley and Land left here late in the day by plane to return to Washington, where they will announce the allotments.

Follows Japan's Move.

The start of America's huge naval construction comes just after word from Japan of the start of a building program there.

Mr. Roosevelt's shipbuilding plan comes under the public works program and is intended to give the American fleet the strength it is allowed under existing naval limitations agreements.

Both Republicans and Democrats in Congress have urged that the American fleet be built up to the terms allowed by the London agreement.

It was made quite plain here that the administration is not concerned by protests against the bids for the ships, including one by Senator Trammell (Democrat), Florida.

The President's acceptance of bids for the naval construction program came within 24 hours of charges by Senator Trammell, of the Naval Affairs Committee, that the bidders had advance information on rival orders.

In a letter to the President Tuesday night, Senator Trammell asked that all bids be rejected. A copy of the letter was sent to Secretary of Navy Swanson.

Senator Trammell declared the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, the New York Shipbuilding Co., the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co. and the United Dry Docks, Inc.—knew in advance what the offers would be and that the position of each "would be protected by the remaining shipbuilders."

Gandhi, in Poona Jail, Free Soon

Poona, India, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—The Mahatma M. K. Gandhi slept behind bars again tonight after a few weeks of freedom.

The emaciated independence leader was returned to the Yeravda Jail here, from which he had been released on May 8, at the start of a 21-day fast for India's "untouchables."

His incarceration followed arrest at Ahmedabad, in the north, to prevent Gandhi leading 32 followers in a march through the countryside preaching a campiagn of civil disobedience to British rule in India.

The India government plans to release Gandhi shortly on parole under agreement not to incite disobedience among the natives. Otherwise the Mahatma faces two more years in prison.

French Aviatrix Sets Height Record for Sex

Orly, France, Aug. 2 (AP).—A new world altitude record for women using a light airplane was claimed today by Helene Boucher, whose instruments registered 6,100 meters (20,013 feet).

The former record, 5,516 meters (18,097 feet), was held by Mae Haizlip, an American.

Girls Thrust Into Movies File Suit

Los Angeles, Aug. 2 (AP).—Four young women, Erika Low, Miriam Burke, Bettie Craig and Opal Webber, sued for $600,000 damages today because, they said, they were thrust into a motion picture against their will.

They appeared at a Christmas benefit here and while they were dancing the defendants, Louis Lewin, Paramount Pictures Distributing Co. and affiliate corporations, took movies of them. These movies, the girls alleged, later were used in the film "Hollywood on Parade," which "exposed and enlarged upon their weight."

They further charged that when the picture was shown it was accompanied by disparaging wisecracks, one of which was:

"If you want to please the customers, cut out those hefty dames."

U. S. Deficit Grows Despite Slashes

$107,000,000 More Spent Over Income for July; Emergency Fund Up.

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Government spent $107,000,000 more than its income during the first month of the new fiscal year.

Despite a reduction in ordinary expenditures of $155,000,000 under the amount for the same month of the previous year, the month end statement for July showed that $32,000,000 more was spent for the normal maintenance of the Government than was colected from taxes and other sources of income.

Emergency expenditures of $75,352,742 completed the figure for the month-end deficit.

Total income for July was $163,213,570. Total ordinary expenditures were 195,617,968.

Siege Declared As Fatal Blast Rocks Managua

Between 25 and 30 Reported Dead or Injured in Nicaragua.

Managua, Nicaragua, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—The government today declared Managua, capital of Nicaragua, under a state of siege, and the rest of the republic under martial law following a disastrous explosion at the Campo de Marte barracks of the National Guard.

Unofficial estimates said 25 to 30 persons were killed or wounded.

Military control was established as a precautionary measure pending completion of an investigation. The government arrested scores of politicians on the theory that the blast might have been due to political terrorism.

The capital was quiet tonight, heavily patroled by guardsmen to maintain order.

Storm Survivor Arrested in Theft

Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 2 (AP).—Jack A. Davis, surviving the rigors of more than a week of drifting on the Gulf of Mexico in a disabled sailing sloop, was arrested here today by Sheriff Paul Cox, who said he was wanted in Panama City, Fla., on a charge of stealing the boat.

A telegraphic warrant was received from Florida.

William Wallace Bell, who left Panama City with Davis for British Honduras July 21, was lost at sea after a tropical hurricane swamped the craft more than a week ago.

Suffering from hunger and thirst, Davis said Bell apparently leaped into the Gulf while he was asleep last Sunday.

Davis denied he had stolen the sloop and refused to waive extradition.

If Franklin Is Winking, That "C" Note Is Bogus

Philadelphia, Aug. 2 (AP).—If Benjamin Franklin's portrait appears to be giving you the wink from a $100 bill—beware.

For Capt. William H. Houghton, chief of the United States Secret Service in the Philadelphia district, said today this is the "tip-off" on a new batch of counterfit $100 bills.

Houghton said Franklin had one eye slightly larger than the other on the bogus bills, with the lid on the smaller eye being slightly drooped.

Jailed Beer Baron Is Held Favored

(Associated Press.)

An investigation to determine whether Terry Druggan, erstwhile Chicago beer baron, is being granted unusual privileges at Leavenworth Penitentiary is being conducted by the Department of Justice.

It was said unofficially last night that the inquiry had disclosed the prisoner had been granted favors and that the dismissal of some prison employes was likely.

James V. Bennett, assistant director of prisons, was sent to Leavenworth to investigate after a newspaper had turned over information it had received to the Department of Justice. He is still at the penitentiary.

Italian Training Ships Leave for Baltimore

Hamilton, Bermuda, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Italian training ships Americo Vespucci and Cristoforo Colombo, copies of the "Wooden Walls" of the last century, sailed today for Baltimore, Md.

The 800 cadets aboard the vessels, under command of Admiral Bernotti, spent two days in Hamilton, where they were entertained royally by both residents and visitors.

Aroma of Sauerkraut Breaks Hunger Strike

Burlington, Iowa, Aug. 2 (AP).—Robert Campbell, 28, of Topeka, Kans., held in jail here awaiting grand jury action, today broke a four-day hunger strike.

Sauerkraut served to prisoners in the jail broke down Campbell's resistance, officers said.

Nation Starts Record Crime Drive Today

Plan United Legislation to Check Outbreak of Kidnapings.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 2.—The greatest offensive ever made against racketeers and the underworld will start tomorrow from the Department of State in Washington.

Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley has been commissioned by the President to coordinate the present forces of Government in the fight, and will begin at once.

Moley's crime job will begin tomorrow when he starts a synopsis of the present statutes on kidnaping and other angles of crime.

Out of these various legal forms, Moley will endeavor to create uniform legislation to stop the present outbreak of kidnapings. It is believed that the project for the establishment of a Federal Scotland Yard will form an integral part of the program.

No Cooperation.

At present there are 15 investigating bodies in Government departments. Cooperation between them is limited. The coordination of these units into an efficient and compact police force will probably form the basis of the Moley reforms.

President Roosevelt has asked Undersecretary of State William Phillips, in a letter mailed from Hyde Park tonight, to reliquish Moley's services temporally to the Justice Department.

Defying a blistering heat, President Roosevelt spent his first full working day in his secluded study today. He talked with Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson to get last-minute reports of the Pennsylvania coal strike.

A telegram from Gov. Pinchot expressed the belief that the Pennsylvania authorities would be able to avoid further disorders.

Recovery Funds Assured.

President Roosevelt was highly gratified by reports from the Treasury Department indicating a heavy oversubscription of the $500,000,000 refunding issue of 3-year bonds announced Monday to handle the August 15 financing.

Today's reports to the President were that the $500,000,000 issue of 3-year bonds at 3¼ per cent, had been oversubscribed more than six times.

The President was especially gratified by the prospect that when the August 15 financing is completed, the Treasury will carry the largest cash balance in American history, approximately $1,500,000,000.

No decision can be reached for several weeks on the possibility of converting the outstanding Liberty 4¼s, which may be called on any interest date, with 6 months notice. President Roosevelt is hopeful that, in view of the success of the August financing, it may be possible to announce a conversion plan for a portion of the $6,000,000,000 Liberty issue in October. It this announcement finally is determined upon, the bonds would be callable April 15, 1934. They would be exchanged for new obligations at a lower interest rate.

Sees Big Saving.

Mr. Roosevelt and his Treasury advisors have been contemplating the conversion program for some time. The President estimates that approximately $8,000,000 annually in interest might be saved by the step.

Under present plans, the President will leave here Friday night, August 11, and instead of returning directly to Washington, he will continue southward to some convenient spot in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Leaving his special train early Saturday morning, he will motor northward to Washington by way of Civilian Conservation Corps Camp, No. 1, near Luray.

Faithful Pray for Rain, Get Caught in Downpour

Leighton, Iowa, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—A fervent prayer for rain to save their parched crops brought an abundant answer to Ebenezer Reformed Church goers.

The members held a special service last night at which their pastor, the Rev. C. Witt, prayed for rain. En route home the congregation was caught in a downpour that, weather observers announced, measured half an inch.

No money was paid for his release, which came at 11:30 o'clock last night "some place in Queens County," it was said.

12,000 Jobs Expected From Fund Disposals

$8,625,202 Is Allotted for Field Service Projects.

By Robert C. Albright.

New allotment of funds from the Public Works Administration, counted on to open up between 10,000 and 12,000 Federal jobs throughout the country, last night was announced by the Commerce Department.

It was learned on good authority that $8,625,202 all together has been made available to Commerce Department agencies, and requests for additional funds are still pending.

Officials emphasized that virtually all of the new jobs will be in the field service; that the new assignment of money will have practically no effect on the Washington situation.

Meanwhile, prospective early printing of $635,000,000 in National Recovery Treasury securities, led to reports that burdensome furloughs in force at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing may be lifted. Treasury officials refused to confirm or deny rumors that the extensive printing program may require full-time bureau operation.

Lighthouse Improvements.

The Bureau of Lighthouses was the largest recipient of funds from the Public Works Administration. Altogether, 5,225,202 was allotted to the bureau for physical improvements to lighthouses, ships and equipment.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey received $2,600,000 to operate surveying parties in the majority of the States and along both coasts. Approximaptely 70 per cent of this will be paid directly as wages to men urgently in need of work. It will permit the rehiring of most of the 1,000 men released from the Survey July 15.

Other allotments of funds to Commerce Department agencies were as follows:

Bureau of Fisheries, $150,000, to be used in rehabilitating 12 vessels and repairs to building at 27 stations.

Aeronautics Branch.

Aeronautics branch, $443,000, for relocating airway lighting systems between Omaha and Chicago, New York and Boston, and for combining radio facilities so as to provide for standby equipment in 57 cities, including Washington.

Bureau of Standards, $100,000, for reconditioning buildings.

Bureau of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection, $30,000, for repairs and replacements to vessels.

Johnson and Pinchot Invoke Recovery Forces in Attempts To Settle Coal Mine Strike

Capital Banks Lead 14,000 Signing Code

Pledge Full Measure of Support to Recovery Drive.

Financial Institutions in All Sections Swing Into Line.

Fourteen thousand banks yesterday accepted temporary codes and fell in line with the National Industrial Recovery Administration, swelling the tide of industry and business moving in under the Blue Eagle of the Roosevelt administration.

Twenty Washington banks in acting quickly to accept the code are believed to have showed the way to the Nation's other fiscal institutions, it was said late yesterday at the recovery administration offices. Approximately 200 jobs will be created in local banks by the move.

The day was not marked by the bankers' decision alone. The electrical manufacturing, the radio, the rayon weaving and spinning, the synthetic yarn and the bedding industries accepted temporary codes. All were based on President Roosevelt's blanket code.

The administration also set up a model for adjustment of labor disputes.

There was heard, too, the cracking of the whip of authority when the three major branches of the motion picture industry were ordered to meet recovery officials in New York next Tuesday to prepare a code for that industry.

14,000 Join Movement.

Close behind the notice of the District banks' action came announcement that 14,000 other banks throughout the United States, members of the American Bankers Association, had joined the movement under a temporary modified code.

It is expected that another 6,000 banks, which are not members of the association, will cooperate by signing individual pledges.

The code for banks—State, national and savings institutions—provides for a 40-hour week, over a five-week average, except for guards and watchmen. Executives or those receiving more than $35 a week, also are exempted as are banks in towns or trade areas of less than 2,500 population.

Pay ranges from a minimum of $15 a week in or about cities of 500,000 or more, down to $14 in towns of 2,500 or more, and $12 in

Senate Approves South Dakota Beer

Pierre, S. Dak., Aug. 2 (AP).—A bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer was approved by the South Dakota Senate in special session tonight. The vote was 42 to 1.

The measure now goes to the House, where quick action is expected. Carrying an emergency clause, it would make 3.2 beer and wine legal immediately upon House approval and signature by Gov. Tom Berry, who called the special legislative session to act on the bill.

Mrs. Pinchot Assails Police on Strike Duty

Pledges Her Support to Philadelphia Hosiery Mill Pickets.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, dynamic wife of Pennsylvania's chief executive, extended her picketing activities to Philadelphia today and denounced methods of police on strike duty at silk hosiery plants.

From Croyden, several miles north of the city, where she joined picket lines at the Blue Moon Silk Hosiery Co. plant, Mrs. Pinchot telephoned Joseph A. Lestrange, acting superintendent of police in Philadelphia, and criticized what she termed disrespect of constitutional rights of the strikers.

Her red hair set off by a bright yellow dress, Mrs. Pinchot drove from her mountain home in Milford to pledge her support to the strikers' cause. She addressed a gathering of 1,800 at Croyden and then conferred with a group of strikers from the Cambria Silk Hosiery Co. plant in Philadelphia before telephoning Lestrange.

"I am informed the police at the Cambria mill are as bad as deputy sheriffs at Lansdale and in the soft coal fields of Fayette County," she told him.

The police head denied his men had used undue violence on strikers or pickets and said police were trying to aid peaceful picketing, but that their first duty was to preserve order.

To the strikers at the Blue Moon plant, Mrs. Pinchot declared she was with them "100 per cent" in their fight for union recognition.

"I'll help the strikers in every way possible for their cause is right," she told them.

City Terrorized For 4 Hours By Bandit Gang

Robbers Elude Big Posse on Kansas Farm; Lose Bank Safe.

Coffeyville, Kans., Aug. 2 (AP).—A posse late today surrounded a farm near here where they reported sighting two of a group of robbers who terrorized Weir City more than four hours, stole a bank safe and left 16 citizens captive in the city jail. The 100 pursuers were armed with machine guns. National Guard dismounted cavalry joined the chase.

The hunt for the bank looters began along the Verdigris River bottoms when two of the men were driven to cover in a gun fight with Coffeyville police after the robbers left Weir City with the unopened safe on a truck. The truck was abandoned and the safe was brought here by guardsmen.

Possemen later said the robbers apparently had eluded them. The robber gang was in four automobiles with two machine guns.

Fire Menaces Meeting House of Free State

Dublin, Ireland, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—Fire broke out tonight at Leinster House, the meeting place of the Dail, at the conclusion of a supper party in honor of President De Valera.

The audience was singing the Free State national anthem when smoke filled the room. They rushed for the doors. However, the fire brigade already was fighting the flames, which were confined to the basement.

1,000 on Work Relief Projects Go on Strike

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 2 (AP).—About 1,000 men employed on work relief projects struck here today and sent a committee to authorities demanding a 5-day week and a minimum wage scale of 40 cents an hour.

Under the prevailing scale, the men worked 7 hours daily, 2 to 7 days a week, at $1.25 a day.

Stratosphere Hop Tests Completed

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP).—Lieut. Commander T. G. W. Settle, awaiting suitable weather for the balloon flight he hopes will establish a new world's altitude record, today tested the gondola in which he will ride to satisfy himself it does not leak.

Settle said weather conditions might permit a take-off tomorrow, but he was not overexcited about the possibility.

The metal sphere, seven feet in diameter, has been subjected to all sorts of strain and stress tests. A leak, if was pointed out, would be serious. Leakage from within must be prevented in order to conserve the proper pressure and oxygen content.

Long Machine Is Disabled by Court Actions

Grand Jury Friendly to Senator Is Dispersed in Disorder.

New Orleans, Aug. 2 (AP).—Huey Long's politicians were routed today from the field of battle over a recount of November's election ballots by action of two criminal district judges.

Their main vehicle of offense, the grand jury, was obliterated by an order of dissolution from Judge Frank T. Echezabel and they dispersed in disorder from the courthouse.

They sent back one of their counselors, James O'Connor, assistant attorney general and former member of Congress, to file a petition citing Leonard K. Nicholson, president of the New Orleans Times-Picayune Publishing Co., and James M. Colomb, one of the grand jurors, for contempt of court for the publication of a statement by Colomb exposing the grand jury procedure.

At the same time next door, in the court of Judge Alexander C. O'Donnell, a committee of citizens was engaged in recounting six of the disputed ballot boxes. In the afternoon the committee reported to Judge O'Donnell they had found discrepancies in each of the boxes.

The grand jury came into Judge Echezabal's court prepared to make a report, but before they could do it, they had been dismissed by the judge under a law which says a grand jury serves for six months "unless sooner discharged by the judge." The grand jury was allowed to say "good morning" to the judge and that was all they said.

Legislator Hikes 150 Miles to Duty

Denver, Aug. 2 (AP).—Representative Duncan Dunn, of Kit Carson, hitch-hiked 150 miles to attend a special session of the Colorado Legislature opening today.

Dusty, but on time, Dunn answered "present" at the first roll call.

"Most of the motorists were very kind," Dunn said. "Some, though, just hooted and roared on by. My thumb's a little sore."

$10,000,000 Job Fund Is Asked in Colorado

Denver, Aug. 2 (AP).—A $10,000,000 bond issue "to allay distress and unemployment" and "prevent social upheaval and insurrection" in Colorado was provided in the first House measure introduced in an extraordinary session of the General Assembly which convened here today.

Receipts from sale of the bonds authorized by the bill would go into the Colorado employment relief fund, which the measure would create. The bill provides $2,000,000 for direct relief and $5,250,000 for highways. The remainder would go to construction of a State hospital and to municipalities.

$2,500,000 Silver Bars For U. S. Come on Ship

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 2 (AP).—Nine thousand 80-pound bars of silver worth $2,500,000 and believed consigned by Great Britain to the United States to apply on war debts, was discharged here today by the liner Empress of Canada on her arrival from the Orient.

The cargo, under special guard, will be shipped Saturday to San Francisco on the steamer Emma Alexander.

Governor Confers Here With Administrator and Operators.

Progress Reported At Parley's End

John L. Lewis, Head of Mine Union, Joins in Discussions.

By J. Bernard McDonnell.

Power of the administration's economic recovery machinery was used last night in an attempt to bring about settlement of the Pennsylvania bituminous coal strike.

Utilization of the recovery administration against the strike was ordered by President Roosevelt from his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., and Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, was closeted for several hours last night in an unsuccessful effort to bring the strike to an immediate end.

Gen. Johnson summoned to Washington, Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Thomas Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., center of the controvery; and plunged into his conciliating efforts.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Edward F. McGrady, former American Federation of Labor official who now is assistant recovery administrator, participated in the conferences which were held last night behind locked doors in the offices of Gen. Johnson in the Commerce Department building.

Reticent on Results.

When Mr. Lewis left the conference late at night he told newspapermen he had nothing to say.

The high enthusiasm with which Gen. Johnson apparently had begun the conferences on his return from Harrisburg, apparently had dwindled, but not disappeared at the end of the night of discussion. He said "progress had been made."

"There may be some announcement to make after 11 a. m. tomorrow morning," was the word that the general sent through his secretary after the meeting adjourned.

At that time Mr. Moses is expected to join in the discussions. So far, it was said, he has not given any indication that the results of the conference between Gen. Johnson and Mr. McGrady and Mr. Lewis would be accepted as satisfactory.

The Frick Co. is a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation and operates bituminous mines solely for the production of coke.

Fights Organized Labor.

The company has consistently fought through the years against organized labor. Efforts by the United Mine Workers to use the collective bargains provisions of the recovery act as authority to organize led to the strike which has spread to other mines.

Gen. Johnson conferred with Gov. Pinchot in Harrisburg and it was while the governor was escorting the administrator to the airport that Johnson persuaded the governor to fly after him. Mr. Moses also followed.

It was at the preliminary conferences between the governor and the mine head that Gen. Johnson learned the extent of the concessions to which the mine operators were readily willing to go.

These concessions were taken up in conferences held later with the head of the mine union and Mr. McGrady, at the conclusion of which Gen. Johnson refused to see newspaper reporters and Mr. Lewis and Mr. McGrady said they had nothing to say.

Over the heads of the disputants Gen. Johnson held the power of the recovery act. Under that law the President may prescribe an arbitrary code for an industry, grant a hearing and enforce his dictates by licensing only those companies which obey the code provisions.

The Recovery Administrator yesterday advanced from August 14 to August 9 the date of the public hearing on 18 varying codes which have been submitted by different branches of the bituminous industry.

The conferences last night followed an earnest appeal by Gen.

$1,490 Cash Prizes Given For Firemen's Big Parade

List of Awards Sent by Bargagni to Companies in Every State.

Cash prizes totaling $1,490 will go to winners of various events in this year's National Firemen's Labor Day parade.

The prize list, recently completed by Sergt. A. J. Bargagni, has gone to fire companies in every State in the Union and replies are being received daily. At this early date over 25 out-of-town units have stated they will be in Washington on Labor Day.

All literature sent this year is also urging the firefighters and their families to come to the Capital, not only for the three-day firemen's program but for 10 days or 2 weeks. "Spend this year's vacation in Washington" has been one of the slogans.

One of the events of chief interest this year should be the volunteer firemen's numerical classification. A $200 cash prize will be given the volunteer organization with the largest delegation in the line of march. An accompanying drum corps or band will entitle the unit to 10 additional points.

The second prize in this entry is $75, and the third, a beautiful loving cup. Volunteer firemen from all parts of the country are eligible for this event, and it should prove one of the big means of bringing large delegations to Washington.

A cash prize of $100 will be given to the volunteer company which makes the best appearance in the

Welles Backed By Department In Cuban Rift

Demands Political Chaos Be Cleared Before Treaty Is Talked.

By Harold J. T. Horan.

The United States will not consider any revision of the present commercial treaty with Cuba or any other commercial reciprocal agreement until Cuba has brought order out of the present political chaos on the island.

This was conveyed to Cuban Ambassador Oscar Cintas when he called at the Department of State yesterday.

This corroborates the position taken by American Ambassador Sumner Welles.

President Machado's adherents differed with this view. They believe that the best interests of the country, and of the United States as well, would be served if the commercial negotiations were first concluded and then the settlement of political differences. It is their contention that the political disorders are the result of economic distress. Ambassador Welles' theory has been the reverse.

Ambassador Welles has received the corroboration of the officials in the department.

The present commercial treaty with Cuba grants all imports from that country a preferential tariff of 20 per cent. Cuban authorities are anxious to have this rate adjusted so as to increase the flow of Cuban imports into the United States.

Ambassador Cintas was told by Acting Secretary of State Phillips and Assistant Secretary of State Jefferson Caffery that Mr. Welles' preoccupation in Havana had been so intense that he has had no time to review the commercial treaty or its revision.

Revision of the present trade agreement will be made probably on a generous and sympathetic scale, if the Cuban government accedes to the Welles' program for political harmony.

The hearings before the Agricultural Board on the sugar quota on August 10, at which the Cuban government will be represented, will not be affected by this decision.

14,000 Banks Put Under NRA Code towns of less than 2,500, who shall receive a 20 per cent increase.

Approval of the Federal Reserve Board was given in a statement by Gov. Eugene R. Black, who said "the action today placing the American Bankers Association squarely behind the operation of the national industrial recovery act is all the evidence the people of this country need of the sincere intent of our banks to do their part in the Nation-wide program for industrial recovery."

Signal of the cooperation of "big money" had been given last week when 13 of the largest banks in New York City had pledged their cooperation in a letter to Gen. Johnson. They promised easier credit.

Pave Way for Action.

A joint meeting of the District of Columbia Bankers Association and the Washington Clearing House Association at Riggs National Bank yesterday paved the way for local banks' action.

It was attended by representatives of every member bank of these associations.

A resolution recommending that member banks sign President Roosevelt's agreement, as modified, was adopted. Representatives of all member banks of the associations will sign the agreement today. Under the agreement, bank employees generally will work 40 hours a week. The average employment heretofore has been 45 hours a week. The minimum wage will be $14.50 a week.

Officials of the associations estimated last night that it will result in an increase of these banks' personnel, exclusive of officers and directors, from approximately 1,800 to probably 2,000. The local banking associations are said to be the first in the country to take this step.

Banking institutions which are members of one or both of the foregoing organizations are the following: National Bank of Washington, Columbia National Bank, Liberty National Bank, Lincoln National Bank, National Metropolitan Bank, National Capital Bank, Riggs National Bank, Second National Bank, American Security & Trust Co., Munsey Trust Co., National Savings & Trust Co., Union Trust Co., Washington Loan & Trust Co., Anacostia Bank, Bank of Commerce & Savings, East Washington Savings Bank, McLachlen Banking Corporation, Morris Plan Bank, Security Savings & Commercial Bank and Washington Mechanics Savings Bank.

Preparation for a widespread "spend for reemployment" campaign was announced by Gen. Johnson in an address at the outset of a public hearing on a code submitted by the cotton garment and shirt industry in the Mayflower Hotel.

The "spend more" campaign has been delayed because the administration wished to be certain there had been a sufficient economic recovery to justify it.

"Buy now" movements in the past had failed because they had been wrong in principle, because they urged consumers to buy on a declining market when it may have been unwise for them to have dissipated their resources.

More Money to States.

(Associated Press.)

Two additional relief grants to States were announced yesterday by the Federal emergency relief administration, $152,100 going to Oregon and $70,901 to Arizona. These figures brought the total thus far contributed to Oregon to $1,174,778, and to Arizona to $469,133.

Murray Wants U. S. to Settle Prices for Oil

Oklahoma Governor Urges $1 Minimum in Code as Well as Hours.

(Associated Press.)

In a discussion of the oil code that was punctuated by sharp arguments, Gov. Murray of Oklahoma yesterday urged that the Government supervise oil prices.

Murray said he could see no distinction between fixing hours of labor and rates of pay, and fixing "a living price and cost of production."

The governor recommended a minimum of $1 a barrel, contending "it will stabilize the price to the public."

"If you do not, we will have what we have had in the oil business since the year one," Murray went on.

He explained that he meant companies would fill up their supply tanks at low cost and sell their gasoline high.

"I haven't much sympathy with the oil man, to tell you the God Almighty truth," Murray said, "but I do have very much sympathy for the public."

Nira Honored

President Sends Greeting to Parents Who Named Baby After Code.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2 (AP).—President Roosevelt today honored Mrs. Christopher J. Collins, jr., and her new daughter, Nira.

In a letter written at the summer White House at Hyde Park, N. Y., the President congratulated Mrs. Collins and sent his personal wishes to the tot who was christened in honor of his national industrial recovery act.

With baby Nira sleeping peacefully by her side, Mrs. Collins read:

"My Dear Mrs. Collins: It is with sincere pleasure that I have heard about your new baby daughter and the sincere tribute you have paid to our effort toward industrial recovery by christening her Nira in honor of the national industrial recovery act.

"Signifying the faith, confidence and cooperation necessary in any great human endeavor, I compliment you on your choice, and hope that your baby will be healthy and happy in the better days to come. Very sincerely yours, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

The father was not present for the first reading of the letter. He was at work on one of the jobs he said was created within the last few weeks by Nira.

"I would talk to the devil, himself, if I thought there was any chance of making hell colder."

Strikes and disorders, he added, exact their toll ultimately on the "long suffering people" who must pay the bills.

Pounding the speakers stand in the forum of the State Educational Building, Johnson shouted above cheers that almost overwhelmed his words.

During his flying visit to Hamburg to explain the National Recovery Administration to Pennsylvania's business and industrial leaders, he received Gov. Pinchot's pledge that the State is "squarely behind" the national program, saw several thousand manufacturers gather from all parts of Pennsylvania to back that pledge and received first-hand information of application of the mediation he advocated.

"People Will Smile Again."

Gen. Johnson said the "Blue Eagle" of the N. R. A. now stands for a movement which will pull the country out of unemployment and "let the people smile again."

He warned against "shirkers," saying "you must not let those who are not playing the game run the whole game." By demanding the "Blue Eagle" and forcing the cooperation of every employer, he asserted the national recovery program can be made effective by August 15.

Assemblyman John M. Flynn, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, wanted to know what protection employers in the N. R. A. have against an "influx of foreign goods."

Can Declare Embargo.

"When prices are raised and imports interfere the President can declare an embargo," Johnson replied.

Another manufacturer asked whether employers are expected to pay minimum wages "without regard to the age or ability of the worker."

To pay minmum wages to such workers, Johnson said, "might be a hardship to the employer but not nearly the hardship to the old man or woman who would be forced on the street."

Coal Fields Calm.

Brownsville, Pa., Aug. 2 (AP).—Peace moves spread a spirit of calm over the trouble spots of Pennsylvania's strike-wracked soft coal fields today.

An easier atmosphere pervaded the entire strike zone, where a walkout eight days ago of 2,500 men has spread to some 35,000 men—demanding recognition of the United Mine Workers of America.

The moves toward peace, seemingly breaking the tenseness, came from several quarters. Gov. Gifford Pinchot and Thomas Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., near whose mines most of the disorders occurred, arranged a conference.

State Monopoly Of Public Work Funds Banned

Ickes Orders Direct Dealing With Subdivisions on Merit Basis.

(Associated Press.)

The Public Works Administration reserved to itself yesterday the right to deal directly with political subdivisions without State interference and action was believed imminent on applications for funds for a number of important non-Federal projects.

Secretary Ickes, the Public Works administrator, rejected unconditionally a request by Gov. Ely of Massachusetts that the Public Works Administration agree not to deal with municipalities in that State unless a board to be created by the governor approved the proposed projects.

Ickes informed the governor that the Public Works Administration would consider solely on its merits every proposition submitted and without consideration of what the State government might desire.

The more than $1,000,000,000 which the Public Works Administration has allotted so far out of its $3,300,000,000 fund has been mostly for Federal projects, because work on them in the reemployment and purchasing-power-raising move could begin without delay.

At its session today, the Public Works Board is expected to have before it important non-Federal projects.

Officials said the applications would be important and would probably include housing enterprises.

The Board of Consultants on Housing has laid down a general policy that the building should be inexpensive enough that rentals would be under $10 per month per room.

Gov. Pinchot Here; Seeks Mine Peace

Johnson in Harrisburg, where Gov. Pinchot also had been trying to end the strike.

Flying to Harisburg to make his appeal to employer and employees to settle the strike quickly, Gen. Johnson took another plane back and immediately plunged into further discussions.

Shortly after 6 p. m. John L. Lewis joined the discussions in Gen. Johnson's office. It was this latter gathering which lasted until 11:30 o'clock. Officials said that neither the governor nor Mr. Mosses took part in the discussions with the labor leaders.

It was Mr. Lewis who first demanded Federal intervention in the spreading strike. Appeals to the President met with the statement that the question was in the hands of Johnson and Secretary of Labor Perkins. Previously Gen. Johnson had said that settlement of the strike was not within his jurisdiction.

Nonetheless following receipt of the President's statement he plunged into the battle and quickly shifted the center of the fight to the National Capital.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 2 (AP).—Driving his campaign for national recovery into strike-splotched Pennsylvania, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson today flayed disputes which produce "fierce local troubles" and appealed for peaceful conferences to settle the State's widespread strikes.

Declaring he did not know "who is wrong or who is right" in the bituminous strike in western Pennsylvania, he asserted:

"These few fierce local troubles will seem to the rest of the country like some one blowing a fire siren in the midst of a symphony concert."

Gen. Johnson forced upon the mass meeting today his military impatience with any thing or person blocking national recovery.

"God help the man or group of men who stand against this drive," he shouted, pounding the desk as he told of the Roosevelt recovery policies and their objectives.

Commenting on shootings and disputes between the governor, sheriff and mine operators, he said:

"I don't see why blood should flow and men should refuse to talk with one another when the whole country is sacrificing everything to get the people close together.

"Blue Eagle" Drive Methods To Be Studied

Business and Civic Group Representatives Will Meet Today.

Methods to be followed in the National Recovery Administration's "Blue Eagle" drive in Washington will be outlined to representatives of business and civic organizations meeting at the Commerce Department today.

Frank R. Wilson, of the NRA public relations office, will discuss the strategy of the campaign. Russell I. Whyte will serve as chairman.

Among those attending will be Claude W. Owen and Robert J. Cottress, of the Board of Trade; Thomas P. Littlepage and Dorsey W. Hyde, jr., Chamber of Commerce; James E. Colliflower and Edward Shaw, of the Merchants & Manufacturers Association, and Herbert E. Morgan, of the Federation of Citizens Associations.

Washington is now well under the shadow of the NRA blue eagle. One thousand business places are displaying the red and blue badges.

Plans for cooperating with the recovery code will be discussed by the District Retail Hardware Association at 9 p. m. tomorrow at the Mayflower.

Diphtheria Postpones Child Custody Hearing

Flint, Mich., Aug. 2 (AP).—A diphtheria quarantine today was accepted by Circuit Judge James S. Parker as ample grounds for continuing until Saturday the habeas corpus case in which James R. Procunier, of Solano County, California, seeks custody of his 6-year-old daughter who is now with his divorced wife.

In securing the writ, Procunier said Mrs. Procunier disappeared shortly after he secured a divorce in California in June, taking with her the child whose custody had been awarded him. When he found them here, they were in a house bearing the quarantine notice.

Woman Convicted In Blackmail Plot

Former Aid Was Accused by Bruce Barton in $50,000 Scheme.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Frances W. King, accused by Bruce Barton of attempting to extort $50,000 from him on a threat of publishing a novel which the advertising executive contended was a "vicious and scurrilous libel," was convicted of blackmail tonight by a jury in the Court of General Sessions, Judge Joseph E. Corrigan.

The jury deliberated some 6 hours.

The jurors returned the most severe of three possible verdicts: Blackmail, attempted extortion and sending an annoying letter.

Mrs. King was formerly an employee in Barton's advertising firm. She will be sentenced tomorrow.

Cuban Conferees Double Sessions

Havana, Aug. 2 (AP).—The "mixed commission" working with Sumner Welles, United States Ambassador, on constitutional reforms intended to solve this republic's difficulties, will hold two meetings daily hereafter.

The envoy and the delegates—six representing the opposition to the regime of President Gerardo Machado, and six representing the three old political parties—decided on this today.

Soldiers were removed today from guard duty at Havana University, which was shut down two years ago. Soldiers were detailed there following student demonstrations against the government.

Landscape Firms Here And Nearby Adopt Code

A unified code for all landscape firms and independent sodders in the District of Columbia and surrounding counties in Virginia and Maryland was adopted yesterday at a meeting of the Greater Washington Sodders Association in Silver Spring, Md.

Standard price of sod under the new code is to be 21-3 cents a square foot. A minimum wage scale also was drawn.

Here's Saskatchewan Worrying About Frost!

Winnipeg, Aug. 2 (AP).—Cooler weather prevailed over the prairies today, but fear of frost was somewhat abated as the mercury rose from the readings in some areas yesterday.

The minimum reading in the wheat lands was reported from Saskatoon, where the mercury dropped to 35 this morning. The highest on the prairies was Broadview, Saskatchewan, with 74. Alberta's minimum was 40 at Medicine Hat. Winnipeg was the coolest Manitoba point, the minimum being 42, with a peak of 70. Light rains fell in Alberta.

Norfolk Man Expected to Die; Assailant Escapes.

Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 2 (Spl.). Frank B. Harris, 34, Norfolk, Va., member of Forestry Camp No. 69, near here, was grimly clinging to life tonight while officers of two counties searched woods for Grady B. Bond, who fired two shots into Harris' body during a dispute at the camp Monday night. Bond, also a camp worker, who fled after the affair, is from Brookland, Va.

Harris was shot through the chest and abdomen and his recovery is doubtful. Philip H. Rees, also from Norfolk, camp clerk, who was beaten and kicked by Bond in the same altercation, has returned to work after hospital treatment.

Clevelanders Are Warned on NRA Cheating

Mayor Forms Military-Type Machine to Take Charge.

Cleveland, Aug. 2 (AP).—Several distinct warnings to employers who may be tempted to cheat on the NRA appeared today in rapid succession.

Mayor Ray T. Miller announced the framework of a huge military-type organization to "enforce" the NRA in Cleveland.

Almost simultaneously, Miss Mary E. Wood, secretary of the Ohio Recovery Board, announced she had received complaints that a few firms were displaying the NRA eagle, but were not complying with the pledge.

Chamber Gives Warning.

The chamber of commerce issued a "friendly warning" of "serious consequences" if they failed to keep their pledges.

At Akron, Henry J. Berrodin, national president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, said he would propose to the national convention here this week a resolution making the organization a self-appointed policing agency to report industrial violations of the NRA.

$5,000 Pledged in Ohio.

Authoritative statisticians were unable to give conclusive figures on how much employment and wages had been increased through the nearly 35,000 pledges to NRA by Ohio employers.

The chamber of commerce disclosed, however, that 42 of the 83 leading manufacturers of Cleveland were expecting to increase their pay rolls during August in anticipation of codes for individual industries. Forty-six of the 83 plan to increase wages, the chamber said.

Roads That Mean Jobs

PORTLAND CEMENT Keeps America's Arteries YOUNG

ROADS that are SUBSTANTIAL— ROADS that are PERMANENT— BUILD THEM OF CONCRETE

The Federal Government has granted $400,000,000 to the states for highway work. Through your State Highway Department, the U. S. A. will furnish roads that mean jobs, funds for building roads. Home labor, now on relief, will get jobs again. The wages will be spent in home stores. And there will be no burden on the home taxpayer.

CONCRETE ROADS answer the Government's every specification.

They provide men with jobs.

They are substantial—maintenance cost is much less than that of any other type.

They are permanent — outlasting any other type.

And you know that they give you the greatest driving safety, comfort and convenience—But did you know—that they save you money on gas, tires, depreciation and repairs for every mile you drive? That also is now a proved fact.

Insist on CONCRETE for your roads—get the most and the best road for the money—and the maximum employment for labor!

Roads are the arteries that give life to any town or city. They bring business to home merchants—they make or break the community's reputation with strangers. They make the town a better place to live.

Portland cement, basic ingredient of CONCRETE, is the material which engineers have used in building America's finest roads—nearly 100,000 miles of them. Cement has closed the gaps between buyer and seller by making modern automobile traffic possible. And countrywide tests have shown that of all types of paving, all costs considered—CONCRETE brought all these advantages at lower cost.

Lehman Asks Moratorium on Foreclosures

Sets May, 1934, as Time for Full Operation of Federal Act.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP).—Pressed by demands from thousands of small home owners, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman asked the New York Legislature today to declare a moratorium on home and farm mortgage foreclosures until May 1, 1934, pending the full operation of the Federal home owners' loan act, passed by the last Congress.

Gov. Lehman made his plea in a special message to the lawmakers whom he had called into extraordinary session to help New York City out of its financial troubles. Yesterday more than 1,000 home owners from the New York City area besieged the capitol, demanding relief.

Mr. Lehman declined to recommen any general moratorium on mortgage foreclosures, saying this would seriously endanger the position of the savings banks and insurance companies and would be a severe blow to the holders of guaranteed mortgage certificates. Under his proposal, home owners would be protected against foreclosures brought because of nonpayment of principal, provided their taxes and interest and other charges had been paid.

He warned the legislature against passing any measure which might "encourage the nonpayment of taxes on real estate," pointing out that any moratorium on tax payments would "seriously embarrass every municipality of the State."

Edict From Ickes Rouses Gov. Ely

Bay State Executive Upset by Slap at Public Works Board.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 2 (Spl.).—Gov. Ely and other State officials were in doubt tonight whether to construe the latest action of Secretary of the Interior Ickes as an affront to the governor or as merely another of those quick emergency moves necessitated by changing conditions at Washington.

The governor today received word from the Secretary that the Federal public works administration would not recognize the Massachusetts Emergency Finance Board as an agency to pass upon municipal building projects in this State. Several months ago Gov. Ely asked the Legislature to empower him to appoint such a commission to assist in the awarding of projects here. The Legislature acted speedily and Gov. Ely appointed a board and named Joseph Bartlett, of Newton, chairman. Under Secretary Ickes' ruling municipalities here must now ignore the finance board and deal directly with Washington. Just what steps the governor can take to protest the ruling were not known tonight but it is reported he will fight the Ickes dictum.

Stability of World Linked to Budget

Former Colorado Governor Addresses Lions on Recovery Program.

There can be no balancing of the Government budget until the economic world regains its balance, William E. Sweet, former Governor of Colorado, a member of the Industrial Recovery Administration, told the Washington Lions Club yesterday.

"We are not seeking to scrap all the old economic laws," Sweet said, "but to apply established economic laws in this machine age. Too many people have relied upon automatic adjustment which is impossible now without economic planning." He emphasized that the starvation wages paid in many industries were brought about by ruinous competition and not always by the greed of employers.

Sweet said that the business world should not be fearful of the prospect of price fixing in certain industries as this had been practiced already on a modified scale. He pointed out that electric light and power rates and railroad fares are fixed by Government agencies and have been for a number of years.

It is expected the merchants will increase their help as soon as specific codes for the different business establishments are formulated by the merchants and accepted by the administrator of the NRA.

Milk Dumped As New York's Strike Spreads

Key Dairies Report Supply Cut in Half by Road Pickets.

Boonville, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP).—New York State's milk strike, marked at its opening yesterday by armed clashes between troopers and angry farmers, today spread to new sectors as hundreds of cans of milk wrested from nonstrikers were dumped upon roads to city dairy plants.

While physical violence decreased, there were not enough troopers to watch all roads at once and the dumping activities were greater. Some key dairy plants in central New York, the most affected zone, reported their daily supply cut three-fourths to one-half under normal. In southern Herkimer County, milk from the farm of Owen D. Young, international financier, was dumped.

Demand Price Guarantee.

The striking farmers, most of them members of the recently organized Empire Dairymen's Association, previously independents, are seeking to compel the State Milk Control Board to discard its milk classification plan in favor of a guarantee of a blanket price of 4½ cents for all fluid milk leaving the farm.

R. J. Clemons, executive secretary of the Rutland Cooperative Association, today threatened to throw the strength of his 6,000 members into the strike unless the State board changes its attitude in 48 hours. The board said it would stand by its own plan until a better one was suggested.

Legislative Probe Asked.

Legislative investigation into the situation was demanded by Stanley Piseck, of Newport, one of the main springs in the holiday activities, in a telegram to State Senator Henry I. Patrie.

Troopers continued tonight to mass at strategic points, ready with tear gas and riot sticks to dispel belligerent members of all roadside crowds.

Advisers Attempt Reunion of Hutton

But Evangelist Says She's Through; So Does Husband.

Los Angeles, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—Advisers of Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton and her estranged torch singer husband, David L. Hutton, discussed a possible reconciliation today while both principals insisted they never would consider such a move.

A plan to bring the evangelist and Hutton back together was discussed by their attorneys. Earlier, Mrs. Hutton said she wanted to "see Dave privately and hear from his own lips that he no longer loves me."

"Dave made his decision when he filed the divorce suit against me," she said. "He has burned his bridges. I don't know exactly what I'll do, but it will be decided by the Temple board of elders."

"Her decision to talk the matter over with the elders merely bears out by divorce charge that I married Angelus Temple instead of Aimee," Hutton declared.

Election Law Test To Supreme Court

(Associated Press.)

The validity of a clause in the Louisiana constitution prescribing qualifications on the right of citizens to register and vote at elections was challenged in a case filed yesterday in the Supreme Court.

Antoine M. Trudeau, a Negro resident of New Orleans, who for four years prior to 1931 had been a registered voter, was refused registration when he applied for a renewal in June, 1931.

The registrar refused him registration on the ground he failed to understand and properly explain the meaning of a section of the constitution read to him.

Trudeau, in seeking damages from the registrar, contended in the Federal courts in Louisiana that the "understanding clause" in the constitution was a substitute for the "grandfather clause" and that under it illiterate whites were permitted to register while qualified Negroes were excluded.

Japanese Cite Lax Customs In Offering Cheap Quilts Here

Circular Mail to Federal Clerks Held Legal but Annoying.

Clever, these Japanese.

But not such good salesmen—or linguists.

Offices in the Department of Commerce were flooded yesterday with circulars from a Japanese firm advertising "Silk—Feather Quilts." Engaged, as they are, in promoting American products, officials of the department were not a little vexed.

The Japanese were clever in using the mails—the only possible method of circularizing Government employees in their offices—to promote their quilt. But the advertising copy of this optimistic firm struck a sour note when it stated the quilt was "warmer than wool."

The low price of $38.40 a dozen, f. o. b. Nishijiku, Toyohashi, Japan, was presumably explained in the circulars thus:

"As the imitations of our goods can not be manufactured at foreign countries, custom duties are very cheap and never be levied on them so-called dumping duties."

As to stopping this flow of circulars, Edward W. Libbey, chief clerk of the Department of Commerce, said:

"Nothing can be done. They come into this department in bulk by mail, addressed to individual employees, and are entirely legal, though troublesome."

Chicago Judges Rush Home to War on Crime

Eight Cut Vacations and Grind Out Sentences of Year to Life.

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP).—Seeking quick justice to squelch an outburst of crime in the World's Fair city, eight criminal court judges today had abandoned vacations and returned to their benches—and the results were immediate.

Judge Marcus Kavanagh, a veteran of 35 years on the bench, dashed back to his courtroom from England. His first act was to sentence an alleged automobile thief to a term of from 1 to 20 years in prison.

Dozen Others Sentenced.

The day's grinding from the courtroom mills brought a dozen other sentences, one of them to life imprisonment. Officials predicted the court docket of 3 murder and 62 robbery cases would be cleared up in short order.

Combined with the naming of 24 men in the first indictments ever returned against racketeering, civil leaders classed the speeding up of the courts as an important deterrant to uprising of crime that has brought death to 10 Chicago policemen since January 1.

Police Killer Gets Life.

Under the new deal in prosecution, one of the police killers, Arthur Lavac, received prompt justice. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for killing Policeman Franc Svec last December 12. Prosecutors said the case might have dragged along for weeks were it not for opening of extraordinary sessions in the eight courts. Lavac killed Svec and Policeman Edgar Chatterton when they called at his home to order attendance of Lavac's children at school.

Colby Weighed In New York's Mayoralty Race

O'Ryan Urged to Decline Leadership by Head of Republicans.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan was urged today by W. Kingsland Macy, Republican State chairman, to refuse a bipartisan mayoralty nomination on the ground that his candidacy would split the anti-Tammany forces.

Macy's action and an announcement by an anti-Tammany Democratic club that it would not support the former commander of the Twenty-seventh Division were viewed as heightening the possibility that Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State under Woodrow Wilson, would be named a compromise choice.

Gen. O'Ryan has withheld final acceptance of the nomination pending a possible recommendation tomorrow from a special Republican committee. Macy's letter was regarded in many quarters as eliminating the general from the committee's consideration.

In a reply to Macy late today, O'Ryan said:

"Having no alliances, direct or indirect, with the Tammany organization, and holding nothing but disgust for its methods of exploitation, including all the ramifications wherever they may lead, I felt obligated not to turn away from the proposed service without at least hearing and considering the views of responsible fusion committees and leaders.

"I therefore feel that I must await the result of the meeting tomorrow, and unless the unanimity of its action is convincing to me I shall decline."

Colby's name has been under consideration for some time. He has the backing of Samuel Seabury.

Fiorella LaGuardia, former member of Congress, also is still in the picture. He has been closely associated with Seabury in precampaign activities, but has been opposed by conservative Republicans.

Hog Cholera Spreads In Parts of Iowa

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 2 (AP).—With many animals dying of an especially virulent and fatal type of the disease, hog cholera outbreaks in Iowa are becoming the most serious in several years, Director Charles D. Reed of the State Weather and Crop Bureau declared today.

Infection was reported in more than 350 herds, mostly on farms in the northern and eastern counties of the State. The outbreaks are dotted over such a wide area that widespread infection might suddenly result, he declared.

'Mikado' Given For 5,000 at Sylvan Theater

Principals and Chorus in Wentworth Opera Group Praised.

"The Mikado" and his cohorts trod for the first time the grassy stage of the Sylvan Theater last evening as the Estelle Wentworth Opera Group presented the ageless operetta of Gilbert and Sullivan before more than 5,000 loudly applauding devotees of the Community Center Department's summer music festivals.

Benefiting by the performances of the operetta last winter, Miss Wentworth's group, principals and chorus as well, gave their best rendition of the saga of Titipu, fabricated by William S. Gilbert and musicalized by Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Standing in sharp contrast to the rest of the cast was Ira Meyer, who, in his usual manner, burlesqued the role of Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner. He, with Alma Harris, as Yum Yum, and Raymond Baine, as Nanki-Poo, climaxed an evening of consistently well-sung numbers with "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring," for which encore after encore was called—and given.

Hayes' Role Stands Out.

The role of Katisha, she with the "caricature of a face," was excellently sung by Helen Mark. Stolid Poo-Bah was played by Elliott Button, making the "Lord High Everything Else" a positive delight. In the title role was Harry Crow, who made the pompous emperor quite the person the Mikado ought to be.

The principals also included George Hayes, Harry Yeide, as Pish-Tush, as a noble lord; Betty Galbraith, as Pitti-Sing, and Ella Neuland, as Peep-Bo.

Strikes New High.

Staged under the direction of Miss Wentworth, who also played the accompaniment on the Community Center's newly acquired piano (a great improvement over the old one), and with lighting effects in the capable hands of Harold Snyder, the performance of "The Mikado" strikes a new high in alfresco entertainment in a summer's series studded with meritorious offerings.

Members of the chorus included Mary Bruton, Lucy Chaconas, Margarite Drissel, Ruth Edwards, Peggy Fear, Ann Martha Galbraith, Edith Hamacher, Margaret Horn, Germaine Johnson, Mary Kelly, Eleanor Neuland, Margaret Phillips, Mildred Sherman, Margaret Vogt, Kathryn Waltz, Irene White, Laura Williams, Anne Wilson, James Bussey, John Dulin, Robert Gardner, George Hayes, Carl Horn, Edwin Ludwig, James Peat, Clyde Phillips, Vincent Pisciotta, Saverio Pisciotta, Ralph Shoemaker, Richard Smith, Harry Stafford, Joseph Stapleton, Thomas Zepp.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock the postponed concert of the United States Navy Band, Lieut. Charles Benter conducting, with Clara Moran Bernheimer as guest soloist, will be presented.

Damages Sought In Death by Heat

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court has been asked to decide whether death from heat on golf links is accidental. An answer is expected this fall.

Thomas L. Landress, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, had life insurance policies in two companies, one for $10,000 and the other for $5,000. Both contained double indemnity provisions rendering the companies liable for twice the amount of the policy in the event of death from accident.

While playing golf on August 5, 1930, Landress was overcome by heat and died a few hours later. His widow brought suit against the companies when they paid the straight life insurance and refused to pay the double indemnity.

The Federal District Court of Chattanooga sustained the insurance companies, holding death from heat under such circumstances, is not due to accident. Its decision was affirmed by the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Disabled Steamer Towed to Detroit

250 Passengers Aboard as Cracked Shaft Cripples Craft.

Detroit, Aug. 2 (AP).—The passenger steamer Greater Buffalo, with more than 250 persons aboard, which left for the East yesterday afternoon, was towed back to Detroit today after becoming disabled in Lake Erie. The vessel had completed about half its run to Buffalo when a crack was discovered in the shaft of the starboard paddle wheel at 12:15 a. m. today.

An hour later, after drifting with the current, the liner was taken in tow by her sistership, the Greater Detroit on her westbound trip from Buffalo to Detroit. The disabled ship was towed by the Greater Detroit to the mouth of the Detroit River, where tugs took over the tow.

Beatty Thrills Circus Crowd With His "Cats"

William Blackburn, Zoo's Head Keeper, Amazed at Youth's Daring.

By John J. Daly.

Elephants waltzing—one hundred tons of 'em—and the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus is under way.

To escape the cares of the National Recovery act Government officials go to the circus grounds, along with the common crowd.

Clyde Beatty, 28, world-famed animal trainer, is about to step in a mammoth cage with 33 "cats"—about a dozen tigers and 21 lions and lionesses.

Center of Attraction.

That cage is the center of attraction from the beginning of the performance until Beatty, throwing his whip and gun and kitchen chair aside, steps out to "take the plaudits" of the crowd.

In a ringside seat, watching Beatty is the oldest animal trainer in the world—William Blackburn, head keeper at the National Zoological Park here.

Half a century ago Blackburn was making lions lie down and roll over. It was Blackburn who startled the late Queen Victoria with his uncanny art.

While an enraptured crowd sent applause after young Beatty, the 76-year-old Blackburn raced around to the dressing tents and took Beatty by the hand.

"Boy, you're good," he said. "Now, come to the Zoo and I'll show you a real performance."

So, while spectators sat enthralled watching an animal show, Beatty and Blackburn went out to the Zoo. A gallery followed the two showmen.

Supper for Entertainers.

Beatty did his stuff last night as never before. Most of the senators remaining in Washington were at the circus—along with members of the President's Recovery Administration.

Two of the cats were fighty, snarling. Beatty blazed away with his gun. They cowed down. From his high perch in the center of the cage, Nero looked down—Nero, the finest specimen of North African lion in captivity—the black-maned type. He watched a tiger stalk Beatty. Nero was satisfied as the tiger, from sheer force of the trainer's personality, slunk back on a pedestal.

With a chair in his left hand, a whip in his right, and a pistol on his thigh, this man puts on a show guaranteed to thrill.

Rides In Elephant's Mouth.

Yet there is more to the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus than Beatty. You see, Mr. "Cheerful" Gardner, trainer of dancing elephants takes a ride around the arena in an elephant's mouth. Then, trained seals and clowns, and more clowns, and aerialists, and the Riding Hannaford Family—with "Poodles" Hannaford, the greatest acrobatic comedy rider the circus ever developed.

Rudy Rudynoff has his trained horses—and so, too, Dewey Butler and Gordon Orton. There is the famous Billetti troupe, daring aerialists, who perform at dizzy heights. Then, the midair marvels of gymnastics, the famous Hills and the Clarkonians, known to circus lovers the world over.

Lions and Tigers Are Their Meat

Circus Folk Crowd to Zoo For Recreation in Time Off

Like Hiking Postman, They Seize Chance to See Animals.

Circus fever spread across town to the Zoo yesterday.

Dr. William M. Mann, director of Zoological Park and a rabid fan of the big top, held open house for several featured performers in the show. After two hours' inspection, the party repaired to the circus grounds in time for the opening performance.

There was Bombayo, the Hindu mite, who does a double somersault on a bounding rope. And his Italian wife, Philomena, who proudly exhibited a locket picture of their month-old baby boy who is in New York, while they are on the road.

Bombayo, otherwise Mr. N. P. Kannen, met Philomena last year when the Ringling-Barnum show played San Antonia, Tex. He spoke only his Indian tongue and she knew Italian exclusively. But sufficient intercommunication was exchanged to get the idea across and they were married.

It was a double ceremony. The other principals were Alfredo Codona, famous aerialist, and the circus star who succeeded the late Lillian Leitzel as Mrs. Codona.

Bombayo joined Ringling Brothers' troupe when he came to America, a couple of years ago and this is his first season with Hagenback. He is under 5 feet and weighs less than 100 pounds. His wife has a sister in the show.

Emmett L. Kelly, the clown in tramp regalia who makes his entrance with a bullfrog on his head, was fascinated by the king cobra. He has two ambitions—to do a daily newspaper cartoon and to be an airplane pilot. He was in an obscure circus playing Chillicothe, Ohio, when Clyde Beatty joined up. The now famous lion and tiger tamer was put to work as utility man around the animal cages.

Dr. James G. Cumming, lanky member of the District Health Department, Elaine Cheverlange, Hollywood dancer, and her mother; Mrs. Mann, William H. Blackburn, head keeper, who was a lion tamer long before Clyde Beatty was born, also were in the party.

Highlights of the visit were Dr. Mann's stroking the face and back of the bottle-reared lion; a shower of water from the trunk of the African elephant, apparently provoked at so much attention, and a sparrow-catching act by the crowned eagle which hooked the hapless bird in its beak just as the group walked up to the cage.

Chicago Fair Total Reaches 7,000,000

Number at Philadelphia Exhibit Has Already Been Exceeded.

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP).—Oklahoma, Ireland and Culver Military Academy celebrated their particular days at the World's Fair as the 7,000,000th visitor went through an exposition gate today.

The Century of Progress Exposition now has passed the total for Philadelphia Sesquicentennial, but needs yet to overtake the aggregates of the St. Louis, San Francisco and Columbian Expositions to set a new high attendance mark for American world's fairs.

Led by the Culver Black Horse Troop, six companies of students from the Indiana military school passed in review before Army, Navy and fair officials in celebrating their day.

D. J. McGarth, Irish Free State consul, gave the principal address in connection with Ireland's Fair Day program.

Oklahomans to the number of 300 participated in the Sooner State's Day events and concluded them with a group tour of the grounds in the evening.

Joint Move Asked On Nazi Methods

France Wants Other Nation to Aid in Curbing Hitlerites.

Paris, Aug. 2 (AP).—The possibility of "concerted action" to prevent recurrence of such incidents as the recent Nazi attacks on Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria by tracts dropped from airplanes is under discussion at the French foreign office and in various European countries.

The French foreign office, which expressed concern over Austro-German tension, has drawn the attention of other governments to "the gravity and danger" of such incidents and has exchanged views with them upon means of avoiding their repetition.

It was announced today that Ambassador Francois-Poncet made a protest yesterday at Berlin against the recent kidnaping of three French citizens who were taken from the Saar territory into Germany.

Cruise for Sea Scouts Seems To Be Assured

Boat Edith Marcy Ready; Only Few More for Crew Needed.

A Sea Scout cruise this summer aboard the Edith Marcy, Capt. Jack Bryant's speedy bugeye, seems assured, according to Bob Meyers, Scout director, who registered several at a rally at the old Engineer Wharf last night. Meyers feels that with a few more Scouts expected to sign soon, the trip will be possible. The date has not been set.

Capt. Bryant has put the Edith Marcy at the service of the Sea Scouts for the summer, to take the place of the Argo, the boat used previously. The Edith Marcy's light draft makes it more serviceable for the shallow channels the Scouts use.

"We are going places," announced Commander Jonas H. Ingram, U. S. N., former Naval Academy football coach, who is the new Sea Scout commodore. "The District of Columbia Sea Scouts ought to be the best organization of any in the country. This is the Capital City, and besides, the waters around here afford you splendid opportunities."

Thomas Keane, national director of the Sea Scouts of America; Maj. Roy Seymour, Region 3 executive, and Col. Edmond Sayer, chairman of the executive committee of the Washington Sea Scouts, also spoke from the deck of the Edith Marcy to the Scouts on the wharf.

About 35 Scouts attended.

Iowa Plans Shift To Cattle Raising

Proposes to Use Barren Land and Cut Hog, Corn Output.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 2 (AP).—Lieut. Gov. N. G. Kraschel today outlined a plan to turn unproductive Iowa farm land into grazing ranges for cattle, thereby hoping to cut the margin of overproduction of corn and hogs and in turn force up prices for those products.

The plan calls first for the purchase, with State or Federal funds, of scattered sections of southern Iowa land with a low producing average or menaced by erosion.

The lieutenant governor dispatched letters tonight to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of the Interior Ickes and public works officials, asking their support of the experiment.

2 Hurt in Riot As Nazis Visit Buenos Aires

34 Jailed After Clash; Strikes Threatened as Protest.

Buenos Aires, Aug. 2 (AP).—The arrival here today of a group of German war veterans on a pleasure trip was the occasion for street disorders in which two persons were wounded when Argentine Facists and Antifacists exchanged shots. The visitors were Nazis.

Twenty-seven Antifacist workmen and seven Fascists were arrested.

The Argentine Federation of Labor continued until tomorrow at 6 a. m. its strike declared in protest against the visit of the veterans which was alleged to be for purposes of Nazi propaganda.

Taxicabs, port workers and some omnibuses were idle today as the result of the strike, but university students who joined it yesterday returned to classes today.

WOODEN bridges, though now somewhat outmoded by the more modern structures of steel and concrete, still play an important part in railroad and highway transportation. Strange as it seems, the longest bridge in the world, a bridge that is capable of carrying heavy trains 29 miles over the Great Salt Lake in Utah, is built entirely of wood. The bridge is built on embankments and wooden pilings driven into the lake bed. No other bridge in the world compares with the Salt Lake bridge for length.

One of the strangest tire punctures ever recorded came to light a year ago in Oakland, Calif., when a woman drove her car into John L. Payne's tire shop to have a flat repaired. Opening the casing Mr. Payne found that an ordinary wooden match had punctured a six-ply casing and the tube. The match, strange as it seems, was neither broken nor ignited when it punched through the tire.

Although plumb lines are considered to be parallel for construction purposes, they are parallel neither in fact nor in theory. All plumb lines point to a common spot—the center of the earth; hence they are not parallel. For lines not far apart the error is slight, increasing as the lines are separated until they are at right angles—as, for example, when one is at the North pole and the other on the equator.

Trouble Galore For a Sophomore!

New York, Aug. 2 (U.P.). The passenger aboard the French liner Champlain, returning from Havre today, with the best story for ship news reporters was B. Franklin Miles, a Princeton sophomore.

He was confined to the ship's brig when he failed to get ashore after a bon voyage party here July 15. In France he was confined in the French immigration jail until the Champlain left for her return voyage to the United States.

Then, as a fitting climax, he received a cable telling him his new and expensive automobile had been stolen from the pier when he boarded the boat to bid good-by to his friends.

He was the first one off the boat today.

Sheriffs Held Failure as Law Enforcing Aids

Professor Says Combination of Civil and Criminal Duties Wrong.

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Nation's police chiefs were told tonight by Dr. Augustus R. Hatton, of Northwestern University, that the sheriff as a law enforcement agent is a failure.

"As long as he is serving both as an officer of the court in civil matters and as a law enforcement agent the sheriff is of no use," Hatton said. "I don't think, however, we ought to get rid of him altogether," he added. Hatton, a professor of political economy, spoke before a meeting of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

He suggested reforms he believed should be made in crime fighting machinery. Some of them were:

Police and prosecutor should be responsible to the same head.

City police should be under a central State authority.

The National Guard should not be called to quell a local crisis.

The governor should have power to draft police from other cities to go to distressed communities.

Hatton explained that he did not advocate a State Police Force for cities, but thought that an appointive State official should have authority to inspect and advise municipal police.

"I consider the calling out of troops a thoroughly bad policy," he said. "Soliders are not trained to be policemen."

Lifting of Ban On Suspended Fliers Sought

Three Crack Airmen Here to Plead Case of Outlawed Fellows.

Three crack airmen flew to Washington yesterday to plead for more than two score aviators who are facing a three-year suspension from the National Aeronautical Association for participating in the Chicago World's Fair races early in July.

They are Johnny Livingston, of Aurora, Ill., who made a parachute jump from his disabled plane at Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday; Ben Griffin, of Oklahoma City, who flew to Russia with Jimmy Mattern last year, and Jack Wright, of Utica, N. Y. They are stopping at the Ambassador Hotel.

They will confer with former Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, today and N. A. A. officials, with a view to having the penalty abrogated. The penalty was imposed because the N. A. A. members took part in the exposition races instead of the N. A. A. races, held at the same time, at Los Angeles. The three visitors were among the participants.

Allocating Public Works.

Expenditures authorized under the public works program have passed the $1,000,000,000 mark. Nearly one-third of the immense sum appropriated by Congress for this purpose has been allotted to specific projects in the month and a half since the act was passed. If this rate of authorizing expenditures should be maintained, virtually the entire $3,300,000,000 would be allocated by November 1, but such hasty action appears to be improbable.

It is interesting to note how the first billion dollars of this fund will be spent. Most of it has been set aside for Federal projects. A considerable number of Federal projects are ready for work to begin immediately. State advisory boards are just being organized and they have not yet had an opportunity to study the many State projects for which funds are being sought.

More than half of the sum that has been allocated was already earmarked for specific purposes in the national recovery act. Included in this category is $400,000,000 for public roads. This is the only fund that has actually been released for expenditure. Other items specified in the act are $50,000,000 for highways and trails in national forests, parks and Indian reservations; $25,000,000 for subsistence homesteads, and $100,000,000 for the Agricultural Adjustment and Farm Credit Administrations.

The largest sums set aside by the Public Works Administration on its own initiative are $238,000,000 for naval construction; $50,000,000 to begin the Tennessee Valley project; $20,000,000 for the Civilian Conservation Corps; $20,000,000 for the purchase of land in connection with various projects to be carried out under this program; $63,000,000 for the Grand Coulee Dam in the Columbia River; $22,000,000 for the Caspar-Alcova irrigation project in Wyoming; $11,500,000 for the completion of flood control dams on the upper Mississippi River.

In addition to these allotments considerable sums have been designated for use by various Federal departments and bureaus. Among the most recent grants of this kind is $15,982,745 for the Forest Service and Department of Agriculture. It will be used for construction and repair work, improvement of public camping grounds, soil erosion, eradication of poisonous plants, fire prevention and control of white pine blister rust. The Geological Survey will obtain $2,500,000 for topographic and underground water surveys. An item of $2,600,000 will be used by the Coast and Geodetic Survey for mapping and surveys in a number of States.

Administrative expenses for the agencies fighting the depression are also taken out of this fund. In addition to the $100,000,000 earmarked by law for the farm relief agencies, the Public Works Administration has been allotted $100,000 and the National Recovery Administration $130,000.

Although the $3,300,000,000 was appropriated for emergency expenditures, it is apparent from a survey of the general items for which funds have been allocated that a considerable part of the first billion dollars will cover projects which formerly were classed as ordinary governmental expenses. Reclamation projects, funds for highways, naval construction and the innumerable activities of the departments have heretofore been financed out of the regular Federal budget.

Aid for Education.

A recurring demand that the Federal Government extend financial assistance to State schools is being heard. The latest discussion of the subject was heard at Teachers College, Columbia University, where an institute is being held on questions relating to the administration of public education. Dean William F. Russell urged that direct and immediate aid be extended to schools in every section of the country as part of the recovery program. He championed this course as justifiable under the general welfare clause of the Constitution.

Dr. George F. Zook, United States Commissioner of Education, took part in the discussion and expressed the conviction that the Federal Treasury will not extend direct aid to education at the present time. He criticized, furthermore, many educational administrations that had failed to enforce necessary economies as had been done in so many other lines. He took occasion to remind the institute that educators have been lax in taking advantage of the provisions of the Recovery Act under which States can secure funds for school building purposes and suggested that relieving their budgets of construction charges would be equivalent to increasing their allowances for salaries. The commissioner insisted that millions were being wasted by educational administrators, and warned that reorganization of inefficient systems must be effected as the only way to recapture the imagination and confidence of the people.

The Recovery Policy.

In the conferences between representatives of the Recovery Administration and the spokesmen of industries it is apparent that sincere efforts are being made to give effect to the new law in such manner as to avoid excessive governmental interference with the ordinary conduct of business. The Federal authorities appear to be concentrating their attention upon the adjustment of working hours and wages, in the hope that private management by good behavior and genuine co-operation will make it possible for the Government to refrain from entering further into the field of Federal control and management of industry.

Whether or not these efforts will result in development of a successful working policy remains to be seen, but it is of interest to note that there is an apparent desire to restrict the areas into which the Government will penetrate in its relations with industry.

The field now being explored is so vast and so complicated that thorough study and genuine desire to co-operate are obviously essential. Extreme views advanced for the purpose of taking short cuts to an uncertain ideal are out of place in dealing with this subject. The National Recovery authorities evidently are relying upon industrial leaders to assist them in working out a system which will leave large opportunities for private management in the new regime of co-operation between the Government and industry.

The Milk Controversy.

Judge James H. Wilkerson, of the Federal District Court in Chicago, is called upon to decide whether the agricultural adjustment act is constitutional. His decision, expected next week, will not be final, of course, since both parties to the action have indicated their intention of carrying the issue to the Supreme Court. But it will be extremely interesting to hear what the court has to say about this experimental farm measure.

In the meantime the situation which gave rise to this legal contest offers a formidable problem for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The milk code for the Chicago region became effective on August 1. It provides for a minimum retail price of 10 cents per quart for milk sold within a 75-mile radius of Chicago. All distributors in that area have been licensed and will be subject to revocation of their licenses if they fail to observe the provisions of the code. Heavy fines may be imposed on dealers engaging in the milk business without a license.

A group of independent milk distributors has refused to abide by the provisions of the code. It has 102 milk depots, chiefly in the outskirts of Chicago, from which milk is sold on a "cash and carry" basis for 6½ cents per quart. These dealers claim that they supply Chicago with one-fourth of its milk supply, and that the city would be short of milk if they were put out of business.

Service rendered by the independents is not comparable, it is claimed, to the service rendered by other milk dealers in the Chicago area. The regular dealers sell on credit and deliver milk to the doors of their customers, while the independents sell for cash and do not deliver their product. They contend that the code in question does not take this difference of service into consideration, and that compliance with the code would ruin their business.

The case illustrates the difficulties into which any agency is likely to run when it undertakes to prescribe prices for a commodity. Goods are sold along with widely differing degrees of service. Disparity and hardships may be expected when a single price is prescribed for all dealers under all conditions. The National Recovery Administration is trying to avoid difficulties of this kind by adapting its codes to varying conditions.

Judge Wilkerson remarked when the petition of the independent milk producers was submitted to him that a more effective procedure might be an appeal directly to Secretary Wallace. Regardless of what the courts may decide, it is reasonable to expect that regulations under the farm relief act will be adjusted to avoid undue hardships upon any group of producers.

Man and Machine.

One of the requirements laid down by the Public Works Administration for projects to be financed out of the $3,300,000,000 fund is that human labor instead of machinery be employed wherever practicable. There is nothing unusual about this policy. The chief purpose of the public works program is to create jobs and thus relieve the unemployed. Yet this reversion to hand labor is not without strange connotations.

The machine has liberated millions of men from toil. Human labor is needed less and less as machine production progresses. No one can truthfully deny the fact that machinery has been a great boon to the toilers of the world, yet in a period of distress they turn from it as the source of their difficulties. Workingmen do not wish to be relieved of toil if that means inadequate incomes or unemployment. So the machine is placed under a cloud of disparagement and men go back to work with their hands, doing jobs that might be more easily performed by electric energy, gasoline or steam power.

Indications are, however, that this tendency to revert to hand labor will be temporary. Intelligence rebels at the thought of burning up human energy when mechanical power is available. It is said that industry is much more highly mechanized now than at the beginning of the depression and that the 1929 level of production could be restored with fewer men than were employed during that year. In the present state of affairs that is discouraging news for workingmen. Yet it is a narrow view that clings to the assumption that labor-saving machinery will continue to be a detriment to the wage-earning class.

If it is true that the 1929 level of production might be attained with fewer workingmen than were then employed, the return of prosperity should bring a still higher level of production. No one can place a limit upon the demands of civilized peoples. The desire for comforts of life, novelties, beautiful surroundings—not to mention leisure—seems to be insatiable. The elemental problem is not one of competition between human hands and machinery but adjustments that will permit full use of mechanical devices in the service of mankind without upsetting the balance between supply and demand.

Chester S. Lord.

Chester S. Lord, famous among newspaper men for many years, is dead at the age of 83. As managing editor of the New York Sun from 1872 to 1913 he established a criterion of news gathering and news presentation which commanded the admiration of all members of the craft. He lived through strenuous times, made not less strenuous because of the strong individuality of the Sun's policy as directed by Charles A. Dana.

Mr. Lord's news instinct and his skill in developing talent combined to give the Sun under his management a unique reputation, both for accuracy and brilliance in reporting great events. When the Sun found itself outside the circle of the Associated Press it faced a most serious problem. Mr. Lord was compelled to organize an independent news service covering the national and international fields. He was extremely expert in gathering political news and election returns. On election night in 1884, when all other newspapers conceded the victory of James G. Blaine, Mr. Lord stuck to the figures he had gathered from his own staff, and announced that Mr. Cleveland had carried New York State and the election. His forecast gave New York to Cleveland by 1,206 votes, only 59 more than the official count.

In his personal relationships Mr. Lord was companionable, considerate, and generous in recognition of ability in others. He started many cub reporters on the way to success, notably "Eddie" Riggs, Frank Ward O'Malley, Samuel Hopkins Adams, the Irwin brothers, Frank M. O'Brien, Julian Ralph, Arthur Brisbane, David Graham Phillips, Carr V. Van Anda, Walter Prichard Eaton, and Lindsay Denison. Other remarkable men served with him and under him, all of them keenly appreciative of his great qualities as an editor.

Ten Words Most Misspelled.

From the New York Sun.

Miss Hake, who has examined papers prepared by a great many students in training for secretarial jobs, says that the ten words most frequently misspelled are:

procedure	occurrence
lose	supersede
benefited	all right
accommodate	principle
adviser	effect

The commonest errors incorporated in these words make them

proceedure	occurrance
loose	supercede
benefitted	alright
accomodate	principal
advisor	affect

In the United States Government Printing Office the endings "cede," "ceed" and "sede" have a paragraph to themselves; "supersede" bears the distinction of being the only word in the English language with the ending "sede." "Ceed" is terminal of only three—exceed, proceed and succeed. "Cede" has the majority. The "sede" of supersede means to sit; "ceed" and "cede" mean to go. The confusion caused by "sede" and "ceed" and "cede" shows itself in the alien "e" of "proceedure." The doubling of "t" in "benefitted" is typical of the trouble terminal consonants cause; the current single "p" in kidnaper irritates many readers. "Alright" is an ancient imitator of already. The mixing up of principal and principle, the errant "a" of "occurrance," the dropping of an "m" for accommodate, the "or" of advisor where "er" belongs are easily understood, though not to be condoned. The common writing of "loose" for lose and "affect" for effect are less easy of explanation. The pronunciations of the maltreated words do not account for the abuse to which they are subjected.

It is contended by Miss Hake that improvement in spelling "comes most quickly where there is great necessity—powerful stimuli—a heavy penalty, such as possible loss of employment." If all the poor spellers are to be added to the unemployed, the directors of relief committees will have a lively time.

FRESCOES OF ALTAMIRA.

It has recently been announced that serious downfalls of rock and earth had occurred in the prehistoric cave of Altamira, near Santander, Spain, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. The cave is celebrated for the polychrome paintings which date from the glacial epoch in Spain, and represent the apogee of the art of the prehistoric troglodytes.

The frescoes owe their splendid state of preservation to a catastrophe which took place before the end of the glacial epoch. It was then that a large part of the ceiling of the vestibule fell within the entrance and the rubbish blocked this in a manner so complete that no one could even suspect the existence of a subterranean cavern. It was only in the last century (in 1868) that the ancient entrance was found again.

On May 5 falls of rock which extended to a depth of 170 meters in the hill seriously menaced the paintings. Prof. Obermaier, the eminent Spanish archeologist, has recently visited the cave and reports that the fall of rock and earth was some distance from the "salle des peintures."

The downfall in no way interfered with the visit of inspection, and there is no danger of further risk to visitors. The paintings have in no way been affected or endangered.

The Old Remedies May Kill the Patient If He Has a New Disease

By Robert Quillen.

PEOPLE who knew Columbus probably failed to realize that they were privileged to watch important history in the making.

And the people of our day, with few exceptions, fail to realize that they are watching historical events no less important than the discovery of America.

They are watching the close of an era and the beginning of another—the ending of old ways and the start of an experiment that is like an explorer's journey into strange and unknown seas.

When the race was young and few in number, it was ruled, like other herds, by a chief who was wiser and stronger than the others.

That system of government, with modifications, endured for thousands of years.

A chief, a priest, a judge or a king was master through the ages, and his favorites were an upper class that shared the privilege of living without toil.

These ruled by virtue of superiority. They alone had wealth and the culture wealth buys. Tax money earned by the sweat of commoners preserved their advantages.

But with the invention of printing a new era dawned. Common men got knowledge from books and began to dream of liberty and equality. Their number gave them strength and their age-old hatred of tyranny inspired the plan of democracy.

It was a noble deam, but it was based on a false premise. Men aren't equal. The strong rule. And the free competition essential to democracy invited the strong to take what they could.

The inevitable result was a new kind of monarchy—a government within a government. Wealth became the measure of power, and the true rulers were the great bankers and great industrialists.

The money lords were tolerated while lesser men prospered. But their greed and folly at last wrecked the system they had built, and the resentful masses—jobless, hungry and desperate—demanded a new deal.

Now we have it. Call it what you will—a benevolent dictatorship or state socialism—it begins a new era.

The Government, acting for the people, is master. It controls industry, directs farm operations, fixes prices, limits production. The day of the money lords is ended.

Make no mistake about it. We are sailing uncharted seas. And woe to those who try to set their course by the old familiar charts.

Political Comment

Congressional Economy.

Detroit News.

Driven by President Roosevelt into devotion to strange gods, its strangest being Economy, Congress amended the law governing the retirement of Federal employees on part-pay allowances. Under this least of the offerings on the economy altar, Uncle Sam's workers can be retired after 30 years' service, regardless of age. Many of them complete 30 years before reaching the retirement ages which, in the various services, range from 62 to 70. Hence it is now within the powers of the Government to turn out of their jobs unwillingly a host of experienced workers, in their fifties.

Far more than a composed satisfaction is to be taken from the fact that, in the Postal Service at least, the new power will be carefully used. Only when 30-year eligibles themselves apply, or when they are unable to continue at work, will economies in substituting the retirement allowances for full pay be sought.

A Useful Bureau.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, a few months ago condemned by the administration at Washington, seems to have won a reprieve. When business executives, labor leaders, industrialists, trade association officers and others began to descend upon Washington, as the industrial recovery act went into effect, each wanting to know something about the new law, protesting, seeking guidance, or offering suggestions, the bureau handled the situation. It answered questions, helped the business men until an administrator was appointed and took charge. For the time being, the bureau was indispensable. Since then it has won considerable commendation and support from the business element, which now objects to losing its aid.

The Tax Circle.

Detroit Free Press.

One distressing thing about these high taxes is that when you pay them you have so little money left to spend at the stores and so help the business man to get together the wherewithal to pay his taxes.

Cash Going to Farmers.

Kansas City Times.

The new farm-aid system already has provided a large amount of cash to farmers and has authorized much more. Disbursed and authorized, the amount agregates $200,000,000, and many additional applications are pending. This money has been advanced in the form of loans.

In September the first process tax disbursement will be made, estimated at about $90,000,000. The loans have been very unevenly distributed, going largely to those States where distress has been greatest. The loans through the St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City and Wichita offices, for example, have been small compared to those made through San Antonio and Omaha.

Toward Bond Conversion.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"Among other things, Mr. Roosevelt wants a study made of converting a huge outstanding indebtedness of the United States to a lower interest basis."

This sentence, printed as the last paragraph of a recent Associated Press dispatch from Washington, is welcome news. It is the country's first intimation that the President desires a refunding of the national debt. Bond conversions, such as many of the most important countries have had, will make possible a sizable reduction in Federal expenditures. Voices have been raised for it in Congress, the most recent being that of Senator Bone, of Washington, one of the new deal members of the Upper House. How President Roosevelt felt about refunding has been a matter of conjecture up to now. This dispatch removes all doubt. He is for conversion, and he wants the office of Budget Director Douglas to find out how it can best be accomplished.

The Once Over.

By H. I. Phillips.

THE BLUE EAGLE PLEDGE.

I promise:

1. To support the code and cut the arguments.
2. To give the iron ear to the fellow who has all those reasons why it won't work.
3. To remember that we are in a war, and that if it was all right for the Government to ask a few million boys to give their lives to settle a disturbance in Europe it must be fairly reasonable to request a few million merchants to endure a little discomfort for the common good.
4. To bear in mind that, after all, this time Uncle Sam is not asking me to leave my home and my family and show a machine gun squad that I can take it.
5. To realize that patriotism is patriotism, even when there are no bugles.
6. To regard the Blue Eagle as a Blue Eagle and not as a Chisel-beaked Woodpecker.
7. To remember that I have an obligation to do something more than stick a picture of a bird in a front window.
8. To realize that the slogan is "We Do Our Part" and not "We Dupe Our Partner."
9. To develop a rousing hatred of trickery, chiseling and the old "run-around."
10. To have no time for the fellow who would rather obstruct a plan that might cost him a $500-a-year loss than to support a plan that would enable ten million people to eat regularly.
11. To stop talking about "interference with natural economic laws," "inevitable business cycles," etc., and to realize that nobody ever got a wrecked truck out of a ditch by citing precedents.
12. To remember that we were all demanding action—and that finally we got it.
13. To realize when in a critical mood toward Little Nira that nobody has suggested a better plan for quick action.
14. To be willing to take it on the nose for a year (if absolutely necessary) to cure a national headache.
15. To keep ever foremost in the mind, when talking about the sacrifice being asked of me, that, after all, I'm not asked to put on a uniform, go to France, dodge shrapnel, sleep in the mud and get what comfort I can out of the fact a girl named Nellie is knitting me a pair of socks.
16. To work more and talk less, always realizing that it is impossible to pull a drowning man out of a well by throwing him a plate of boloney.
17. To remember that the only difference between a slacker in this crisis and a slacker in the World War is that the slacker in the World War had more good reason for being scared stiff.
18. To remember that we were all shouting for "a President who would do something."

Letters to the Editor.

China Adopting Modern Advertising Practices, Says Traveler.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Fire-breathing dragons, hieroglyphed paper lanterns, "lucky date" calendars and all the old publicity paraphernalia of China are rapidly passing into oblivion and are being replaced by modern newspaper copy and most of the various "Western" methods of advertising.

Radio advertising is achieving some prominence in China, but the appeal is more to the foreign population, than to the Chinese. Billboards have already come into such general use in the larger cities that legislation is being considered to curtail them. Vernacular newspaper advertising space in China naturally can not be sold on the agate line or column inch basis, and is charged for at the rate of so much per square inch. C. P. T.

TREE HALL OF FAME.

The latest addition to the Hall of Fame for Trees which now numbers more than 300 of America's most famous trees, according to the Pathfinder, is the giant holly planted by Nellie Custis, adopted daughter of George Washington, only a few weeks before her death in 1846. The tree stands on the Custis estate at Audley, Va., 75 miles southwest of the Capital. Washington has six of these Hall of Fame trees within the city limits.

Just Folks.

Life Goes On.

Life goes on. No end appears
To its laughter and its tears.
Wise men die, but just as wise
Men tomorrow will arise.
All that is will still go on
After we who toil are gone.

Life unaltered keeps its pace;
There's a man for every place.
Every day sees death and birth,
Marriage, melody and mirth.
While the great sun lights the sky
Men will toil as you and I.

Rain and sunshine, joy and care,
All who come to earth will share.
What we've known of pain and woe
Those who follow us shall know;
And in gardens much like ours
Still will bloom the self-same flowers.

Men will wonder, just as we,
What beyond this earth can be
Never will the mind of man
Solve the Great Creator's plan.
Puzzle o'er it as they will,
Life will stay a mystery still.

Spirit of '76 To Be Sought In Crime Fight

Keenan Tells Flag Group "Days of Criminal Are Numbered."

Law-abiding citizens and public opinion will be marshaled in a ruthless war to stamp out crime in a program approved at a meeting yesterday of the steering committee of the National Council of '76 of the United State Flag Association.

The group, convening at 923 Fifteenth street northwest, is directed by former Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley. It plans to revive the militant spirit of the Revolution to fight crime.

Joseph B. Keenan, Special Assistant United States Attorney General, who is in charge of the Government's war on racketeers, stated at the meeting that "the criminal has overshot his mark and his days are numbered." He pledged the support of Government agencies in an anticrime campaign.

A program of meetings throughout the country and a series of radio broadcasts is planned.

Members of the anticrime committee are Senator Royal S. Copeland, A. Mitchell Palmer, Mrs. John Allan Dougherty, Mrs. Oliver Harriman, William Green, Representative James W. Wadsworth, Newbold Noyes, Grover A. Whalen and Col. James A. Moss.

Big Universities End Duplication

Chicago, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—Determined to bolster shrinking revenues, two of Chicago's universities—Northwestern and Chicago—announced today they have planned to remove educational duplication and eventually make this metropolis "the center of higher learning in America."

The new era of cooperation, designed primarily to "save some money," contemplates interchange of present facilities and elimination of overlapping of future development.

No specific first step in the educational "merger" has been decided, said the joint announcement by Presidents Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern and Robert M. Hutchins of Chicago. Both, however, praised the possibilities of the depression move.

Prussian Convicts Face Harder Life

New Law Bans 'Pampering' of Men and Women; Labor Increased.

Berlin, Aug. 2 (AP).—More rigorous treatment of prisoners, both men and women, in Prussia, was announced in a new law made public today.

The main provisions specified that a prisoner will be worked harder, especially in land reclamation and other manual labor, the proceeds of which will go to pay part of their keep. Good conduct privileges were made more difficult.

Hans Kerrl, Prussian cabinet member, explaining the law, said: "The time is past for jailbirds being treated to lectures, games and the cinema, making them better off than jobless or laborers. The only effective punishment is to make the offenders dread prison life."

Ordinary prisoners will be permitted to receive visitors only once in six weeks and those in the penitentiary once in three months.

Socony Oil Concern Signs Recovery Code

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Socony-Vacuum Corporation, with 34,000 employees, has signed the blanket code under the National Recovery plan. The Standard Oil Co. of New York, Inc., and the Vacuum Oil Co., Inc., leading subsidiaries of Socony-Vacuum, also signed the code, and this action is being followed by other subsidiaries throughout the country.

Hamm Kidnaping Causes 2 Arrests

Pair's Auto Linked by U. S. Agents to Abduction of Brewer.

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP).—George Wilkie, 39, and his wife, Stella, 25, were questioned by Federal authorities tonight investigating the abduction of William Hamm, jr., millionaire St. Paul brewer, for which four members of the Chicago Touhy gang are held in Milwaukee. The Wilkies were seized at their apartment and held incommunicado.

Mrs. Wilkie was questioned particularly about an automobile found in front of their place. Officials said the Wilkies owned the car, but that its license had been issued to Roy Marschalk, lieutenant for Roger Touhy, who also is sought. In the car was found a bed sheet and a large quantity of cotton batting.

Touhy and his companions are awaiting a removal hearing to St. Paul for trial.

Village Honors Calvin Coolidge

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 2 (AP).—This peaceful village, nestled in the bosom of Vermont's green hills, tonight commemorated one of the most important events in its history.

Ten years ago tonight, a President had died, and before another day had dawned, Plymouth's foremost son, Calvin Coolidge, acceded to his country's highest office.

In commemoration of the simple, historic ceremony, which took place in the Coolidge homestead, five thousands cachets, bearing the postmark: "3 a. m., August 3," were sent from the Plymouth postoffice.

The Federal Diary

By George D. Riley

APPROACHING absorption of the United States Shipping Board into Commerce, August 10, presents an interesting personnel study about which little has been said. We are assured by Malcolm Kerlin, Secretary Roper's administrative aid, that there will be no complications and that the whole thing will be done "according to law and the Executive order." Here are some questions presenting themselves:

1. What will be the status of employes now under Civil Service and employed in bureaus of Commerce which are to be involved in the U. S. Shipping Board absorption?

2. What, after absorption, will be the status of those employes of the Shipping Board who have no Civil Service status?

3. Are these latter, especially those who receive high salaries, to be placed over these employees of the older bureaus who have been and are now under Civil Service?

4. What will be the status of those commodity and other units of the Shipping Board activities which have been for years duplicating the work of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce?

5. Are the high-priced officials and division heads of the U. S. S. B. and Fleet Corporation (not a Government institution) to be blanketed under the Civil Service upon absorption with the Commerce Department, while at the same time approximately 250 employees who were on the Civil Service rolls in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce during the past week unblanketed from such status?

6. Are the numerous methods of duplication of many phases of the work both the Fleet Corporation and U. S. S. B. to be continued under the new absorption set-up while the original and basic units from which these phases of work for years have been operated in the older Bureau of Commerce?

7. Are the division heads and other officials of the U. S. S. B. and Fleet Corporation, some of whom during the past few weeks have been wearing out the corridors of the Senate and House Office Buildings with a view to retaining their present positions and be carried on in the new set-up, to be retained when specialists and experienced Civil Service employees have been and are now engaged in said work?

MERCHANT FLEET CORPORATION personnel here and in the field will not be affected, since the plans call for continuance of that corporate body.

Mr. Roper said yesterday that a committee — Assistant Secretaries Dickinson and Thorp, Mr. Kerlin, Solcitor O'Hara and Dr. M. W. W. Splawn—will handle all details. To all inquiries, Mr. Roper assured us the committee has full charge.

The chief personnel officer, U. S. S. B., receives $4,800. Commerce's personnel chief receives only $4,600, less the modern-day reductions. Yet we are to understand the U. S. S. B. organization will function just as it has.

The research director, U. S. S. B., receives $8,000. The corresponding job in Navigation, Commerce, is far lower. The work is practically the same. Indeed, assistant directors of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection receive considerably less than the U. S. S. B. research director.

Statement that the absorbed boards will continue just as they have is at variance with a Journal of Commerce story to the effect that all personnel of U. S. S. B. with absorption of the board will go off the rolls and those employees to be retained will be reemployed by the departmental bureau.

John H. Miller, the brother who lives here, ran away from home at the age of 18 and enlisted in the Union Army January 11, 1864, in Buffalo, N. Y. He was assigned to Company H, Second New York Mounted Rifles, U. S. V. His company received the honor flag, having participated in 32 engagements. Mr. Miller is still very active and assists his daughter in managing the candy business. He has never worn glasses and his eyesight is still good at the age of 88 years. On July 12 he attended a birthday party in his honor at the home of his brother in Warren, Pa.

In reply as to whether he has followed any special rule for living, he said:

Hell, no; I have done everything but lose my religion; attended to my own business and gone to bed with a clear conscience.

Mr. Miller resides with his daughter, Mrs. Ella G. Doran, who, before her marriage to James Doran, was employed in the folding room of the Government Printing Office. His son, George W. Miller, is with the Washington Star.

My sister in Washington sent me a copy of the Sunday, July 16, Washington Post with a nice article about the life and death of my brother, George Jackson Stewart, written by a friend of his in your column.

The gentleman who wrote the article must have been well acquainted with my brother and a very true friend. I consider it very thoughtful of him to write such a fine, true article, and would appreciate it if you would investigate and send me his name and address, as I would like to write him a letter and thank him for his thoughtfulness. I believe that a man should be encouraged for his thoughtfulness these days, as it is what so many of us lack. (Signed) J. R. Stewart.

The above-mentioned article was written by G. A. O. Poet, who will be duly notified.

Open Inquiry to Dr. W. W. Stockberger, Director of Personnel and Business Administration, Department of Agriculture.

HOW is it, in the application of section 213 of the economy law, relative to marriage dismissals, attack is made in instances on lower-grade employees—for instance, grade 4, and under—when the higher grade incumbents of marital status are permitted to remain undisturbed? The law is not discriminatory as to grade.

In the common acceptance of equity and its unprejudiced application, it would appear that the most able to bear the penalization should be the first disturbed, and the least able to sustain the shock permitted to stay on the job until the final emergency.

After all, it may be just a matter of personal opinion or administrative judgment, in which the human equation warrants no place. The question is raised, however, for whatever value it may merit. On its face, the practice appears to savor unmistakably of distinct injustice.

Sincerely yours,

George D. Riley

New Apparatus In City Creates Lightning Bolt

Machine, Used to Test Shop Equipment, to Be Demonstrated.

Packing a wallop equal to Thor's mighty hammer, a man-made lightning machine trailed into town yesterday behind a rubber-tired truck.

The electric demon will be drawn slowly through Washington streets today and at 1:30 p. m. will shoot forth withering flames in a demonstration at the Potomac Electric Co. supply yard at Tenth and W streets northwest.

However, the contraption is harnessed and controlled by the intelligence of Westinghouse electrical engineers, and will be used only to demonstrate the ability of certain electrical equipment to withstand tremendous energy charges. No one will be struck.

Just to get technical, the artificial lightning bolt is created by the machine with a surge generator and an energized 2,300-volt distribution circuit, but the charge is passed off without harm by a surge-proof distribution transformer.

Kidnaping Bill Of Lehman Is Hit

New York Legislature Believes Public Would Not Support Plan.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP).—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman's kidnaping bill, making it a felony to negotiate with kidnapers for the return of their victim or to pay ransom money, was virtually rejected by his own Democratic party in the Legislature today on the ground that such a law would not meet with public support.

Senator Elmer F. Quinn, New York lawyer and chairman of the codes committee considering the measure, had a long conference with the executive and told him the Legislature would not approve the bill in its present form.

Gov. Lehman urged the Legislature in a special message Monday night to pass a law to prevent contacts between kidnapers and friends of their victims.

First Infantry Parades Today Before Ritchie

Governor to Give Service Medals to Many; Officer Thrown.

By Staff Correspondent.

Camp Albert C. Ritchie, Cascade, Md., Aug. 2.—All the thrills of a Wild West rodeo were provided today for members of the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, in camp here, in maneuvers during which Capt. Bradford Massey, Medical Detachment, was thrown from his horse.

The mishap occurred when Lieut. Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, executive officer, had the officers jump their horses three at a time over the barrier. As the trio which included Capt. Massey, who is County Health Officer at Pocomoke City, Md., crossed the bar, the captain's horse was jostled and the captain was thrown.

Several Chase Runaway.

The horse then bolted across the parade ground with two orderlies after him. Col. Woodcock joined the chase and the four flying horses offered real excitement to the members of the Third Battalion undergoing field training nearby. The horse was captured and a bit of liniment took care of Capt. Massey's minor scratches. The captain said he hadn't had so much fun since he soldiered in Siberia.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, tomorrow will review the Fighting First as it parades in full panoply of war. The governor will present medals for service to 23 members of the regiment with service records from 10 to 20 years.

First Lieut. Lewis V. Kreh, of Silver Spring, Md., regimental supply officer, will be awarded the 20-year bar, and First Lieut. Hugh Elderdice, Company H, of Westminster, will receive the 5-year bar.

Many Served 10 Years.

Ten-year medals will be presented to Capt. George R. Deininger, Adjutant General's Department; Capt. Joseph P. Franklin, Medical Corps; Capt. Julian B. Anderson, of Laurel; First Lieut. Darcy B. Evans, resigned; Second Lieut. Thomas F. Murphy, Laurel; First Sergts. Charles E. Anthony, Company K, and Charles H. Hayes, Company F; Staff Sergt. Roger R. Vincent, Headquarters Company, Third Battalion; Sergt. Preston G. Goffman, Company H; Arthur P. Shanklin, Company F; Sergt. Jesse J. Packer, Headquarters Company, Third Battalion; Joseph W. Willard, Headquarters Company, Third Battalion; Walter R. A. Brecht, Company A; Earl R. Smith, Company L; Master Sergt. Joseph W. Saunders, and Logan J. Purcell, both Service Company; Second Lieut. Herbert G. Mathias, of Westminster; Corpls. David O. Petry, Company H, and Paul L. Redden, Headquarters Company, First Battalion; Private (first class) Roger S. Eyler, band scetion, and Private Robert L. Gessford, Company B.

The governor then will present silver loving cups to the commanding officers of the Service Company, of Silver Spring, and Company B, of Hagerstown. The Service Company had the highest rating of the Maryland National Guard Federal armory inspection, and the Hagerstown unit had the highest average of attendance at armory drills.

Following the exercises of Governor's Day, which will end with a parade and retreat at 5 p. m., the regiment will roll packs and leave camp for an overnight maneuver terminating in an "attack" at dawn on the town of Ringgold.

Nash Widow Freed On Murder Charge

Released on Bond as U. S. Agents Reduce Count to Conspiracy.

Kansas City, Aug. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Frank Nash, widow of the Federal prisoner slain with four officers June 17 in a battle at Union Station Plaza, was released today on $2,500 bond for appearance August 14 at a hearing on a charge of conspiring to obstruct justice.

Her release came after Federal authorities requested that the State drop first-degree murder charges filed against Mrs. Nash. Murder charges against Herb Farmer, former Joplin convict, and his wife, were left standing, and they remained in jail.

The action of Department of Justice agents was interpreted to indicate Mrs. Nash had furnished them with information they were seeking in the killings.

Suspect Confesses Killing Boy, Aged 7

Man, Held in Los Angeles, May Be Insane or Sensation Seeker.

Los Angeles, Aug. 2 (AP).—Joseph Taylor, chief of detectives, said today a suspect arrested here last night had confessed killing Dalbert Aposhian, 7-year-old boy whose mutilated body was found in San Diego Bay July 24.

Taylor said the man, rushed to San Diego early today, made a complete oral confession, but his name was withheld. The man, Taylor continued, also said he had slain another San Diego boy.

"This man actually may be the slayer or again he may be insane and telling his story because he had heard of the murder," Taylor pointed out. "There is also the possibility that he may be a sensation seeker."

Home Folk Greet Senator Robinson

Arkansas Leader Praises Roosevelt Drive on Unemployment.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 2 (AP).—Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic leader in the Senate, turned his homecoming address before a huge throng here tonight into one of praise for President Roosevelt's "Fearless and aggressive efforts to overcome unemployment, to revive hope and to quicken the spirit of the people into action."

The senator made a plea for public cooperation with the administration's program, and an alert public opinion "to condemn those who become parties to any form of fraud or extravagance."

Flanked on a bunting-bedecked platform by two colleagues, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, and Senator Robert Reynolds, of North Carolina, who came here to participate in the homecoming celebration, and by many Government officials and friends, Senator Robinson outlined to his audience of "home folks" how the last Congress had cooperated with the President in working out a program of aid for agriculture and industry.

California Kidnapers Hit Two Blows by Laws

Sacramento, Calif., Aug. 2 (AP).—Gov. James Rolph, jr., signed two bills today which are designed to make kidnaping unprofitable in California. One established a $10,000 State reward fund, the other provides the death penalty or life imprisonment without parole, at the discretion of juries. The new laws become effective 91 days after the adjournment date of the Legislature, July 26.

Treasury Files Own Answer to Park Bank Suit

Asks Court to Dismiss Plea of Depositors to Name Own Receiver.

The Treasury Department yesterday launched a counterattack upon a group of depositors of the closed Park Savings Bank who are seeking in the District Supreme Court to have a receiver for the bank appointed by the court and not by the Treasury.

The attack took the form of an answer in which the court was first asked to dismiss the depositors' suit, and, secondly, arguments were advanced to support the Treasury's action in supplanting the conservator with a receiver, John F. Moran.

The question brought up by the depositors, as to whether or not the bank was a bank inasmuch as its charter had expired in 1929, was passed up with the observation that in either event the Treasury was within its rights in seeking to administer the funds of the institution with men of its own choosing.

The main contention of the depositors' suit was that as the charter had expired, the bank had become a copartnership in which the directors and stockholders were personally liable for losses of more than $1,500,000. This loss was sustained through defalcations of Robert S. Stunz, former executive of the bank, who committed suicide in March.

The answer of the directors and stockholders to the depositors' suit has not yet been filed.

Barefoot Redskins Ask Permit to Wed

Chicago, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—Their bright costumes adorned with crimson-colored shawls and shiny beads, Pahihatchi (Long Grass) and Ichtchawi (Dipper of Water) walked barefooted into the county clerk's office today for a marriage license.

The conspicuous couple, residents of the Seminole Indian Village at the Century of Progress Exposition, will wed after a week of probation, during which the prospective bride and groom drink purifying medicine made of herbs.

Dipper of Water, whose American name is Camilia Billie, was born in the Florida Everglades. She is 18. Long Grass, also called Fran Huff, is 21. Their romance started when Dipper of Water saw Long Grass shooting deer. It culminated, she said, when he killed a snake about to strike her.

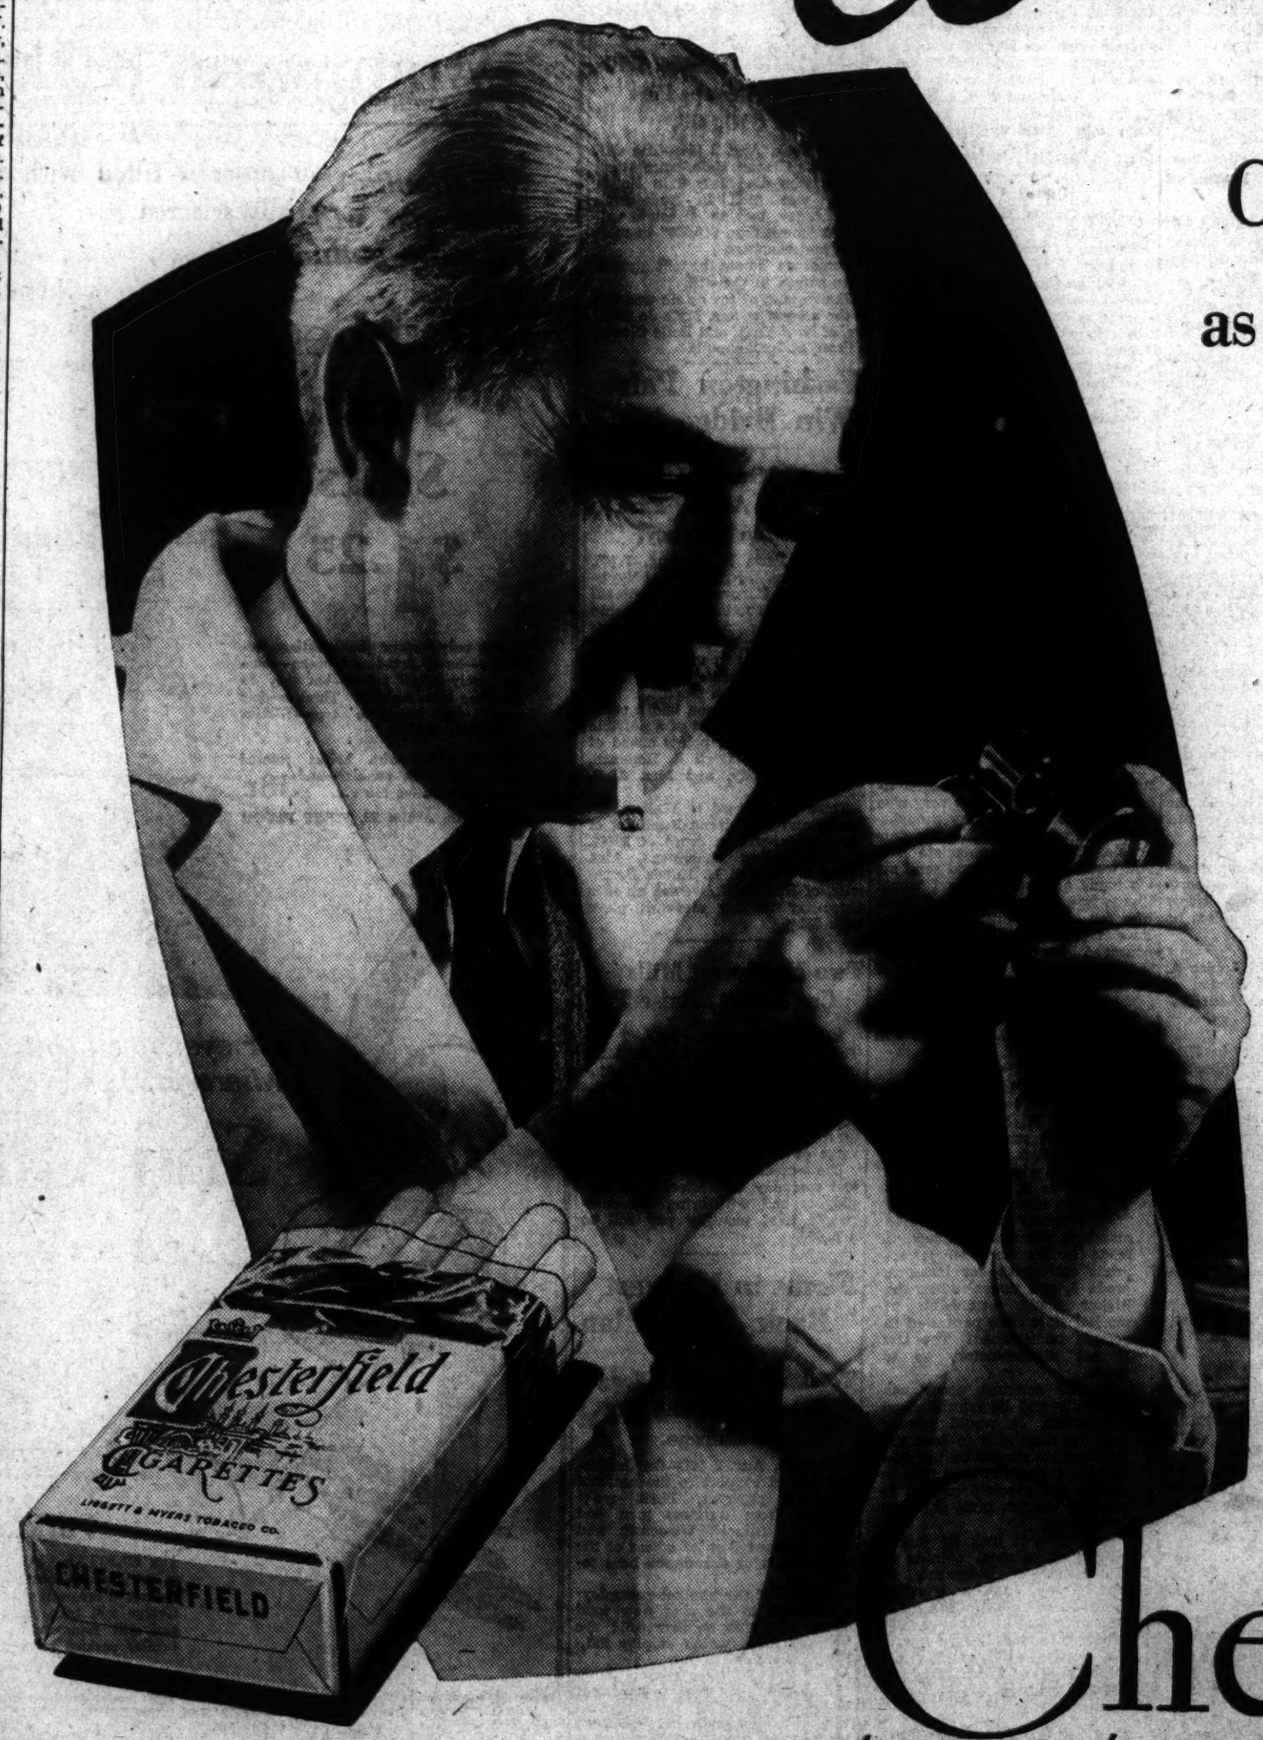
Why—



Chesterfields are as good as Science and Money can make them

Every pound of Domestic tobacco used in Chesterfield cigarettes is aged for thirty months —2½ years. Science knows there is no other way to make cigarette tobaccos mild and mellow.

Every process used in the manufacture of Chesterfield cigarettes is modern, scientific and clean—visitors are always impressed with the cleanliness of the Chesterfield factories.

Every ingredient, including the paper, is pure—nothing that you eat or drink is tested more carefully.

And Chesterfields are made right; the right length, the right diameter, and filled right—a detail perhaps, but if a cigarette is "to satisfy" it must be made right.

Everything about Chesterfield is as good as money can buy or Science knows about—you have our word for this.

And Chesterfields are milder and taste better —this much you can prove for yourself.

Retail Grocers Of Alexandria Agree on Code

Hours to Be 7 a. m. to 6 p. m.; Saturday Closing 2 Hours Later.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

By 20 to 19, retail grocers of Alexandria voted last night to maintain store hours from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m., except on Saturday, when hours would be from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m., these hours to apply from May 1 to October 1. From October 1 to April 30 the hours would be 8 to 6, and 8 to 8 on Saturdays.

Adjournment of the meeting was followed by a great amount of confusion, advocates of later closing hours claiming that one of their number voted erroneously, and that the motion for the earlier closing was actually lost. A majority, however, stated they would comply with the terms of the resolution, while others said they would refuse to be bound by it, and would appoint a committee to recommend action to a later meeting of the grocers.

The grocers present expressed themselves as being perfectly willing to abide by the general code, but a number of them claimed they could not properly serve their trade without opening very early and remaining open until late, since many of their customers left their homes for work before 7 o'clock in the morning, and did not return until after 6 in the evening.

Miss Perkins Halts Strike of Pilots

Conciliation Bureau of Labor Department Acts in Arbitration.

(Associated Press.)

Temporary settlement of a situation that threatened a strike of 150 pilots on three major air lines was announced yesterday by Secretary Frances Perkins.

The controversy, which affected a large part of the commercial aviation industry, was ended through the efforts of the department's conciliation bureau, at a meeting in New York with E. R. Breech, president of the North American Aviation Co., and 12 representatives of the Air Line Pilots Association.

"A truce was declared," said the department's announcement, "for 30 days, pending a thorough investigation as to wages by the company and the executive council of the pilots' association. Seniority rights were established and minor adjustments were made."

The pilots affected are employed on the Eastern Air Transport and Transcontinental and West Air Express lines.

Repeal Vote Snag Loses in Arizona

Judge Refuses Writ to Prevent Balloting Next Tuesday.

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 2 (AP).—Judge G. A. Rodgers, of the Maricopa County Superior Court, today dismissed a complaint brought by Charles R. Osburn, campaign manager of the Arizona Temperance Federation, for an injunction to prevent Arizona's voting next Tuesday on repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Osburn sought the injunction on the contention the act of the Legislature providing a method whereby Arizona may act on any proposed amendments to the Federal Constitution was "wholly null and void," and violates the United States Constitution and the general laws of Arizona.

Frnakfort, Ky., Aug. 2 (AP).—Gov. Ruby Laffoon reiterated this afternoon that he has not decided definitely whether to include the question of prohibition repeal in his call for a special session of the General Assembly for unemployment relief, about the middle of August.

Capt. Adolphus Staton, of the Navy, yesterday assumed duties as Assistant Director of Naval Intelligence succeeding Capt. Joseph V. Ogan. The latter is now en route to the Far East, where he will become chief of the staff of the commander in chief of the U. S. Asiatic fleet. Capt. Staton has been on duty in the office of the chief coordinator under the direction of the budget here since June 1932.

Capt. Staton was awarded the Navy Cross for distinguished service during the World War as executive officer of the U. S. S. Mount Vernon, a transport. He also was awarded the Congresional Medal of Honor "for distinguished conduct in battle" at the engagement of Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 22, 1914.

He was born in Tarboro, N. C., August 28, 1879, and went to the Naval Academy in 1898. He is a graduate of both the Army and the Naval War Colleges. In 1919 he served as executive officer of the Leviathan then doing transport duty.

Code Ancient

Civitans Told Babylonian King Devised One in Slump of 2100 B. C.

The secret is out about the "Brain Trust"! Its members apparently have only been reading their ancient history with a purpose.

In an address before the Washington Civitan Club yesterday, J. B. Frey, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, said that King Hammurabi, the great ruler of the Babylonians, proposed the adoption of a code for labor in a period of depression during his reign 4,000 years ago.

Mr. Frey expressed the opinion that unless the purchasing power of labor is increased, the value of the great wealth which has been produced will virtually disappear.

The Civitan Club entertained as guests the governor of the Chesapeake district, George Rullman, and C. M. B. Bassford, both of Annapolis, Md.

Fairfax Board Approves Plan Of $50,000 Jail

Favors Borrowing Money From U. S., and Willing to Have Referendum.

The Board of Supervisors of Fairfax County, Va., yesterday went on record for the construction of a new county jail to replace the present antiquated structure.

The new modern structure, having tool-proof steel cells, will cost $50,000. The entire money will be secured from the National Industrial Recovery fund, of which 30 per cent would be donated to the county, and only $35,000 to be repaid by the taxpayers over a period of years. It was estimated that the county tax rate will be increased only about 2 cents on the $100 property valuation to repay the loan.

The only question confronting the board is whether it has power to borrow the money from the Federal Government without holding an election and allowing the citizens to vote on the proposition. The board members stated they were willing to submit the question to a vote of the people if required under the State law.

Firemen Name Queen of Fete At Marlboro

Oxon Hill Winner Chooses Clara O'Donnell; Her Aids Also Picked.

Modern knights rode yesterday at the Marlboro Volunteer Firemen's day for the honor of crowning the lady of their choice as queen of the festivities.

The tournament for the professionals, which followed the amateur event, was won by John McConkey, of Oxon Hill. He was presented the "first leg" of The Washington Post Trophy. He will be required to win the trophy three years in succession before it can be permanently retained.

After being presented with the cup the winner named Miss Clara O'Donnell as his queen of the festivities. Miss Gladys Naeker was named with her as maid of honor.

After winning first place in the amateur class of the ring and lance event, Clagett named his sister, Syldine, as his queen of the occasion.

The maids of honor named by the amateurs included Miss Corrie Clagett, Mrs. William O. Somervell and Miss Marie Bean.

They were chosen by the other winners in the event. These were George Weems, second place; Thomas Weems, third; W. C. Somerville, fourth; Merrill Thorne, fifth, and Wilson Rawlings, sixth.

In an impressive formation the ceremonies were begun as the knights, accompanied by marshals and feminine aids, paraded to the judges stand to receive the charge from Senator McCarran, of Nevada.

Among the other notables at the event were Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore and State Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer. A grand ball was held in the evening with former Representative William Phillips Hill, of Baltimore, as speaker.

Home at Last

First Naval Commission Signed by Washington Is Located.

(Associated Press.)

The first commission issued by the first President of the United States to an officer afloat has been presented to the United States Coast Guard by Miss Mary Yeaton, of Germantown, Pa.

Bearing George Washington's signature, it went in 1791 to Hopley Yeaton, of New Hampshire, as master of a Coast Guard cutter.

The Coast Guard was the only armed marine force of the United States at that time, the Continental Navy having been disbanded.

The Coast Guard had been searching for years for the document when Miss Yeaton, a great-granddaughter of Capt. Yeaton, recently wrote the President inquiring whether the United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., would not be an appropriate home for the commission.

Large Peach Crop Hailed in Virginia

Best Output Since 1924 Reported as Rain Helps Fruit.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 2 (Spl.).—Virginia peach growers expect the finest crop this year since 1924, according to reports made here today. After a rain the past week, when the fruit was ripening, the estimate has been increased from 1,100 to 1,400 cars. The fruit has matured under ideal growing conditions. Trees are thrifty and well foliaged and the fruit is larger than usual.

Picking will not be well under way until the latter part of this week. Elbertas will be ready for marketing around August 8, and the peak will most likely be reached about August 18.

Dealers are optimistic since North Carolina will most likely be out of the way and the Illinois crop is reported late and short. Practically the entire crop will be marketed in bushels and half bushels, with very few crates.

Peery Rallies Party to Aid on Home Stretch

Primary Landslide Brings Democratic Forecast of Fall Victory.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 2 (AP).—With hopes high for victory in the November election, George C. Peery, the Democratic party's overwhelming choice for Governor of Virginia, today let it be known that now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party.

Peery, who snowed his opponents, Joseph T. Deal, of Norfolk, and W. Worth Smith, jr., of Louisa, under an avalanche of ballots, said he would ask them to join in the fight against the common foe—the Republicans—in November.

While belated returns from the outlying regions continued to swell his majority, Peery announced that after a brief rest at his Tazewell home he would call together party leaders to aid him in mapping his campaign.

With 1,423 of the State's 1,685 precincts reported, Peery had 100,129 votes; Deal, 29,357, and Smith, 28,241.

Democratic leaders said the sweeping victory assured an overwhelming triumph for Peery in his contest with Fred W. McWane, of Lynchburg, the Republican nominee.

Hearing on Coal Code Is Advanced

Strikes and Bloodshed in Pennsylvania Prompt Moving Up Date.

(Associated Press.)

After watching the spread of the coal field walk-out, the administration advanced the coal hearing from August 14 to August 9.

Of the eight codes the bituminous industry has submitted so far, the one representing the largest annual production contains a company union clause.

Wholesale Prices Decline Slightly

Farm Products' 5 Per Cent Drop in Past Week Leads Other Commodities.

(Associated Press.)

Wholesale prices for the week ended July 29 were said by the Bureau of Labor Statistics yesterday to have dropped about three-fourths of one per cent from the previous week.

"This decrease," said the bureau, "is due in the main to the decline in farm products, the index dropping from 62.7 to 59.6."

Index numbers are derived from price quotations of 784 commodities, weighted according to the importance of each commodity and based on average prices for the year 1926 as 100.

Foods also declined in price, the July 29 index being 66.1, compared with 66.5 the previous week.

A Magic Land?

(All rights protected by the George Matthew Adams Service. Trade Mark Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

By Mary Brook Lucas

After a year at school it's fun to get back to New York, seeing old friends—meeting new ones, going to interesting places! From outside the glass windows Judy watches one of her favorite radio orchestras in action. She is quite the stunning little person today in a white velveteen tunic coat.

From another broadcasting studio Mother watches her favorite comedians. What simple every-day articles produce the wild sound effects! Everything from a tooth-brush to an adding machine! Mother looks stunning in the eggshell satin dress with surplice front closing and scalloped collar. Her black accessories are Dame Fashion's newest whim.

Poplin is used for a pale blue coat and a darker frock another visitor wears. Hand blocked silk in a black and white pattern is fashioned into a jacket with round yoke and tucked sleeves. A clever top for those white crepe and silk knit dresses American women yearly demand for hot weather.

From one studio to another goes Judy, marveling at the electrical mechanism, the sound proof walls and floors and the perfect timing. This young lady sobbing her songs into the microphone is also pretty smart about clothes from the looks of her gray linen dress with the squared shoulders and single pocket.

Bedroom Suite From Local Store on Exhibit at Century of Progress

Cheery Charm And Gay Motif Please Diners

Splashing Fountain, Cool Garden and Plants Lend Atmosphere.

By Ann Davis.

You sense the atmosphere of cheer and well being as you enter the door. You are struck with the charm of an early American room, the cool of a lovely garden, rock plants growing from gray stone walls, the sprightly splash of a fountain. Whether you dine at the cafeteria on the first floor or the tea room on the second, whether you enjoy your repast from a small table in a mote-like inclosure, or in the upper garden, you are sure of prompt, courteous service and delicious food. If you are a guest from out of town, and wish a clean, comfortable and tastily appointed room, you may find it here.

Tell the time and the date by one glance at the electric calendar clock. No need to worry about winding or oiling. It's a guaranteed clock, never early, and never late, but always on the run. It was $12. Now it's $7.95.

If you have a summer place where there's neither gas nor electricity and you find yourself depending on an ice man who won't be depended on, you'll be interested in the oil-burning refrigerator. Its the ideal thing for your budget plan as it runs on 5 cents a day. Lovers of peace and quiet are particularly fond of it for its noiseless qualities.

You've bought your new traveling suit and you're all ready to go. But wait a minute. Don't forget the lace and net blouse. You'll need it and you'll find it'll be the handiest piece of apparel you have. You can tuck it away in the smallest corner of your suitcase, and never know its there until you hunt for it. You can wash it out overnight and iron it in a jiffy. And you can wear it morning, noon and afternoon, with complete assurance that you're the living picture of what the best-dressed women are wearing.

Beauty and practicality of modern design reach their zenith in the new "Century of Progress" bedroom suite now on display in a Washington store. It typifies the new trend in furniture design, setting a pace in style and value. The suite includes bed, dresser, vanity, chest, bed table, straight chair and vanity bench.

The bed is low, and square-cut. On either side of the headboard are electric lights, inclosed in an opal paneled compartment placed at a convenient height for reading. Beneath these are twin cupboards, each with a swinging door and handy shelf. The headboard panel is hinged with concealed hinges at the top, and may be raised to varying angles to suit your convenience. Electric light sockets are built into the bed.

The vanity is highly expressive of Art Moderne. The detachable right-hand side may be used as a commode or a night table. The left side has a plate glass top and compartment with aluminum sliding door.

The other pieces are in complete harmony with these, following out the modern idea of beauty and practicality combined. Seven-piece set, $189.

When it's too hot to do anything else, it's still cool enough to read. But reading has a way of being very disagreeable when the color of the binding comes off on your damp hands. Book covers are the answer. An F street store is showing some in tooled leather with designs from the old masters. Price, 50 cents.

Clicketty-click sounded the shopper's heels on the pavement as she hurried down F street. In and out of shops, in and out. No gazing into windows, no chatting here and there. She was on a shopping spree. Clicketty-click click click—her steps became slower. She stopped. She turned back. The lure of window displays! She peered through the plate glass at a group of silver Cellini-like figures. A youth with a tray of wine, one with a basket of fruit, another with a string of fish. Each detail of the figure was intricately cut and finished to the last degree. They were place-card holders, the most ornamental she had ever seen.

Aside from sleeping curled up in the refrigerator the only way to insure coolness these nights is to sleep in cool night-clothes. A downtown store offers an excellent suggestion. Lightweight batiste gowns! They come in pastel prints with old-fashioned bouquets and are daintily hand-scalloped around the neck and skirt. Price $1.

Marine lamps serve a hundred different needs. They are attractive as porch lamps, garden lamps, and add a special charm to the den. What could be more appropriate for the schoolboy's room? Or the upstairs landing? And wouldn't it be the very thing for that tavern room in the cellar? In green, crystal, and red, 89 cents.

Call Ann Davis, of the Woman's Department of The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 27, for further information. Or write, inclosing a stamped addressed envelope.

Snow-White-Haired Grandmother Hanneford "Mothers" New Generation in Circus Family That Started in England

A real circus family! Grandmother Hanneford sat in the shade under a red and yellow wagon and counted off her brood on her fingers.

"Let me see," she said. "There's Poodles and his wife and their little girl, Gracie. Then there's my daughter and her husband, and Ernie, their daughter. That makes how many?"

She checked them off again.

"But that's only six! Goodness, I forgot to count myself!"

Ernie, tall for her 11 years, and straight as a young Indian, came over and stood with her back to her grandmother. Mrs. Hanneford patted her lap in invitation, but Ernie made motions to the back of her green spangled costume. So the grande dame of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus interrupted her tabulation of the family to fasten the hooks on the gay outfit. And Ernie scampered off to ride in the tournament.

Know U. S. Well.

Mrs. Hanneford sat back in the deck chair and fanned herself. Her snowy hair curled damply around her forehead. She is the third generation of her family to follow the circus. Her grandparents and parents before her played under the big tops in England when America was a new Nation. Her children and her grandchildren know the United States from coast to coast. Each spring they leave winter quarters in Peru, Ind., and follow the spring across the continent.

Poodles, her son, has delighted circus-going children of all ages since the family came here from Australia over 20 years ago. Soon Ernie and Gracie will be full-fledged bareback riders carrying on the family tradition.

"Remember the time the woman wanted to see the dog act?" teased Poodles.

Mrs. Hanneford laughed.

"A woman once demanded her money back at the Winter Garden in New York," she said. "She insisted she had only gone in to see the show because she was so fond of dogs. She was furious because the dog act had been omitted.

"The cashier was sure there was no dog act billed. Finally, the woman snapped, 'You must have. The sign in front distinctly says that Poodles will appear with the Hanneford family!' "

Aunt Named Poodles.

Poodles got his name from an affectionate aunt who looked at him when he was eight days old.

"My lands," she exclaimed, "he looks exactly like a little poodle."

Poodles and the youngsters love to travel. Mrs. Hanneford has become so accustomed to it that she looks upon her train section as home. It is fitted up like a miniature apartment with all the feminine touches that might be expected in a country cottage.

"I'm so crazy about traveling," remarked Poodles, "that I have to get some one to rock my bed and throw cinders in my face when we're in winter quarters. Otherwise I can't sleep."

Ernie and Gracie reappeared, clad now in demure sport frocks.

"We're going to do our lessons under the trees today," said Gracie. "It will be cooler."

"You see," explained Ernie, "we have to study every day. We have a tutor and I'm in the seventh grade. Gracie's in the eighth, but she's a year older than me."

"We have to study four R's instead of three, reading, 'riting, 'rithmetic and riding."

"I'm going to be a bugologist when I grow up," she continued, scratching a mosquito bite reflectively. "I just decided today."

The elephants galumped by, tails linked to trunks. One of Clyde Beatty's lions roared. There was a tone in that roar that suggested considerable self-satisfaction. It may have been the weather. It probably reminded him of his native African veldt.

What's in Fashion?

Shorter Length Slick Sports Fur Coats Give Wearer Trim, Youthful Appearance

By Amos Parrish.

Many a brisk foot is halted these days by the sight of the new furs in shop windows. And many a woman who hadn't thought of it before is turning over the idea of having one of those slick sports fur coats. They look so youthful, so trim, so up-and-coming.

It's the newest for them to be foxy, and not full length. Seven-eighths, knee length and wrist length sports coats will be most seen this winter. Particularly, seven-eighths, a length that almost everybody can wear. With any of these, it's easy to make a smart ensemble by matching your hat to your skirt which shows beneath your coat.

Some Belted.

If a trim, small waist is your special pride, probably you'd want your coat belted with fur or with leather. Many of them are made so that they can be worn with or without belts.

If you want a full length coat, choose it in semifitted, half-way sports type, which can go so many places. Though, to be sure, all the shorter boxy coats, except that made-for-football, raccoon, are not too sporty for general wear.

You'll see sleek kids and ponies trotting to town and business. Muskrats and spotted leopards and ocelots taking the place of regular daytime coats.

Wide Shouldered.

All of them, if they're up on what the fashionable fur world is doing, have wide, high shoulders. Maybe it's done by a yoke, as you see in the sketch. Maybe it's just cutting and padding that broaden the shoulders. And maybe they're widened with those more individual details of epaulets, or fins, or caps. Sleeves swell out below these shoulders, or through the elbows, snugging in at the wrists.

The necks of these new sports coats wear tailored Ascot scarfs, high, upstanding collars, or rolled-over turtle-neck collars. And when you try them on a warm day, grit your teeth and button up these necks to be sure they fit high and snug as you'll want them next winter.

Tomorrow: New lisle sock patterns use color dramatically.

Greater Ability In Water Need Of Modern Girl

Present-Day Requirements Include Knowledge of Life Saving.

By Alice Clarissa Richmond.

There was a time when swimming was an extra frill on a boy's equipment for living, and not so long ago girls who could do more than paddle about the shore were an exception. Today every boy and girl must be able not only to swim but to learn life-saving and first aid in order to fulfill the requirements of modern life.

For teaching school children to swim every facility has been devised, and for the most part the parents are relieved of any responsibility. But a child can be taught much earlier with far less effort, and many a mother would be relieved of anxiety if she knew that even her toddlers could keep their heads above water until help came if they fell in.

On the seashore it is not easy to teach little children, for there they can paddle about in shallow water with no incentive to go beyond their depth. But nearly every community boasts of a pool or tank or possibly only a pond, and here it is easy to teach a child.

I can remember a lakeshore where every summer 14 children ranging from 2 to 12 swam daily, every child over its depth. The 2-year-olds wore water-wings, and were watched and counted frequently lest their wings slip off or grow deflated.

After a couple of years of paddling about these little ones would grow ambitious to jump and dive as the older children did. Little by little they were tempted, sometimes even bribed to try, a grown-up always ready to catch them as they sank.

Imperceptibly the grown-up increased his distance from the dock as the child jumped, and almost without noticing it the child one day found himself swimming. It was only a dog-paddle to be sure. But by the age of four every child in the group was swimming.

New York to D. C. Airline Most Used

System Carried Record Total of 8,961 During July.

More air passengers are carried between New York and Washington than between any other two cities in the world, according to figures released by Eastern Air Transport.

Passenger traffic is greater on Eastern Air than on any other line in the country, largely because of this unprecedented travel between New York and Washington. Every month since the first of the year, records have been broken.

A total of 8,961 passengers was carried last month on the whole system as compared with 3,505 for July last year. This is an average of 289 passengers a day. In the first six months of this year, 37,488 passengers were carried, an increase of 17,366 over the same period last year.

Song of the Wanderer.

By Katherine Smith.

Be it dreary December, August or June,
In the heat of the sun or the cool of the moon,
My heart will be wandering, singing a tune
Of a life that is free.

I tramp over hillocks of new fallen snow,
Or feel the swift spray, as a torrent below
The precipice rushes with turbulent flow
To the murmuring sea.

You will find me at noon where the clover is red
And the skylark is throbbing with song overhead,
Or at whispering dusk, when Night's mantle is spread
Over flower and tree,

I'll be wandering, wet by the rain and the dew,
Under skies that are cloudy, or skies that are blue,
And its' lovely, so lovely—oh, won't you come, too,
And wander with me?

Toys Keeping Up With Machine Age

The machine age has not yet entirely transformed children's toys, although electrical fixtures in Mary's doll house, and a microphone which can be attached to your radio, over which Willie can make himself heard a little louder than usual, are samples of latest novelties. Even dolls are now made of hard rubber, so no longer need an entire family be disrupted by the major catastrophe of a smashed china head.

According to Robert H. Greenwell, buyer of a large department store, most of our toys are now being manufactured in America except for the very small ones made by hand abroad.

As usual, the children are imitating their elders. In musical instruments, the saxophone, on a small scale, and the accordion are most popular. The airplane fad of three or four years ago is coming back, and better tools and materials are being sold to encourage it. Parents seem bent on keeping the children at home, and small sandboxes, trapezes and slides all help. The only new fixture for the sandbox is a roof that shades by day and slides down to cover the sand at night.

Dolls, that until recently had painted heads, are now developing long bobs, made of real hair. Tops still fascinate, but some now have the added attraction of changing color while they spin.

What Today Means

By Mary Blake.

"Leo."

IF August 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:45 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5:30 p. m. to 6:25 p. m. and from 8:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. and from 10:50 p. m. to 11:55 p. m.

Influences operating on this date will tend to bring about friendly feeling between people. People generally will mix harmoniously in large groups and individuals will be unusually kind, loving and understanding. Affairs of the heart will not run as smoothly as might be hoped for, and lovers must guard against jealous feelings of their own as well as the jealousies of others.

The child born on this August 3 will always have a come-back on hand for every situation. You will seldom find this little one complaining or at a loss for amusement. He will not enjoy things that will keep him quiet and in one place; he will always be on the jump and ever alert for some new sort of fun.

If August 3 is your birthday, it is not at all improbable that you like only the things of life that move rapidly. You think quickly, you act quickly and you enjoy people who respond quickly to the stimulating things of life. You are not one to devote hours, days or years of your life to working out this or that problem; you quickly lose patience and toss things aside if you have to puzzle over them. In business, you will enjoy anything that will not slow you down. You will probably not do badly in some line of selling. You would probably enjoy trial work as a lawyer, for there your many talents could have full play. You like to make public appearances and you speak well before large groups. You like to argue and you thrill at the thought of besting another in verbal combat.

Born on August 3, there is quite likely a very definite romantic streak in your nature. You are however, not constant in your affections, and you must take care not to marry hurriedly on impulse. Love of the right sort will bring much into your life and will bring you to have greater confidence in yourself; it will have a very steadying effect; for the added responsibilities will bring you down to earth. You will not be happy if you marry a demanding person or one who will slow you down too much.

Radio Dial Flashes

By Robert D. Heinl.

THE Radio Manufacturers Association have been assured that a decision will be reached by the National Recovery Administration on the association code, probably within a few days, Bond Geddes, executive vice president, said last night.

Negotiations between the N R A and the R M A are now well under way, the code having been submitted by Mr. Geddes last Saturday. When the Government reaches a decision, radio manufacturers throughout the country will be advised by telegraph.

Will Rogers and Fred Stone, lifelong friends who have substituted for each other on the stage and before the microphone, will give their first radio performance together on Sunday, August 13. (WMAL, 8 p. m.).

Music "plugging" over radio stations by American Society of Composers publishers is getting worse, according to Oswald F. Schuette of the National Association of Broadcasters.

"A report from a single New York studio for one week in July shows that 26 'representatives' of 21 publishing houses paid 62 visits to that studio in that single week," Mr. Schuette declared. "A far Western station reports 'plugging' letters from five companies in the same week. And yet the composers claim that radio 'murders' music!"

This refers to a pamphlet published by Gene Buck and E. C. Mills of the composers, entitled "The Murder of Music," in which radio is charged with being one of the murderers.

Miss Gale, of the National Broadcasting Co., and Miss Hall, of Columbia, heads of the program press departments of their respective organizations in Washington, have returned from well-earned vacations.

Miss Gale was at Virginia Beach and Miss Hall in Maryland.

AL JOLSON, a former resident of Four-and-a-half street, Washington, comes home again tonight through WRC at 9 o'clock. Al will be accompanied by another little fellow who also apparently has made good, Paul Whiteman.

Oddly enough, in his first great network series, Jolson wasn't good. He admitted this himself and gave "too much direction" as the reason. Subsequently, under his own direction, Al appeared on a try-out program with Whiteman. He was such a success that Paul quickly signed him for tonight's series.

Helen Morgan, sitting on top of the piano, will come piping in tonight from the Piping Rock Club at Saratoga (WRC, 10:30 o'clock).

THE Italian Ambassador will dedicate the Columbus Monument, gift of Italy to the City of Chicago, this afternoon at 1 o'clock (WEAF network, WRC possibly).

"Recovery and Recreation" is the topic of Senator William H. King, of Utah, tonight. (WJSV, 9:45.)

Walter Hampden in a scene from "Cyrano de Bergerac" will head Rudy Vallee's show tonight. (WRC, 7 o'clock.) Joe Penner, young comic, and Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, the tune detective, will show how "Jack and Jill" would be done by half a dozen of the leading composers.

A medley of Noel Coward tunes, with the Giersdorf Sisters and the International Quartette, with Rudy soloing in "Every Little Fish," concludes the bill.

THE Gypsy Chorus of Silver Spring, 27 voices under the direction of Robert Frederick Freund, will broadcast every Monday night over Station WMAL at 8 o'clock, beginning next week.

The chorus, which has been organized only this last summer, appears in full costume for all performances.

The National Capitol Cadet Band, organized by Charles Williams to give Washington children an opportunity to acquire practical training in progressive band and orchestra work, will be heard over WRC, beginning this week, every Saturday at 10:30 a. m.

AMONG those who will appear in the second Ray Perkins Parade tonight are Eddie and Ralph, the Sisters of the Skillet; Roy Smeck, the wizard of the strings; Nellie Revell, the grande dame of radio spoofing; the Rondoliers, male quartet heard on many outstanding NBC programs; Ray Heatherton, featured tenor; Georgia Brown, songbird de luxe; Leslie Joy, barytone, former light opera star and now an NBC program executive, and many others. Lou Katzman and his dance orchestra, 9 p. m., will keep the Radio Parade moving at a quick step. WJZ network, but probably not WMAL.

The importance of keeping a close watch on the health of children will be emphasized by Dr. Alfred E. Fischer, pediatrician of Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, in a talk on "The Prevention of Disease in Childhood." (WJSV, 10:45 a. m.)

Allen H. Hadley, of the National Audubon Societies, will deny the traditional story that hawks and owls prey on bird life, pointing out that only certain species are destructive and others are extremely helpful. (Women's Radio Review, WRC, 2:30 p. m.)

THE Man in the Moon has been glorified by song writers ever since it was discovered that he rhymed with June, spoon and soon—and now it turns out that the old fellow is merely a few bits of sun-baked lava and that part of the time his temperature is several hundred degrees below zero, which is no inspiration at all for romance.

This will be disclosed in layman's language by Dr. Robert H. Baker, astronomer of the Harvard Observatory, on "Stars of the Summer Night" (WMAL, 10:15 p. m.).

Dr. Frederick C. Howe will interview Miss Julia K. Jaffrey on the General Federation of Women's Club program (WMAL, 4 p. m.).

"The Rubber Dollar" sounds as if it might be stretched. Harold G. Sutton will tell you in the G. W. U. Forum (WMAL (7:30 p. m.). The Community Forum guest will be Dewey Zirkin, president of the Kiwanis Club (WMAL, 9 p. m.).

The best of the country's high school musicians will be heard through WMAL at 10:30 p. m. in a concert.

A radio version of Poe's "The Fall of the House of Usher" will be the Dramatic Guild production over WJSV at 7:30 p. m.

Hardy and Wife Reach Settlement on Alimony

Hollywood, Aug. 2 (AP).—Shortly before Screen Comedian Oliver Hardy and his wife were to have appeared in court today on Mrs. Hardy's petition for temporary alimony, attorneys said an amicable settlement on that point had been reached and that a property settlement also was being drawn.

Friends of the heavyweight actor said they thought there was a possibility of a reconciliation and that the couple's contested suit for divorce might be dropped. Mrs. Hardy's attorney, D. H. Cannon, said he had heard nothing of a reconciliation.

Power Company Balked By Consumer's Dogs

Los Angeles, Aug. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Beatrice Allen and the Southern California Edison Co. came to grips the other day on the question of moving the electric meter at her home from the back to the front of the house.

Mrs. Allen objected strenuously, and the matter was carried to the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, which split the difference on the cost, the nub of the contention. It was a little difficult for the company to act without Mrs. Allen's permission. She keeps police dogs in her back yard.

Walt Mason, Himself

The Righteous.

THE good man is a stranger to any thought of danger, to any futile dread; by day we see him tolling to keep the kettle boiling, at night he goes to bed. He gets his living cleanly and so he dwells serenely in pleasant Easy street; he never bilked or cheated, his neighbors he has treated as he would have them treat. The Golden Rule observing, with diligence unswerving, he has no vain regrets; he has the earnest feeling that square and honest dealing is best of all good bets. And so no fears assail him, no dismal phantoms trail him, and nothing spoils his sleep; his life is void of terrors, there are no fatal errors o'er which to brood and weep. The haunted evil-doer imagines some pursuer is ever on his trail; some sheriff, sleuth or copper, with motives most improper, would run him into jail. If there are steps behind him they serve but to remind him that doom is drawing near; his days are days of dodging, and in his dreary lodging his nights are nights of fear. He dreams about the hangman, he thinks some jealous gangman may put him on the spot; to peace he is a stranger, he walks knee-deep in danger, his soul with dread is shot.

New Yorker Today

By Mark Barron.

New York—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff:

Robert Montgomery, dropping in on Ethel Barrymore's party, excused himself by saying, "Sorry, I've got to run. But I'm an ambitious young actor trying to get a screen test." . . . There's Hazel Forbes running for a crosstown bus in Forty-fifth street . . . She's the blond "Follies" beauty who married a millionaire husband, who died only a few months later . . . Because her late husband requested it, she won't ever go back on the stage.

Well, Well, It's Mary!

Strolling toward Central Park, I bump into Robert Reud, novelist, and we end up at the St. Moritz roof for Mary Charles' welcome home celebration.

There's a riot of celebrities there, and all insist on performing, to wit or to woo: Fred Keating, who dropped his magic to become comedian; harmonica-playing Larry Adler; Emil Boreo, who once played the hind legs of a horse in Chauve Souris and now is a concert singer; Georgia Brown, Southern singing gal; "Prince" Michael Romanoff, just out of the bastile and now in the movies, and Baroness von Losen, who dances in a night club.

Eleanor Holm paces along a Long Island beach, muttering with something of a moue, probably because a squall is blowing up and she has to stop her backhand stroke practice. . . . Roland Young twirling a bamboo cane, hurries up Madison avenue toward the offices of his publisher. Besides being an actor, he scribbles rhymes and sketches pictures for children's books.

At that expensive sidewalk cafe just around the corner from Park avenue Violet Kemble-Cooper is having tea with S. N. Behrman . . . Seven years ago he was a mere press agent, and now he is a wealthy and famous dramatist.

What! No Orchids!

In that revue on a Hudson River showboat there is a chorus girl who seems faintly familiar, and then it is recalled that she was once one of Ziegfeld's most exploited beauties. . . . She quit the "Follies" to marry a wealthy man, and Ziegfeld gave her $500 in gold as a wedding present. . . . Now she is back dancing for $30 a week, and one wonders what happened.

Astounding is that slim, blond debutante, June Blossom. She gave up the luxurious whimsicalities of Park avenue to be a revue singer. Then she bobbed up as Clifton Webb's dancing partner, and next was seen as a ballroom dancer in a night club. Now, on the same day I discover she has turned dramatic actress in a Carmel stock company, and also has become an aviatrix.

Wheat's Jump Continued on Buying Rushes

Estimates of Scant Yield Per Acre Contribute to Price Rise.

Chicago, Aug. 2 (AP).—With United States grain yields this season unofficially estimated as the scantiest per acre ever known, higher prices for every kind of cereals formed the rule today.

Compared with 1930, the lowest previous year, the 1933 total domestic crop of grain was authoritatively calculated today as 3,748,000,000 bushels against 4,410,000,000, including wheat 488,000,000 bushels in 1933 and 726,000,000 in 1930. At no time today did prices of leading grains show any evidence of declining to bottom fixed levels which were made effective yesterday for a period of two weeks.

An outstanding feature was evening-up of speculative accounts in all the grain pits, especially closing of spreads between wheat and corn, with wheat being sold and corn bought.

Wheat Closes Firm.

Wheat closed firm, 2⅞ to 3¼ cents above yesterday's finish; corn, 2⅛ to 3⅜ up; oats, 1⅝ to 2⅛ advanced, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 12 cents.

For the first time in almost a week, grain traders today could do business in volume at other than maximum price limits up or down. In a new buying rush at the outset, all grain prices did hit the topmost permissible limits, 5 cents a bushel rise, but met with an outburst of flurried selling and temporarily reeled back 4 cents.

The initial jump here was based on reports of tremendous wheat crop losses and a critical supply and demand situation for North America. On the other hand, big selling on the price advance here was associated with the fact that Winnipeg quotations, which yesterday had risen faster than Chicago values, showed today a decided fall.

Active Trading Results.

Quick rallies of 2 cents in Chicago wheat prices were followed by active trading and rapid fluctuations the remainder of the day, with friends of higher prices emphasizing that establishment of Chicago minimum limits on quotations, irrevocable until August 15, gave holders of grain an immense tactical adavantage.

Much notice was also taken of adverse threshing returns from domestic spring wheat territory, some North Dakota points sending word of wheat netting but 3 to 9 bushels an acre. Renewal of currency expansion talk was a bullish factor as the day drew to an end.

Corn and oats derived strength from official announcement that with continued insufficient moisture over most of the corn producing sections of the country, crop conditions were becoming progressively unfavorable.

Provisions rose with hog values and with grains.

Trade Trends.

(Associated Press.)

Floor covering—The trade expects an advance in prices of hard-surface products with the opening of fall lines. Revisions in felt base products may be deferred, according to some interests, pending surveys to determine the probable breadth of dealer and retail buying.

Chemicals—It is reported that good shipments of alkali are moving into consuming channels, especially to the glass, rubber and paper trades.

Tin—The world's visible declined 1,921 tons during July to 38,043 tons, the sharpest decrease in several months.

Paints—Trade authorities believe much of the current demand is for immediate consumption, suggesting no tendency toward increased inventories in the hands of dealers.

Rubber—Malayan shipments for July were reported at 51,958 tons compared with 41,411 in June and 40,723 in July, 1932.

Cotton goods—Pending completion of the processing tax markets are virtually at a standstill. Prices on most coarse goods are quoted on a basis including the tax.

Bond Advance Is Led by Rails; Market Firm

Gains Recorded in Quieter Trading; Sales Drop to $9,397,000.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—Some secondary rails and scattered industrials led a late rally in the bond market today and prices generally finished with a fairly firm tone.

It was one of the dullest full sessions in several months, sales totaling only $9,397,000, par value, against yesterday's $10,748,000. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced two-tenths of a point.

The continued improvement in railway earnings and electric power output was a sustaining factor and better grade corporation issues were sentimentally aided by the hearty response to the Treasury's new bond offering. United States Government securities, however, were moderately irregular.

Among rail liens that recorded gains of fractions to 2 or more points were some of Alleghany Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian National, Central Pacific, St. Paul, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, N. Y. Central, Nickel Plate, Iron Mountain and Southern Pacific.

The more active utility and industrial gainers included some loans of Colon Oil, International Hydro-electric, International Telephone, McKesson, Paramount Publix, Postal Telegraph, Shell Pipe Line, Sinclair Oil and Warner Brothers. Bonds of Colorado Fuel & Iron and its subsidiary, Colorado Industrial, added some 5 more points to their previous losses following yesterday's interest default.

Foreign obligations were generally quiet and mixed. Swiss Governments rallied 5½ points and British 5½s came back 2⅝ in heavy trading German Young and Dawes plan issues recovered a point or more and some of the Brazilians were up more than 2. Argentine, Japanese and Italian bonds were heavy.

Stocks Again Capture Higher Prices in Rally

Wet Issues Retain Popularity and Are Joined by Metals; Gains Average 1.9 Points; Sales Dwindle to 1,730,680 Shares.

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—Stocks today conformed to Tuesday's pattern, rallying the last hour after a narrow, listless movement in the earlier trading. Wet issues were again prominent during the upturn, being joined by the metal issues. Volume was light, even with the late flurry.

Gains for the rank and file ranged from 1 to 2 points, though numerous particular favorites of the moment rallied more briskly. Shares had their major upward push after a financial news ticker had printed a Washington dispatch to the effect that inflationary moves by the administration might not be long delayed.

Some of the prominent industrials, utilities and rails were rather sluggish in getting under way. For U. S. Steel, General Electric, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas, North American, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe net gains ranged from fractions to about a point.

American Telephone, Du Pont, Union Pacific, American Tobacco "B," Industrial Rayon, Celanese, Penney, General Mills and General Railway Signal, Illinois Central and many of the alcohol issues lifted more vigorously, to the maximum extent of 6¾ points in the case of National Distillers. Western Union was up 5½ on its good earnings report. U. S. Smelting climbed around 6. Sales totaled 1,730,680 shares, about the same as yesterday.

Midweek sidelights on the state of trade revealed a marked tendency to hold the gains of spring and early summer.

Talk of inflation has recently met a less sympathetic response in many Wall street quarters which have believed that this course would be sidetracked while Washington watches the effect of recovery measures now being vigorously pushed. Word that the Treasury's cash position had made a new high was naturally well received, although the day's news also contained a reminder of the mounting national debt.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation's offer of a billion dollars in new capital to banks to speed the recovery met with various expressions of opinion here. In some quarters it was pointed out that institutions now having excess reserves were still endeavoring to find work for them; in others it was assumed that the offer was being directed particularly to banks not so comfortably situated, including those in process of reorganization.

Goods Markets.

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Buyers are declining all offers at new prices inclusive of processing tax. Readjustment of finished goods prices is proceeding steadily. Rayon stocks in producers' hands are negligible. Little new business is developing in silk or wool goods pending acceptance of trade codes. Burlap trading is light.

Cotton Exchange To Open Saturday

New York, Aug 2 (Spl.).—W. S. Dowdell, president of the New York Cotton Exchange, issued the following statement this afternoon: "For the benefit of the cotton trade and in view of the many inquiries as to whether or not the New York Cotton Exchange would continue to remain open for trading on Saturday mornings, the board of managers, at a special meeting today, decided to remain open.

"The board of managers believes that, for the present at least, such action is for the best interests of the cotton trade and the cotton farmers, and, moreover, is in keeping with the desire of President Roosevelt that no action be taken that would reduce employment through curtailing customary hours of service operation."

Canadian Loan Closes Overscribed in London

London, Aug. 2 (AP).—Optimistic expectations were borne out when the lists for the new Canadian loan of £15,000,000 (currently $66,500,000) were closed today directly with a substantial over-subscription, directly after they had been opened.

This is the first Canadian loan on the London market in twenty years. It is in 4 per cent bonds, sold at par and with no discount for cash, in 20 and 25 years issues. It is understood the loan will be used to pay victory bonds of 5½ per cent redeemable this fall.

New Era Work Focuses Eyes On Public Land

Nation's Increased Holding Laid to Reforestation; State Ownership.

Civilian conservation work has focused attention on the steady increase in publicly owned land in the United States.

Nationally, the increase has been a direct result of movements for reforestation, conservation of natural resources and widening of recreation facilities. Increases in State and local holdings, however, have been largely connected with the tax problem.

Vacant and unappropriated public land, 173,318,246 acres.

Indian reservations, 56,676,535 acres.

Withdrawals from the public domain for coal reserves, reclamation projects, &c., 35,184,712 acres.

Total, 407,171,808 acres.

Holdings Are Increased.

Since 1891, the year in which the first national forest was set aside, the Federal Government has largely ceased its once lavish distribution of public land. Instead it added to its holdings. This has been done in three principal ways:

1. By purchase: In June, $20,000,-000 of the Civilian Conservation Corps funds was set aside to buy forest lands in the East. Since 1911, 5,397,237 acres have been purchased by the forest service with the approval of the National Forest Reservation Commission.

2. By exchange: The general exchange law of 1922 permitted the Forest Service to acquire privately owned lands within certain areas by swapping an equivalent value in either national forest land or timber. Such trading had added 913,-517 acres to the national forests by last October.

3. By gifts: These are rare, but one gift involved 100,000 acres, most of cut-over timber land, in Idaho.

Increase in States.

In the States, publicly owned land is increasing usually against the wishes of the States themselves. Tens of millions of acres of farm and forest land are tax delinquent. The National Forest Reservation Commission last winter estimated that the existing rate of reversion through delinquency about 24,000,-000 acres of cut-over timber land in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota alone would become State or county property in eight to ten years.

After a period of grace title to delinquent land reverts to the State or the town or the county, depending on the law. Most of these jurisdictions have no idea of what to do with the land. In some areas the laws are such that the land could not easily be resold. The owner sometimes is given as long as 20 years in which to redeem his erstwhile property. In other places public opinion will not tolerate foreclosures—fully half the county area would be subject to foreclosure in some Western counties. Many States prefer to carry the delinquent land on their tax rolls in the hope that owners will pay up.

Federal officials, Secretary Wallace among them, would like to see the States and localities increase their holdings of forest lands for the purposes of erosion control, regulation of stream flow, rebuilding of impoverished soils, allocation to the "open range," and public recreation.

Forest holdings of counties, municipalities, and towns now total about 1,000,000 acres. States own about 4,500,000 acres of forests, 2,700,000 acres of parks, and 6,150,-000 acres of miscellaneous lands. New York has a 20-year program of acquiring submarginal land for reforestation purposes, and Pennsylvania and a few others have also been active.

Steel's Production Holds Same Level

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—The national average of steel production remains unchanged this week at 57 per cent of capacity, Iron Age said today. Present indications are, the review asserted, that steel output this month "is less likely to be affected by seasonal influences than by a shortage of fuel." Continuance of labor troubles in southwestern Pennsylvania "for any length of time might well result in the exhaustion of accumulated supplies of fuel and pig iron, with an ultimate curtailment or stoppage of steel production at various plants."

Demand for steel is "showing unexpected staying power." Automobile needs are holding up unusually well, and July assemblies of cars probably totaled 240,000 units, while August output, according to present indications, "will compare favorably with June and July."

Iron Age places July pig iron production at 1,819,438 tons, or 58,-692 tons daily, compared with 1,265,-007 tons, or 42,166 tons per day in June. The month saw a net gain of 16 active furnaces.

New York Central Line Gains in Car Loadings

New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—New York Central's freight loadings last week totaled 108,903 cars against 109,017 in the previous week and 76,681 in the like period of last year. The gain over a year ago amounted to 42 per cent against a rise of 43.7 per cent for the preceding week.

The Pensylvania Rialroad system's traffic last week was slightly higher than in the previous week, totaling 105,088 cars against 104,-727. Loadings a year ago were 76,-869 cars and the increase was 36.7 per cent, compared with a gain of 37 per cent for the preceding week over 1932 figures.

Steel Prices Unchanged.

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Steel prices unchanged.

New Musical Hit Reviewed—Theater Programs for New Week

Roger Pryor Is Star of Comedy At RKO-Keith's

Tunes and Girls Add Zest to Lively Film; News of Showshops.

"MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS." Universal picturization of a story by Monte Brice and Arthur Jarrett, with continuity by Sig Herzig, songs and lyrics by E. Y. Harburg, Jay Gorney, Herman Hupfeld, Al Siegel and Sammy Fain, and dances by Bobby Connolly, featuring Roger Pryor, Leo Carillo, Mary Brian and Lillian Miles, with Herbert Rawlinson, Bobby Watson and William Frawley. Directed by Karl Freund. Reviewed Wednesday night.

By Nelson B. Bell.

The state of the Nation being what it is, it is probably inevitable that for months to come both the stage and screen must be made the medium for enthusiastic flag-waving and extravagant eulogies of President Roosevelt and those associated with him in the drive for industrial recovery. Notwithstanding this patriotic point of view, it is a moot question whether the purposes of entertainment are best served by this attempted combination of economic rehabilitation with the more illusory qualities of fictional drama.

"Moonlight and Pretzels," Universal's admirable contribution to the present cycle of musical productions, shown for the first time to a receptive and appreciative audience at RKO-Keith's last night, for example, would have been a more thoroughly enjoyable bit of seasonable amusement had the rousing number of "Dusty Shoes"—comparable to "Gold Diggers of 1933's" "Forgotten Man" spectacle—omitted its political sop to Cerberus, in the form of a strictly newsreel sequence of industrial flashes, and adhered a little more closely to the spirit of its earlier action.

The earlier action of "Moonlight and Pretzels," incidentally, had been of such ample merit as to write the picture down unequivocally among the light musical hits of the year.

It has dash, melody, movement, color and personality on its side. Furthermore, it manages to lend sparkle and an occasional touch of genuine novelty to a backstage story that is by no means a carbon copy of all that vast number of footlight yarns that have preceded it. Among its numerous songs are several which already are being heard through the loud-speakers every time the radio is turned on and promise to rank with the late summer's reigning hits.

The plot is simple, but not always transparently so. It concerns the love of a small-time actor and song-writer and a small-town gal, running a song shop in the pastoral village of Walkerville, and their vicissitudes when George Dwight becomes a big shot on Broadway and Sally follows him to the city. George, by this time, is in the midst of producing a show which is encountering a little difficulty in getting itself financed.

Tossed about among the major money interests, it finally is won in a dice game between a couple of gamblers and in the end comes into the possession of Sally, who has done a little gambling on her own account with "Sport" Powell, who matches coins with a quarter that is tails on both sides!

Interspersed with, and frequently interrupting, these consistently worked-out plot developments are eight tunes that frequently whip the piece into a fast-moving and lavish spectacle, notable as much for the beauty as the number of its pulchritudinous and scantily clad ladies of the ensemble.

The best of the musical numbers, to these ears, were "There's a Little Bit of You in Every Love Song," "Ah, But Is It Love?" "Moonlight and Pretzels," the fortissimo excuse for a beer garden scene that is almost a whole show in itself; "I've Gotta Get Up and Go to Work" and "Dusty Shoes," sung by Alexander Grey.

"Dusty Shoes," as musical comedy compositions go, is a work of epic proportions. It relates the whole tragic story of the industrial debacle that overtook the country in 1929 and is only now beginning to yield to remedial governmental action. The song is rousingly sung by Mr. Grey, one of the theater's better barytones, supported by a huge ensemble, lending something of a new tone and color to the whole of Wall street's basic structure.

Roger Pryor, in the role of the song writer, George Dwight, matches the excellence of his stage performances in a fine character study for the cameras. His part is no less legitimate than Warner Baxter's, for further example, in "Forty-second Street."

Mary Brian appears as the girl, Sally, greatly to her credit, and Leo Carillo and Herbert Rawlinson make the most of the roles of the gamblers. Bobby Watson and William Frawley do well with minor parts and Lillian Miles scores in trip-hammer fashion in a succession of songs that evidently were written with her pungent style particularly in mind. Many of the best lines are hers, too.

Bernice Claire, the Eton Boys, the Girl Friends and numerous others are well fitted with tunes and Jack Denny and His Orchestra play during the final scenes of the picture. Frank and Milt Britton and Their Band are almost lost in the "Moonlight and Pretzels" scene, but manage to smash their instruments all to pieces in time to make their unmistakable identification easily possible.

"Moonlight and Pretzels," all in all, is one to write down for the first spare hour you have.

The Fox studios, although in the past they have, on one or two occasions, been sorely tried by the young woman's temperamental idiosyncrasies, last night proudly announced that Janet Gaynor, probably the most popular feminine star on their lot, had signed a new long-term contract to appear under the Fox banner—aegis, to you, if you have on your high hat!

Miss Gaynor, after affixing her Johanna Hancock to the new document, left Los Angeles incognito—or as nearly so as one of her prominence is apt to leave anywhere—on an extensive vacation trip that will take her far to remain long.

The first four weeks she will devote to a little quiet rusticating at a secluded lake in the northern part of Wisconsin.

Later she plans to visit the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, make a brief tour of Canada and then tour the Eastern States by motor, no doubt by way of Hawaii, her favorite playground!

It is surprising with what ease and genuine facility Roger Pryor drops into the singing stellar role of "Moonlight and Pretzels," at RKO-Keith's this week and next and maybe even longer than that, judging from last night's start. Surprising, that is, until you stop to consider that his father, Arthur Pryor, was for years Sousa's solo trombonist and latterly conductor of his own band, one of the best in the United States. If any one ought to have a musical heritage, Roger Pryor is that one. But why argue? He has it.

In the current issue of the Pathe News, incidentally, in the shots showing the transportation of Wiley Post's plane, the Winnie Mae, to Radio City to be exhibited in conjunction with his personal appearance on the stage, who should walk down the middle of the roadway into the camera's eye, but Old Len Hall, formerly a local dramatic editor, raconteur, bon vivant and ardent advocate of any one who was an ardent opponent of anything dry!

Mr. Hall has on his other suit and is looking his perkiest, no doubt in the hope that Mr. Rockefeller, junior or pere, will see the film and inquire who the handsome gentleman with Mr. Post is!

Pursuant to the custom recently inaugurated by Eddie Car, who is personally conducting the resort to its most substantial success in recent seasons, Chevy Chase Lake announces the engagement for tomorrow night only of Mal Hallett and his orchestra.

While this organization is not too well known in Washington, Hallett's Band has for years been one of the outstanding orchestras in New England, and not so long ago also appeared for an extended engagement at Roseland, in New York.

In addition to the orchestra, dispensing what is said to be an unique type of dance rhythms, Irene Taylor, formerly featured with Paul Whiteman, will be heard as featured vocalist at the lake tomorrow night, August 4, only.

Dancing will begin at 9 and continue until 1, with the Terrace Garden open for the serving of refreshments throughout that period.

In addition to "Moonlight and Pretzels," which opened at RKO-Keith's last night and is completely reviewed elsewhere on this page, and Mae West in another return engagement in "She Done Him Wrong," at the Metropolitan, the new bills to be inaugurated tomorrow and Monday in the downtown, first run theaters will be as follows: Earle—George Arliss, with Doris Kenyon and Reginald Owen in "Voltaire," and Nick Lucas headlining the vaudeville; Loew's Fox—George Raft, Clive Brook, Helen Vinson and Alison Skipworth in "Midnight Club," and the Mills Brothers and Don Redman's Orchestra headlining the vaudeville; Palace—Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery and the late Louise Closser Hale in "Another Language"; Columbia—Opening Monday, English cast in "A Study in Scarlet," a Sherlock Holmes story by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

Throughout the remainder of the present week, the special attraction at Glen Echo Park will continue to be the Four Dots, one of Harlem's most notable groups of entertainers, who appear nightly in the Spanish Garden Ballroom. One of Glen Echo's most important enterprises is the Miss Personality Contest, being conducted in connection with Universal Pictures to discover the young woman who is entitled to be the next glamorous motion picture star to have her fame and fortune made over night.

The national winner of this contest will be given employment at Universal City Calif., where Universal pictures are made. In addition to this major honor, the contest affords opportunity to win numerous other valuable prizes, trips and the like.

The DeRiskie Troupe of equilibrists and gymnasts continues to give two performances a day at Seaside Park, down at Chesapeake Beach, on the bay in Maryland, as a special added attraction presented without extra cost to visitors to the shore resort. Another innovation that has caught on at Seaside Park is the nightly dancing and the feature motion picture presentations on Tuesday nights. Beginning this week-end, the novelty of a floor show will be introduced. The featured artists will be Helen McHale and Maxine Stevenin, dancers, and Charles Welsh, escape artist.

Hot on the heels of "Moonlight and Pretzels" comes the announcement from Carl Laemmle, jr., in charge of Universal production that movie fare from his lot this year will not by any means follow the beaten path. This seems to be reasonably borne out by ascertainable fact.

For instance, the next pictures on the Universal release chart include such blazers of unaccustomed amusement trails as "S. O. S. Iceberg," the first picture made with an icebound Arctic background; "The Rebel," a product of Universal's Berlin studio, made high in the Tyrolean Alps on a theme never before utilized—Napoleon's dramatic crossing of the Alps into Italy, with Luis Trenker and Vilma Banky costarred; H. G. Wells' "The Invisible Man," "The Return of Frankenstein" and others of like ilk.

So when is the Rialto going to open? Oh, Mr. Collier——!

Now that the cold snap is here following yesterday's violent rains and hailstorms, look out for frostbite and chilblains. Keep exposed parts wrapped in red flannel and bathe in snow even if only slightly frozen!

A Dual Notable Named Voltarliss!

Otherwise recognizable as that distinguished character actor, George Arliss, or as that scrivening Nemesis of philandering monarchs and coquettish courtesans, Voltaire, bane of the life of shrewd and seductive Mme. de Pompadour and mistrusted adviser of a headstrong and heedless Louis. Mr. Arliss brings his and the Warner Brothers' "Voltaire" to the Earle's screen tomorrow, with Doris Kenyon, Reginald Owen and others of note in support.

A Question of Partnership Confidence.

THE North and South cards given below, particularly those held by South, present a problem in bidding which can not be covered by hard and fast rules. As a matter of actual fact when this hand came up in a practice team-of-four match in New York City the North and South cards were held by two expert pairs, neither of whom, for some reason, reached the lay-down game. Nevertheless, the game is one which absolutely should be reached despite the interference bidding put up by the opponents. In the post-mortem held after the particular game in question, the two North-South pairs blamed only themselves and after some arguing pro and con finally decided upon the correct bidding.

West, Dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

West opened the bidding with one spade. There is no doubt at all about North's proper call at this point: it was to double for a Takeout. North did double and East injected the very annoying bid of two spades. The first problem comes up at this point. Should South with his 4-4-3-2 distribution and just about one honor-trick in the hand bid three hearts? In my opinion this question is a very close one. Obviously when one's partner doubles one spade he is eager to know if his partner can respond with hearts and must have very fine heart support. On the other hand, a three-heart bid by South at this point seems to me to be a little bit misleading in that North will surely look for a five-card heart suit in the South hand and certainly could not be criticized if he counted on South for either one Ace or two Kings. I do not think a three-heart bid is bad, but I think that in general the best policy on this type of hand is to pass when partner has another chance to bid.

South and West both passed to the two-spade bid and North doubled again. In the discussion which followed the hand someone suggested that North should not double the second time but bid either three diamonds or three clubs. However, this contention was overruled almost unanimously, and everyone finally agreed that the North player should double a second time, feeling that he must force his partner to show his four-card suit and at the same time tell his partner of his great strength. After all, to force a partner who has previously passed, to bid at the level of three when vulnerable shows an enormous hand.

East passed to this second Double and South now had another problem. The best solution he could think of was to bid three hearts. After this bid North had no other alternative but to pass. After all North had doubled twice for a Takeout, and his partner had passed the first time and made a minimum forced response the second time. Under the circumstances, to bid four hearts, inviting a possible Penalty Double, seemed dangerous, particularly when vulnerable.

There is no doubt in my mind that the blame for not reaching game must be given to the South player. Playing opposite a reliable and sound partner, one must respect his Takeout Doubles. When a good player forces you to bid at the level of three-odd when vulnerable on a possible Yarborough, conceivably including nothing but a four-card suit to the eight-spot, he must immediately be marked with an extraordinary strong hand. When he doubles spades he should be marked with either a four-card heart suit of a three-card suit headed by two very high honors. Considering the above facts, the South player, realizing that he would be forced to bid three hearts even if he did not hold the Queen of that suit and the Queen of diamonds, should bid four hearts on the basis of these two very valuable cards. He can not mislead his partner by this bid and he should not fear that his partner will try for a Slam, for after South has passed up one opportunity to bid over East's two-spade call North will know that his hand is definitely limited. South should further realize that with his assorted Queens and Knaves there must be some play for four hearts and, furthermore, that if he bids only three his partner, having doubled twice, will probably not be able to contract for game.

The moral is that one should always draw all the inferences possible from one's partner's and one's opponents' bids, have complete confidence in the soundness of partner's declarations, and act accordingly. A bid which may on the face of it seem very daring and very ridiculuous will very often upon close analysis be found to be perfectly sound.

Nats Boost Lead to 2 Games, Beating Red Sox, 2-1, as Yanks Lose

This Morning

With Shirley L. Povich.

I HAVE it straight from a fellow who has it straight, that the Nats have made very excellent Sunday morning reading this season.

Hardly do I arrive at the daily work bench when I am socked in the eye with a long list of statistics to prove that the Nats haven't lost a Saturday ball game, at home or afield, since Clark Griffith led the parade to the flagpole and unfurled Old Glory to the breezes on opening day, which was a Wednesday.

Win, lose or draw in the pennant race, the Nats are going down as the greatest Saturday ball club in history. Sixteen Saturdays have rolled around this season. And 17 Saturday victories have been won by the Nats. Twice they waded through both ends of double-headers. Once they were rained out. The Saturday opposition might just as well have rolled over and played dead. It wasn't any use.

The evidence:

Saturdays.

Always Belittlin'.

If I may be permitted to quote from a New York paper, maybe you, too, will get a laugh. We read:

"There are five good reasons why the Senators today are leading the American League. They are Manager Joe Cronin, Heinie Manush, Fred Schulte, Goose Goslin, Joe Kuhel and Dave Harris."

Perhaps it all depends on the viewpoint, but, after a bit of rapid calculation with the fingers and a thumb, it looks like six reasons to me. Or maybe it's just the New York habit of belittling everything outside of New York, even the addition table.

Perhaps you can get a giggle, too, out of the following which appears a bit farther down in the same piece: "Harris, one of the few holdovers of the 1925 team, has been used only as a pinch-hitter." In 1925, Harris was being sworn in as a Greensboro cop.

An Idea by N. E. W. Deal.

One who signs himself N. E. W. Deal asks this department:

"Is it not about high time the Washington Baseball Club adopts some definite policy in respect to the admission of boy fans?

"This spring a campaign was conducted throughout the schools to get boys interested in baseball and some of them were invited, for a few games only, to sit in the bleachers in center field.

"If thousands of women can be admitted every Friday and are required only to pay the tax, what about boys having a day when they could at least be admitted for half-price. The boys are the future ball players and the future paying fans.

"Mr. Joe Turner and other local entertainers don't seem to feel that they are losing anything by admitting the kids for half price."

What about it, Mr. Griffith?

Betrothal Must Wait, Says Dorothy Poynton

Los Angeles, Aug. 2 (AP).—Dorothy Poynton, returning today from the East, where she captured new swimming honors, said announcement of her engagement to Nelson L. Hill, Hollywood athlete and business man, was "decidedly premature."

"We're very fast friends, but Mr. Hill's divorce from his former wife will not be final until next November, so you can see how impossible it would be for us to be either married or engaged," the Olympic swimmer said.

Hill, records showed, was divorced from Mrs. Margaret Hill November 25, 1932.

Will Defeats Rippy for Golf Title

Wins D. C. Public Parks Crown, 1 Up in 36-Hole Thriller.

By Dave Herman.

TWO masterfully played iron shots, both executed under pressure, the first a blast out of a wicked trap atop the mound of the seventeenth hole, and the second a 125-yard approach to the home green, saved the day for Harlan Will yesterday afternoon at Rock Creek in his 36-hole finals match with Claude Rippy, transplanted Carolinian, and hoisted him to the District public links golf championship.

With his father, greenskeeper at Woodmont, and two sisters watching his every move, the frail Will, carrying the banner of East Potomac, conquered Rippy, Rock Creek winner, by 1 up in an exciting battle that was featured by good and spotty golf.

Will displayed remarkable steadiness under fire, particularly on the last two holes when Rippy was in the midst of a great comeback, for the Carolinian, who was once 3 down, had won the fifteenth and sixteenth to go to the seventeenth only 1 down.

Tee Shot Is Perfect.

Rippy's tee shot on this hole, a treacherous 159-yarder, was perfect, landing some 15 feet from the pin. Will, with a hooking hangover from the past three holes, smashed his drive into a trap. The East Potomac entry studied the situation carefully. He was deep in the sand. It was a shot that demanded plenty of timing and cool nerves. Will waded into the ball. It came spinning onto the green, rolled up to within 3 feet of the cup, and they halved the hole in par 3s.

Rippy skied his tee shot to the right of the eighteenth fairway, and Will laced out a screamer. Rippy pushed his second shot to the left of the green. Then followed Will's brilliant approach shot that landed 12 feet from the hole. Meanwhile, the fighting Tarheel stuck his third 1 foot from the pin for a sure 4. Will made a safe approach putt, but, realizing that 1-footers can be missed, deliberated carefully, canned his putt for a 4—and the struggle was over.

A's Trample New York By 16-3

Pound Three Hurlers and End Six-Game Losing Streak.

Earnshaw, Walberg Hold Enemy; Homers for Cochrane, Bishop.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics, snapping their six-game losing streak with 19 hits behind the effective pitching of George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg, today defeated the New York Yankees, 16 to 3, in the first game of the series. The defeat shoved the Yanks two games back of the Nationals, who defeated the Red Sox.

Earnshaw, pitching seven innings before being relieved because of the extreme heat, gave seven bases on balls, but set the Yanks down with seven hits and only two runs. Walberg yielded one run and three hits during his two-inning sojourn on the mound.

Ruffing Knocked Out Early.

Charley Ruffing, on the other hand, after pitching three nice games in a row, failed to last three innings. He was touched for three runs, including homers by Max Bishop and Mickey Cochrane, in the first inning, and retiring in the third in favor of Danny MacFayden with the bases loaded. The A's continued their heavy slugging off MacFayden, who was followed on the mound by Walter Brown and George Uhle.

Steele to Meet Londos for 'nth Time

Champ and Near-Champ to Head Card Tonight at Griffith Stadium.

WHAT promises to be one of the best-rounded rassling cards of the current season is listed at Griffith Stadium tonight. All types of matmen perform, with several old favorites scheduled to do their stuff.

Jim Londos, champion in this neck of the woods, meets Ray Steele for the umteenth time here, and, no matter which wins, indications are that the fans will get a good run for their money. Steele rates just below the champ in the standing, has two falls over Londos to his credit, and has vowed that he will dump the gorgeous Greek tonight. He probably will not make good his boast, but he should make a good match of it while trying to.

Marshall and McMillan.

Everett Marshall, the blond California flash, takes on Jim McMillan in the semifinal limited to 40 minutes, and these two likely will stage a hot bout with flying tackles predominating unless Marshall stops his foe too roughly early in the bout. He has a special defense for the tackle and, if it works as well as it has done in the past, McMillan may decide to pass up this style of attack for the nonce.

Of the preliminaries, indications are that the most entertainment will be furnished by Sol Slagel and Frank Speers.

Speers Villain No. 1.

Speers is the No. 1 villain showing here these days and the rassle addicts seem to get real enjoyment seeing him get roughed up and battling with the referee. And they should get added pleasure tonight watching him trying to cope with Slagel, who is double-jointed and a contortionist.

In other bouts, Dick Raines takes on Dr. Karl Sarpolis while Abe Coleman tackles Swede Olsen.

A fee of 50 cents, plus Government tax, will be assessed the women fans. Activities get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

Wes Ferrell Ready to Quit Hurling and Play in Outfield

His Fast Ball Gone, Indian Righthander Practices for Other Duties.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 2 (Spl.).—Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland's star right-hander and the only pitcher in the history of organized baseball to record 20 or more victories in each of his first four seasons in the major leagues, is through as a big league hurler.

The powerful right arm that enabled him to speed the ball past opposing batters over a period of four years and which won for him recognition as one of the best pitchers in the game has lost its power and Ferrell is ready to step out.

Ferrell has just about decided to convert himself into an outfielder. He has been a good hitter since he entered the American League and also is fast on the paths. Every day during fielding and hitting practice Ferrell takes his place in the outfield to chase long drives and also spends considerable time at the plate.

This season the husky right-hander has been forced to rely upon slow curves to get by and has discovered that a pitcher needs more than that to baffle the opposition. The slow curve was a valuable asset to Ferrell when he still possessed a blazing fast ball, but its value became negligible when the fast ball lost its speed.

Cards Trounce Pirates, 4-3; Fists Fly

Victorious in 12th Inning; Walker and Vaughan Exchange Blows.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 2 (AP).—With hostilities flaring for the second time in two days, St. Louis trounced Pittsburgh, 4 to 3, today in a 12-inning melee marked by a fistic exchange between Bill Walker, Card pitcher, and Arky Vaughan, Buc shortstop, and disputes with the umpire.

The Pirates had the tying run on second with one out in the ninth, when Vaughan grounded to Crawford. Walker covered first and Vaughan crashed into him. Walker swung at the base runner and the shortstop retaliated. Meanwhile, Paul Waner raced home with the tying run. The contestants were ejected.

Reverses His Decision.

Umpire Magerkurth allowed the run but reversed his decision after a storm of protest from the Westerners. Waner finally went back to third and scored on Traynor's grounder which Durocher threw low to Crawford.

The Cards decided the battle in the twelfth, Frisch getting to third when Crawford's grounder to Piet took a bad hop. He scored on Medwick's single.

Today's game which ended the Pirates' eight-game victory string, and went 3 hours and 28 minutes, saw the second outbreak of fisticuffs between the teams in two days. Outfielder George Watkins and Pitcher Steven Swetonic engaged in a brief fracas yesterday.

Hildebrand to See Evans About Fine

Cleveland, Aug. 2 (AP).—Lanky Oral Hildebrand, suspended ace of the Cleveland pitching staff, came back to Cleveland tonight to talk over with General Manager Billy Evans—who often has called Hildebrand his protege—the suspension and $100 fine administered by Manager Walter Johnson in St. Louis.

As Hildebrand stepped off the train from Indianapolis, his home town, he asserted that he had told Johnson, "I don't care if I never pitch another game for you," but added that he does want to pitch for the Indians and hopes to rejoin the team as early as possible.

Evans, to whom the pitcher is to report tomorrow, meanwhile issued a statement that "Hildebrand's dispute is with Johnson. He must make his peace with him." Evans declared, however, he will be glad to "see and talk with" Hildebrand.

Manush's Pinch Single Brings in Winning Run in Ninth.

Boston Suffers Loss of Tally When Bingle Hits Umpire.

By Shirley L. Povich
(Sports Editor of The Post)

WITH defeat staring the Nats full in the countenance yesterday and the game wearing along into the eighth inning, Dave Harris stopped trifling.

Dapper Dave had been getting on base all afternoon. Twice he singled. Once he walked. But the result was always the same. Lefty Weiland mowed down Dave's successors at the plate like so much overripe straw. The situation was getting desperate. And Boston was leading, 1-0.

So Dave stopped trifling with singles and walks and the like. He took two strikes from Weiland and then bashed a healthy home run on a line, halfway up in the open-faced bleachers in left field, his third circuit smash in two days. At the plate he deposited a run to the Nats' account that tied the ball game at 1-1.

Mr. Sponge Scores at Hawthorne, Paying $19.10; Gallant Sir Runs Second

Show Money Annexed by Big Brand

Indian Runner Fades Out of Picture After Early Spurt.

Grannys Trade Winner at Empire City, With Wedding Ring 3d.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP). — Mr. Sponge, running in the colors of C. Leroy King, of Memphis, Tenn., raced to an unexpected triumph today in the Sky Harbor Handicap, top event at Hawthorne, taking the measure of the favorites, Norman Church's Gallant Sir, and Indian Runner.

Mr. Sponge, an outsider in the field of seven, was out in one-half in the six and a half furlongs feature. Big Brand was third. Gallant Sir and Indian Runner, cofavorites at 9 to 5, gave the winner a tussle early in the race, but the latter faded out of the money.

The race was run in 1:19 1-5, and Mr. Sponge paid $19.10 to win.

Grannys Trade Scores.

Empire City Race Track, New York, Aug. 2 (AP).—With most of the Boots and Bridle Brigade already transplanted up State in Saratoga, the getaway card was a lean one here this afternoon. The Mosholu Purse, a short 6 furlongs dash for platers 3-year-olds and upwards, served as the nearest thing to a feature and resulted in an easy score for Grannys Trade, which won by nearly two lengths, going away. Westy Junior, the favorite, saved the place by a length from Wedding Ring. The winner's time was 1:09 flat and she paid 16 to 5.

The talent had no complaint to make over the start as far as Westy Junior was concerned. The Westy Hogan colt was off like a bullet and flattered his backers until the final sixteenth. Wedding Ring tired trying to catch the favorite, but Grannys Trade, nicely rated in third place to the stretch, closed with a great burst of speed on the outside and easily passed the tiring pacemaker.

Former Capital Altar Boy Winning Fame as Jockey

Jimmy Sullivan, 19, Rode Good on Bad Horses in Climb Up Ladder.

JIMMY SULLIVAN.

"SULLIVAN rides a double." That Associated Press report from the Empire City track at New York on Tuesday had reference to St. Gabriel's Parish's gift to the saddle, little Jimmy Sullivan, the former altar boy and former Washington Post carrier boy, who has graduated to the big-time tracks.

Aloysius Parish, centered about North Capitol street, gave Sonny Workman to the saddle. St. Gabriel's, in the Petworth section, is in the field with another riding entry in the Sullivan lad, who is already attracting the attention of turf owners, trainers and fans alike.

The day that little Jimmy Sullivan overstayed his leave on a public riding academy horse for which he deposited $1.50 for an hour's ride was the day he started on a racing career. Into the riding academy stable he went to clean the stalls and work out his debt, and thenceforward he belonged to racing.

Little Jimmy beseeched Hugh Miller, then The Post's racing photographer, for an introduction to a trainer. He wanted to be a jockey. Miller recommended the lad to Preston Burch. He was 15. At 19 now he has been under contract to Burch for four years.

His proper handle is James Sullivan, jr. The son of the former State deputy and head of the District of Columbia Knights of Columbus, and the brother of the 112-pound boxing champion of the District A. A. U., Little Jimmy rode his first winner last October. He is due to lose his apprenticeship at the Laurel meeting.

The former altar boy rides at 103 pounds, his normal weight. He served his two years as a jockey riding bad horses on the half-mile track under the tutelage of Burch, just for the experience. When Jimmy started winning races with bad horses, Burch introduced him to the major tracks.

Hawthorne Race Track, Aug. 3.

Dear Al:

The rain upset calculations today but, in spite of the mud, Chockoloskee finished second, as did Beauty Secret, our sleeper, about which you were duly warned. Penncote, too, finished in the second hole. Threat rewarded us with an easy victory.

Rosy, the old-time Washington bookmaker, who has forgotten more about horses than most of our present generation know, says unless the NRA bunch can get the trainers to adopt some other "code" than the one used to wire suckers, it is foolish to spend time figuring the past performances, as no one knows now whether they are running hot or cold or just what effect the recent scare is going to have. Strangers are not allowed near stalls at present. They even threatened to give Smitty a "ride" today because he showed up without his sunshade and was not recognized.

Yours, MIKE.

First race—Don Manuel, in spite of the weight, should cop the first heat. Secret Tryst has a lot of early speed and may take the place award from Bitty Bit.

Second race—I believe Jack Westrope can boot Outbound home in front at a fair price. Stimulator and Et Cetera for what's left. Brown Wisdom is only a shadow of his former self.

Third race—Ed Lark, Barney Sexton and Captain Ed are just about as good as any in this very open race.

Fourth race—Cloud d'Or should beat the Western crack, Prince Drake. Most anything can run third. Spartan Lad may peep.

Fifth race—There are a half dozen in this field that have an excellent chance to win. I fancy the consistent Cog-air. Will be at a fair price, too. Grand Prince and Broad Meadows should be right there.

Sixth race—Dusky Devil loves the mud, but can run on any kind of track. Knight's Gal and Spartan Lady for what's left.

Seventh race—Unless there is more rain, the track probably will be fast tomorrow. I am again selecting Mintogee to win. Snaplock won his last race easily, and Damascene is very consistent.

Eighth race — Uncommon Gold should repeat his recent winning effort. Brains and Catherine Fox will be heard from in the running.

Beasley Ready To 'Take Rap' For Defeat

Says Vines' Overconfidence Beat Him; Feels Coaching Was Not to Blame.

By Henry McLemore.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—Mercer Beasley, teacher of stars and unofficial coach of the United States Davis Cup squad, returned to New York aboard the French liner Champlain today, ready and willing to "take the rap" for America's failure against the British in the interzone finals.

"Somebody's got to take the blame," Beasley said as the ship, eased from quarantine, turned toward the dock, "and it might as well be me. I coached them. True, I wasn't the official coach and only sat around at practice sessions and offered advice when I was asked, but what's the difference? We lost, and it's always nice to have someone to pin the blame on. So I'll be the one. I can take it."

Vines Overconfident.

In order to get the blame squarely placed, we asked the man who developed Vines, Allison, Parker, Carolin, Babcock and a host of other top-rankers if he thought poor coaching was the reason for the American's downfall?

"No," he answered, "I don't. Austin didn't beat Vines. Vines beat himself. Beat himself with overconfidence, his refusal to consider Austin as an opponent capable of giving him a battle. He took the court against Bunny positive he could win in a walk. For a great part of that match Vines played with nonchalance, an attitude of 'I'll beat him when I get ready' that caused many of the spectators to yell out in amazement. They were used to seeing serious tennis in matches that would determine the challenger for the cup."

Capital City Unlimiteds Promise Hotter Second-Half Race

Federal Nine Warns by Victory

Snaps Losing Streak at Nine by Upsetting Heights Team.

Stantons, Millers to Bear Watching; New Blood Bolstered Teams.

THIS second half pennant race in the Capital City League, which was inaugurated last Sunday with little blowing of trumpets but plenty of good baseball, looms as an even better race than the first series, which was not decided until the final game when the Millers nosed out the Stantons, 1-0.

The Federal A. C., wasting away for the need of victory, finally snapped its string of nine consecutive losses with a 7-6 win over Congress Heights. Not only was the Heights tribe stunned by this turn of affairs, but the Federals found themselves in a tie for first place, even if only for a day, after being at the bottom of the loop since the season opened.

Barbers Beaten Again.

It is also significant that after much gesticulating and dire threats hurled at the opposition, Tony Burruto's Barber Boys accepted another defeat from Willie Glascoe's Griffs. The Barbers, certified and otherwise, had been singled out as the team bearing the most promise as a pennant winner. They made the dopesters look foolish in the first half, what with kicking away ball games, beating the better teams and bowing to the less powerful ones. Sunday they were up to their old tricks, despite all of Mr. Burruto's protests that the team had turned over a new leaf. Perhaps it has, but the new leaf looks like a blank page.

Like all of the teams, however, the Barbers retain a fighting chance. The Millers stopped Dor-A, and St. Joseph's turned back the Woodley A. C., but who can tell what the ensuing weeks will bring? September may find a dark horse streaking home ahead of the field.

President Tennyson Praised.

Both players and managers alike are high in their praise of President Richard S. Tennyson's decision in permitting each club to sign three new players for the race. This move enabled the weaker teams to plug the weak spots in their machines and will make the campaign much closer for the contenders and more interesting for the spectators.

Chisox Rallies in 9th Nose Out Tigers Twice

Detroit, Aug. 2 (AP).—Two Ninth inning rallies gave the Chicago White Sox a clean sweep of a double-header with the Tigers here today. The scores were 2 to 1 and 4 to 3.

Berry hit a home run with Lyons on base in the last inning of the opener to drive in both Chicago runs. Swanson doubled with two out in the ninth inning of the nightcap to score Berry with the winning tally.

Ferrell Planning For Other Duties

campaign. He complained often of a sore arm after pitching and was to lose his speed during the 1931 given a longer rest period between hurling assignments.

Last season he managed to win his customary 20 games, but the majority of them were over the weaker-hitting teams of the second division. When he faced New York, Washington and Philadelphia, he was hit hard and often.

Ferrell held out last spring for a higher salary, but finally compromised when owners of the Cleveland team offered him a bonus for winning 20 games and an additional bonus for 25 triumphs.

Asked the other day if he had complained because Manager Walter Johnson of the Indians was not working him in turn, Ferrell replied that he had abandoned long ago any idea that he might possibly turn in 20 victories this season.

Giants, Phils Split Pair of Slugfests

Philadelphia, Aug. 2 (AP).—With Joe Moore leading the attack and Roy Parmalee pitching effective ball, the New York Giants today earned an even break in a double-header with the Phillies, winning the second game by the lopsided score of 18 to 1, after falling before the power of the Philadelphians' bats in the opening contest, 13 to 6.

Although splitting the twin bill, the Giants increased their lead to three games over the Pirates, who dropped a close decision to the Cardinals.

Nats Win and Gain Game on Yanks

a cinch to score on the blow, but Umpire Bill McGowan gummed up the works for the Red Sox. Weiland's smash biffed him on the leg, for all his efforts to duck.

Hodapp was across the plate, but Umpire-in-Chief Bill Summers waved him back to third base. He invoked the dead ball rule. Weiland was permitted to go to first and Jolley to second. They were stranded there by Warstler's fly to Harris.

Passes Two in Ninth.

Kline had taken up the pitching burden for the Sox in the eighth, with one out, and he allowed the ball game to slip through his ample fingers in the ninth. With one out, he dug his own pitfall by passing both Myer and Goslin. Manager Cronin then rammed a single against Kline's tummy to fill the bases.

Then Manager Cronin and Manager McManus began to manipulate the strategical strings with great flourishes. Cronin sent Manush to bat for the right-handed Schulte. McManus countered by sending the left-handed Lloyd Brown to pitch to the left-handed Manush. Cronin left Manush on the spot.

But not for long. Heinie smashed a sure-fire single through the slightly bowed legs of Brown, the former Nat. Myer came skipping home from third with the run that won the ball game.

None Past Second.

For six innings, the Nats had been setting some kind of a dubious record. Six times they got the leadoff batter on first base, and six times they failed to score him. Buddy Myer beat out a bunt to open the first, Dave Harris singled to open the second, Myer walked to open the third, Harris singled again to start the fourth, Myer singled once more to launch the fifth, and Bluege walked to begin the sixth. None advanced beyond second base.

Crowder had yielded Warstler a hit to commence the ball game in the first inning and then he tightened up like a riveted clam. For five innings he permitted no semblance of a safe wallop, and going into the seventh he had a one-hit game in his possession.

Then Roy Johnson singled to center. Ferrell sacrificed him to second, Hodapp walked, and Jolley scored the first run of the ball game with a single to left. Seeds made the second out, and then it was that they pulled the rule book on the Sox after Weiland's single hit McGowan.

The Sox's 1-0 lead endured until the next inning when Dave Harris, as aforementioned, ceased trifling with singles and walks and the like.

Two in Golf Tie.

L. R. Eakin, with 80—6—74, tied for first prize with C. B. McVey, with 81—7—74, for first prize in the monthly low net competition at Chevy Chase Golf Club.

Ben Miller, with 53 putts for the 27 holes, won putting honors.

Pegler Visions Play Tutors' Prosperity

Russian Emphasis on Toil Moves Him to Strike Up an Optimistic Note.

By Westbrook Pegler.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 2 (Spl). The Russians have postponed their Olympic games, which were to have differed from the familiar athletic program of the Olympic Union in that they would have exalted useful toil and rebuked mere play as a foolish pursuit of capitalistic peoples. The Russian plan preferred contests in plowing and post-hole digging, bricklaying, coal mining and general pick-and-shovel work. The possibility was seriously considered that the Russian people, properly influenced by state propaganda, might one day worship some horny-handed son of toil as fanatically as the goofy Americans adored the nonessential Dempsey and the nonessential Babe Ruth.

The program has been deferred because the Russians are not yet ready. This may mean that they have not yet developed a sufficient number of workmen of championship class to fill the entry lists. I have heard that they are easy-going laborers who lay down their tools to scratch themselves. Under Olympic conditions, at work or play, the competitor should be capable of prodigies and possibly not many of the Russian workmen were good enough to qualify.

Playing Industriously.

At the time that the panic broke in this country I thought the disaster a sort of rebuke to the playful temperament of the U. S. A. Mussolini had put the Italians diligently to work and had written that he had no sympathy with people who spent their energies in a passion for games. The Americans had been playing very industriously for several years and play had become a science in which young students of both sexes were seriously instructed by professors in the colleges every year. Hundreds of young men and women were graduated with credentials which certified them to be competent play directors. It seemed that the most playful people on earth were not efficient players.

It took them a long time to play a little, where under expert instruction they could learn to play twice as much per hour. I had read my copybooks seriously and had taken to heart the story of the grasshopper and the ant, and it was this influence which gave me to think that the panic was a come-uppance or a jedgment.

Not Half Enough.

Subsequent developments have changed me around somewhat. It began to be shown that the Americans, playful as they were, to the apparent neglect of productive toil, had not played half enough. Working in an apparently off-handed manner, between ball games, races, football fetes and travels to Europe, they had worked so fast while they were at it that, even under this reduced schedule, they had laid up a surplus of food and goods which would not be entirely consumed in a four-years' holiday.

Like John Fitzgerald, the horse-journalist who said, "I do not sleep long but I sleep awful fast," the Americans were speedy operators who didn't have to putter around all of 40 minutes putting in an hour's time.

Working abstemiously they were more effective than the striving Russians who worked an awful lot but didn't get much done.

Profession Suffered.

The profession of play director suffered somewhat from the panic but merely because things were disorganized. It will come back fast now that the hours of labor are to be restricted even more under the Federal law and I look for large enrollments in the play departments of the colleges next fall. The graduate play experts should find a good market for their services almost immediately for the short week of short days will leave the citizens even more time in which to play. And naturally, being Americans, one and all will wish to play efficiently.

The manufacturers of sporting equipment, including golf tools, boats, tennis and baseball equipment and the paraphernalia of a hundred other games, naturally hope to take advantage of the market which will be created by the increase in the leisure of employed people. To be sure, the citizens have had plenty of leisure during the last four years, but they did not have much money with which to buy the tools for play.

Pickup in Demand.

But, now that the work is to be rationed and they will earn a little, the demand for playing tackle naturally will pick up. It is even possible that when the full success of the rationing system is felt the factory hands and the clerks in the equipment stores will have to work overtime, in which case, they might be chased up alleys by indignant patrioteers for impairing the success of a movement whose great success was responsible for their offense in the first place.

For a time there it seemed as though some of the kommissars of the Washington Soviet were thinking of going Russian, but such obviously is not the case. The Russians never required a law to prevent their excessive indulgence in work and persons with a normal, sane repugnance to labor will still see wherein the American citizen has enjoyed a pleasant advance. He wound up broke, but so did Boris and Ivan and they never had any fun.

Soccer Teams Reorganize.

Hale and Ferrell Pound Homers as Features of Hitting Orgy.

St. Louis, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians pounded Wally Hebert hard to stage an 8-run rally in the ninth inning here today and defeat the St. Louis Browns, 16 to 8, in a game delayed 53 minutes by rain.

Two home runs by Hale and one by Wes Ferrell featured the hard-hitting contest.

George Blaeholder retired in favor of a pinch-hitter after allowing eight runs in six innings, while Ferrell, ace of the Indian moundsmen, was driven from the mound in the eighth when the Browns tied the count at 8-all.

Shore-Latona Annex Parks Net Crown

Defeat Welsh and O'Neil in Doubles Finals in Five-Set Match.

AS grand a display of tennis pyrotechnics as local enthusiasts have been privileged to witness this season culminated yesterday in Frank Shore and Tony Latona walking from the Reservoir courts with the district Public Parks doubles championship securely in their possession by the narrowest of margins.

Only after shaking off the tenacious opposition of Barney Welsh and Maurice O'Neil in five sets, 3—6, 6—2, 6—2, 4—6, 7—5, and narrowly escaping disaster in the final set had the Shore-Latona duo managed to annex the title.

The losers took the first set, 3—6, but dropped the next two by wide margins. They triumphed in the fourth to even the score, and clicked off a 5—3 lead in the final set to win one game of the match, but sudden rally by the championship team sent their fond hopes aglimmering. Latona took his own service and the ultimate winners broke through Welsh's service to even the set 5 all.

Shore then won his own service and the winners again broke through their

Showers Here Today Promise Heat Respite

1 Dies, 12 Felled as City Swelters; 2,000 Quit Work Early.

Sun-baked Washington rejoiced last night at the weatherman's promise of showers and thunderstorms today and tonight, which will break the week's heat wave. Fair and cooler is the forecast for tomorrow, with gentle variable winds.

Meanwhile, another death and more than a dozen prostrations were added to the weather toll here as the Capital and other Eastern cities continued to swelter in the sun's undiminishing fury. About 2,000 Government employees were excused early.

One death was attributed to the continued hot weather. Henry Shelby, 63, colored, found unconscious in his home near North Capitol and D streets, was pronounced dead at Casualty Hospital.

The East remains the butt of the heat's fury. Eighteen died of its effects in New York, where the mercury rose to 95.

16 Dead in Philadelphia.

The death toll in Philadelphia mounted to 16, where the maximum was 97 degrees. The rest of the country enjoyed comfortable temperatures.

While most District employees sweltered at work in the municipal building, the Public Utilities Commission closed its doors at 3 p. m.

The agricultural adjustment administration dismissed 1,500 workers early in the afternoon. The District grand jury was forced to move from the top floor of the courthouse to cooler quarters below.

Rain in Georgetown.

Thundershowers, predicted yesterday, materialized only in a small section of Georgetown, where it rained briefly shortly before 4 p. m.

Climbing from 83 at midnight, the temperature yesterday rose to 94 at 2 p. m. and had receded to 85 at 8 p. m.

Humidity readings yesterday were 72 at 8 a. m.; 49 at 2 p. m., and 75 at 8 p. m.

Thomas Gillian, colored, overcome while at work, was in Casualty Hospital last night in serious condition.

Others given hospital treatment for prostration were: May Rhodes, Reedsville, N. C.; Catherine Compton, nurse at Emergency Hospital; Joseph Chavey, Baltimore; Mary Wells, Fort Myer.

Also James Adams, colored, 9; Frank Lee, colored; P. Smith, Edward W. Hamlett; Cecelia Murphy, colored; James Galloway, colored, and Ruth Jackson, colored.

Two Seized as Quick Eye Of Girl Spots Counterfeit

Daughter of Delicatessen Owner Calls Up Police After Changing Bill.

Quick wit and sharp eyes of Miss Elvira Iacangelo, working in her father's delicatessen at 2610 Georgia avenue northwest, yesterday detected a counterfeit $5 bill and caused the arrest of two men.

A stranger came into the store, Miss Iacangelo said, and bought 10 cents worth of bacon. She gave him change for a suspicious-appearing $5 bill, she said, and he went out, joining another man.

She phoned police. Her diagnosis of the bill was confirmed. Detective Sergt. James D. Collins hurried after the pair and arrested them. They said they were John W. Miller, 28, of Longview, Tex., and Jack Murray, 25, of 476 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

After lodging investigation charges against the pair, police turned the case over to the Secret Service. Counterfeit bills, a five and two tens, were found in their pockets, police said.

Fraternity Head Indicted for Arson

A. H. Smith and Roommate Blamed for Mystery Blaze July 9.

Alfred H. Smith, 26, president of the local chapter of the Sigma Chi Fraternity, and Edward J. Parlton, 22, his roommate, also a member, yesterday were indicted by the District grand jury on a charge of arson.

The fraternity house, at 1312 N street northwest, was almost destroyed by a mysterious fire that broke out in the middle of the night of July 9. Several fraternity members narrowly escaped.

Police claimed Parlton was identified as one of two men who bought 10 gallons of gasoline the evening of the fire, and took the gasoline away in a milk can in Smith's car. The can was later found in a garage in the rear of the fraternity house.

The grand jury was said to have been informed there was an alleged shortage of $200 to $300 in the fraternity account books, kept by Smith.

Man Violently Drunk, Interne Is Exonerated

An Emergency Hospital interne was absolved of blame for his failure to treat a man who collapsed on the street Tuesday night, in a statement issued yesterday by B. B. Sandidge, superintendent of the institution.

Mr. Sandidge said the case was one of violent drunkenness and that the interne, whose name was withheld, did the proper thing when he asked a policeman to call the fire rescue squad to take the man to the hospital.

Teacher-Wives Backed by New Board Member

Quinn Asks Protection for Those Whose Mates Work for U. S.

Positions of worthy District school teachers in danger of dismissal because of husbands in Government service should be protected "despite the economy program," Henry I. Quinn, new Board of Education member, told the board yesterday.

Mr. Quinn said he would endeavor to find legal means of protecting jobs of such teachers. He was supported by Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle and Henry Gilligan, board members.

"Instruction of children is of more importance than saving dollars," Mr. Quinn said.

The board withheld action in the case of Mrs. Page Kirk, who was dismissed as teacher of mechanical drawing at Western High School because her husband is employed by the Geological Survey. Board members indicated they were anxious to have Mrs. Kirk reinstated, but decided to have an expression from the teacher before taking action.

Forty-five pupils of Mrs. Kirk carried a petition to the White House recently, asking her reinstatement through Executive order from the President. The President referred the matter to the District Commissioners, who in turn submitted it to the board.

The board approved a list of 47 eligibles for teaching positions in the white schools and 41 in schools for the colored. Approval also was given the personnel in summer schools, so that these employees may be paid on August 15. The next meeting will be September 13.

Woman Sought in Fight Denies Seeing Shooting

Sought by detectives for questioning last week's pistol battle at Nineteenth and K streets northwest in which two men were wounded, Mrs. Jacquelin Thompson, 23, of 1419 Chapin street northwest, appeared at headquarters yesterday with her attorney.

She made a voluntary statement, saying she had been in a car near the scene with another woman, but did not witness the shooting. She was not held.

Police Believe Clerk Victim Of Foul Play

Two Men Reported Near Death Scene Sought in Investigation.

Two men were seen walking toward Stop 27 on the Glen Echo trolley line less than a minute before Wilmer Lee Jett, grocery clerk, met his unexplained death on the tracks Monday night.

Montgomery County police leaned further toward a foul play theory as facts were uncovered to tie up with the two men—one of whom looked like Jett.

A youth, resident in a nearby cottage, it was learned, saw the men as he walked toward his own cottage 200 yards west of the death scene. The car that struck Jett's body passed him less than a minute after he had passed the men.

Police believe they know the identity of the two men. Montgomery County authorities sought them last night.

Other developments in the case included surveillance of a cottage down near the river bank; the hearing of an apparent shout for help just about the time Jett's body was found, and elimination of a theory that the man was brought unconscious from Washington.

Several young women were being sought also by Washington police. It is they who "parted" with Jett that night and it is believed their interrogation would bring the case to solution.

Woman Is Cleared In Slaying of Man

Grand Jury Refuses to Indict Frances Allen in Fatal Affray.

The District grand jury yesterday refused to indict Frances Catherine Allen, 29, of 1229 Twelfth street northwest, who had been held by police in connection with the killing of her sweetheart, Albert Flecther, 24, colored.

Fletcher was shot at Twelfth street and New York avenue northwest when, Miss Allen said, he grappled with her over the possession of a pistol with which she was armed. During the scuffle the weapon was discharged and Fletcher was fatally shot.

Miss Allen was said to have displayed marked nervousness after she learned, a short time before the shooting, that Fletcher was colored. The action of the grand jury came in the form of an "ignoramus," which legally meant there was no justification for an indictment.

Annual Trade Loss Here Held Heavy

Washington manufacturers and merchants are losing millions of dollars a year to outside competitors, according to figures compiled yesterday by W. H. Brown, director of the Buy in Washington movement.

Failure of most business men to patronize Washington producers has not been deliberate, Brown said. They have shown immediate cooperation with the buy at home plan when the matter has been brought to their attention.

In the printing field alone printers lose more than $5,000,000 annually to printers in other localities, Brown pointed out.

Police Checked In Death Probe

Possible Murder Theory Not Substantiated by Investigators.

Police investigation of possible murder in the death Tuesday of Mrs. Helen Cooley, 35, of 1114 Eleventh street northwest, was at a standstill yesterday.

Mrs. Cooley was found unconscious on the floor of her apartment by a friend, Mrs. Josephine Bowyer, 1402 Massachusetts avenue northwest, and died later in Emergency Hospital of what was at first thought to be a fractured skull.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said last night that an autopsy showed that a blood clot probably caused by a heavy blow caused the woman's death. There was no fracture.

Bruises and other marks on the woman's body led police to believe that she had been beaten to death.

Police are holding William F. Kelley, 53, Mrs. Cooley's neighbor, for investigation.

Buys Drinks

Woodcock Loses Wager on Source of Quotation From Shakespeare.

Lieut. Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, former prohibition director, bought the drinks for two First Infantry officers at Camp Ritchie, Cascade, Md., yesterday. The colonel, whose scholarly attainments are well known, slipped up for once on his Shakespeare.

Col. Woodcock contended that the lines beginning: "the evil that men do lives after them—" was from Hamlet's soliloquy. Maj. Thompson A. Lyon and Capt. Joseph C. Cissel contended it was from Julius Caesar. The colonel was so sure he was right he offered to buy drinks if a visit to the Blue Ridge Summit library revealed that he was wrong.

Maj. Lyon had a chocolate soda and Capt. Cissel a milk shake.

Detectives Face Quiz Today on Beating Charge

Janitor Is Second to Accuse Pair of Mistreatment.

Detectives Joseph W. Shimon and W. V. Christian, of the Third Precinct, who were suspended several days ago and charged a second time yesterday with assault on a crippled janitor, will appear before United States Attorney Rover for a hearing today.

Eliza T. Ford, colored janitor at 2000 H street northwest, charged that while being questioned at the Third Precinct in connection with the theft of a laundry package, Shimon struck him on the mouth, breaking his false teeth.

The United States Attorney's office announced yesterday that the case against Shimon and Christian on charges of attacking Thomas B. Washington, colored tap dancer, would be dropped.

If sufficient evidence is shown against the detectives today, warrants charging them with simple assault will be issued.

$100 Check Stolen; Five Men Arrested

Merchants Make Reports of Attempt to Cash Treasury Voucher.

Five men were being held at First Precinct Station late yesterday in connection with recent attempts to cash a stolen $100 Treasury Department retirement check.

The check was stolen a week ago from a woman, whose name was withheld by Secret Service Agent Jack Slye, in charge of the case.

Frequent reports from merchants during the past week that suspicious looking men had attempted to cash the check led to the five arrests. Those held are:

Bernard Hitte, 46; Charles H. Johnson, 49; Leonard George, 45; Lawrence Campbell, 32, and Robert Colquick, 30, all of 416 C street northwest.

Witnesses said Goltry was apparently under the mistaken belief that a brother officer had been slain. He fired at the feet of the boys, who were sitting on a bench, and clubbed them with the butt of his revolver, at the same time demanding that they tell him "who kiled Bickford," it was stated.

James Ellis, 15 years old, of 1223 V street southeast, was shot in the foot, and Alfred F. Stowell, 19 years old, 1515 W street southeast, was badly beaten on the head.

Bride Doubtful Dairy Violated Law in Evasion

Prosecution May Not Be Possible, Although Such Practice Is Common.

District officials were not particularly surprised yesterday to learn from Elwood H. Seal, special milk investigator, that a Washington dairy associated with a national chain has been transferring large sums of money from a local bank to New York presumably to evade the District personal tax.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride said that he would investigate the case upon receiving a report from Seal, but he could not say whether any District laws could be used as a basis for prosecution.

Other officials connected with the tax office admitted privately that such practices by large corporations are not unusual, and pointed out that several other schemes are used to evade the personal tax law, such as the purchase of bonds just before July 1 and their sale immediately after a tax return is filed.

Seal estimated yesterday that the dairy in question had escaped as much as $2,500 taxes over a period of four years by transferring some $500,000 to New York banks.

Gill, Gartside May Get Park, Building Posts

Likely to Head Divisions When Col. Grant's Office Is Changed.

James F. Gill and Fred T. Gartside will be the two civilian heads of the Public Buildings and Public Parks divisions, respectively, when the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks is absorbed by the Interior Department, August 10, if a recommendation to Secretary Ickes is approved.

Both have been officials of the office several years and now are working under Col. James A. Woodruff, who has been ordered to Fort Humphreys for Army duty. The Executive order called for the absorption and the creation of the two civilian offices, both answerable to Interior Department.

Both Gill and Gartside have held posts that will correspond to the new set-up. Officials of the National Parks Service stated yesterday they expected both men to be retained as the heads of the new departments.

The 2,700 employees of divisions that will go under the new regime will be retained until September 30, and those whose work is efficient will be carried indefinitely, it was also learned.

The five Army officers who have been attached to the office have been transferred to Army duty.

Dr. Clarence West Is Rotary Speaker

Discusses Bibliography as Systematic Selection of Books.

Bibliography does not refer to Bibles, Dr. Clarence J. West, bibliographile, reminded his fellow Rotarians at their luncheon meeting yesterday.

Instead, he explained, it includes books in general and the methods employed to adapt them to the uses of the arts, sciences and to industry.

As a general definition, he said, bibliography is a list of books or magazine articles on a given subject or field. It may be a selected or an exhaustive list, critical or nonecritical, and it may be arranged chronologically, by subject, by author, by geographic sections, or by other methods, he explained in discussing his vocational classification.

64 Hawaiian Girls Here in Real Skirts

Teachers Bring One Grass Dress Just to Please U. S. Curious.

Sixty-four Hawaiian lassies—and there isn't but one grass skirt in the whole lot of them.

The Hawaiian lassies, however, happen to be teachers from the islands' public schools, who have come to Washington as a part of an educational tour of the United States.

The grass skirt is merely a relic of the past to be shown inquiring Americans who believe every properly attired Hawaiian miss still wears one.

Assuming continuation of Washington's current hot spell, several of the party will leave tomorrow to avoid, in the words of Eva Miranda, of Wailuku Maui, "the necessity of going, er ah, 'native.'"

The others will remain at the Continental Hotel until Saturday, taking sightseeing tours under the direction of H. H. Brodie, former Hawaiian public school principal.
